

HE WON ON TAILS.

Was Fast In Quicksand, but He Took the Chance.

There were five or six of us, under the pilotage of a cowboy, looking for a crossing of the Republican river when we caught sight of a man fast in a quicksand.

"Hello, you!" shouted the cowboy as we halted our horses.

"Hello, yourself!" was the reply.

"What you doin' thar?"

"Sorter waitin'."

"You are one of the fellers we hustled off'n Big Four t'other day?"

"And what of it?"

"Nuthin', only you won't bother us no more! You'll be out of sight in an hour!"

"Don't you bank on that," growled the stranger. "I've bin in wuss fixes nor this and come out all right."

"You'll never come out o' that, and it'll sarve you jest right!"

The man thrust a hand into his vest pocket and brought up a coin, and, holding it between thumb and finger, he called out:

"I'm willin' to take chances. If I win, you help me out; if I lose you kin ride on and be hanged to you!"

It was an appeal the cowboy couldn't refuse, and after a minute he replied:

"You rustlers don't deserve no show, but let 'er go. If you lose, though, I'll leave you to go to the bottom! Toss 'er up and call out!"

"I say tails!" exclaimed the man as he flung the half dollar to the bank.

"Tails she is," replied the cowboy as he bent in his saddle. "Now, then, ketch the end of this lariat and come ashore and jest let me tell you that if you don't make yourself skeerce the boys will either hang or shoot you!"

"Skeerce she am!" said the man as he got his breath and cast off the lariat, and without waiting to scrape off the mud he started off up the river and was soon lost to sight.

With Cuts.

"Your trouble probably arose from some forgotten contusion whereby an irritation was caused which communicated itself to the"—

"Oh, cut all that out!" interrupted the other impatiently.

"But I was going to explain," said the surgeon, "what caused the cancerous growth?"

"Cut that out, too, doctor!" exclaimed the patient.—Chicago Tribune.

Matter of Principle.

Daisy Chance—Yes, I used to get my riding costumes from him, but they didn't fit, so I stopped.

Duzzie Knowitt—Oh, I see; you didn't want to get into bad habits!—Chicago News.

Was In Practice.

Lady (to little boy)—What are you crying for, my little man?

Little Boy—My fa-father has bin bea-beating me!

Lady—Well, don't cry! All fathers have to beat their little boys at times.

Little Boy (yelling still more vociferously)—But my father isn't like other fa-fathers. He's in a brass ba-band and bea-beats the big drum.—Evening Wisconsin.

His Ignoble Finish.

"What ever became of that prehistoric man who was dug up in Kansas about two months ago?" asked the individual who reads the papers.

"He is being worked up into prehistoric novels," explains the man who keeps pace with literary progress.—Baltimore American.

In Kentucky.

Gayboy—They never say in Kentucky that a man takes to anything like a duck to water. They have a better phrase.

Rounder—What is it?

Gayboy—Like a colonel to corn juice.—Judge.

Repression.

Clara—Is Mrs. Plitter a good conversationalist?

Dorothy—Yes, indeed. She makes you think of lots of good things to say, but talks so much that you don't get a chance to say them.—Detroit Free Press.

Assumed Ownership.

"I didn't know Kidder owned any street railroad stock."

"Pshaw! He doesn't."

"Well, we just stood out on the corner, and he said, 'There goes my car.'"

—Philadelphia Bulletin.

What It's Coming To.

"Ma! Ma!"

"What is it, darling?"

"Charley's got my golf championship cup and won't let me have it to drink my milk out of. Boo-hoo-hoo!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Up on the Other Side.

A Sight.

"I can't understand why that Maude de Raggly puts so much paint and powder on her face."

"No? Perhaps you have never seen her face."—Baltimore News.

Days of Grace.

Landlord—I will just give you three days to pay your rent.

Artist—All right. Suppose you make it Thanksgiving, Christmas and the Fourth of July.—Life.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A post-master is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken.

Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it he takes it from the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
