

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It is always wise to keep in mind the relative position of things. The gentlest cow is apt to kick if you try to milk her from the wrong side.

There may be something grimmer than a small, marble playing boy, but it surely must be another small, marble playing boy.

In a rough and tumble fight the boy that is the maddest is usually the one that wins out unless the other fellow's big brother is near by.

A boy who wouldn't rather go fishing than stay at home and put out onion sets isn't worth raising.

The gaudy beauty of a circus parade is only skin deep.

There is something uncanny about a pretty girl who would rather save money than spend it.

The dandelion is on deck, reminding us that dandelions cost less than doctors.

Hot cakes may not be good for the complexion, but they are temporarily soothing to the disposition.

The Circus.

If I were just a little lad,
All freckle faced and tumble haired,
With eyes as big as David had
When he at old Goliath stared,
That circus big would seem to me
A thing of purest ecstasy.

And when the band with blast and blare
Its pulsing music scattered out
Upon the sunny morning air,
My happy heart with joy would shout,
My soul would cry out with delight,
And I would dream of it at night.

The lions chafing in their cage,
The elephants with clanking chains,
The tigers in their vicious rage,
Would thrill me with a mighty pain
And fill me full of yearnings wild
To be a freeborn jungle child.

But now, alas, I can't enthuse
Nor of the circus dream at night
But still I think I'll not refuse
To take my sons to see the sight.
I'll gather up the kids and go
Tomorrow night to see the show.

In His Line.

"He is fresh from the farm and is headed straight for Wall street."
"Does he think he can beat the game?"
"No; but he thought he might get a job watering the stock."

Be Kind to Them.

In one of the speeches during his southwestern trip President Roosevelt asked us to not forget to be kind to the rich.

That is a suggestion many of us have yearned to follow, but too often when we have picked out our rich man after consulting Bradstreet's so as to beware of imitations and have approached him for the express purpose of being kind to him the rich man instead of appreciating our advances has set the dog on us.

It is all right for a president who can call up the rich by telephone and make an appointment for the express purpose of being kind to them, but for those of us who have to break through a guard of doorkeepers, detectives and private secretaries in order to get to the rich it requires a most persistent man to be kind to them, no matter how good his intentions.

Could Do Something.

He couldn't play, he couldn't sing
Or dance to save his life,
But he had one accomplishment—
He could beat up his wife.

In the Land of Prohibition.

"Ta, what is the main chance?"
"The Maine chance, my son, as I understand it, is to discover the location of a boot legger."

Money to Her.

"She doesn't see how any one can call dancing immoral."
"No; her husband makes his living fiddling."

Even Worse.

The thing that Sherman graphically
Assured the world was war
Is it, too, when no more you can
Get credit at the store.

New War Minister.

St. Petersburg, July 5.—Lieut. Gen. Ridiger, chief of the chancellery of the War Office, has been appointed Minister of War, in succession to Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff, who recently resigned.

Japs Launch Big Battleship.

London, July 5.—The Prince and Princess Arisugawa of Japan attended the launching of the battleship Katori yesterday. The Katori is one of the most powerful battleships ever launched in this country.

JOHN HAY'S FACE.

Although Body Lies in State Public Will Not See It.

Cleveland, O., July 5.—The remains of John Hay now lie in state in the spacious chamber of commerce corridors of this city, guarded by a detail from Troop A., of which the illustrious dead man was an honorary member. Mrs. Hay wished, above all, that the body should not lie in state for public view. The people of the city will therefore have no opportunity of seeing the face of the dead secretary of state. The body will lie in state in the hall of the chamber of commerce building for two days, but exposed only to the eyes of the troopers, who will stand guard over the coffin. Even the funeral services themselves will be like those of one of the country's most humble citizens. The last words will be spoken over the body of the dead in the privacy of his dearest relatives and closest friends in life.

Contract Awarded.

Ottawa, July 5.—The contract for the Port Stanley breakwater has been awarded to Haney & Miller. The price is in the neighborhood of $100,000.

How to Live to a Hundred.

New York, July 5.—Sitting in a chair at the home of his son-in-law, in Brooklyn, smoking a cigar and sipping a toddy, Joseph Zeitlin celebrating his 100th birthday, gave the following rules for longevity:

"Never have a doctor and don't go into a drug store. Don't worry. Never be in a hurry. Don't eat quick lunches. Take little meat especially in early life. Sleep eight hours a day. When you reach the age of 90 do as you please."

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A post-master is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it from the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
