This Appeal Is To You!

THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN

For it Cares for Every Sick Child in Ontario whose Parents Cannot Afford to Pay For Treatment.

The Hospital for Sick Children, College street, Toronto, appeals to fathers and mothers of Ontario for funds to maintain the thousand sick children that it nurses within its walls every year.

The Hospital is not a local institution—but Provincial. The sick child from any place in Ontario who can't afford to pay has the same privileges as the child living in Toronto and is treated free.

The Hospital had last year in its beds and cots 891 patients—316 of those were from 217 places outside of Toronto. The cost is 1.14 cents per patient per day, and there were 133 sick little ones a day in the Hospital.

Since its foundation the Hospital has treated 11,253 children. About 8,000 of these were unable to pay and were treated free.

Your money can put golden hinges on the door of the Hospital's mercy. Everybody's dollar may be the Friend in Need to Somebody's child. Your dollar may be a door of hope to somebody's child. The Hospital pays out dividends of health and happiness to suffering childhood on every dollar that is paid by friends of little children.

If you know of any child in your neighborhood who is sick or crippled or has club feet send the parent's name to the Hospital.

See what can be done for club-foot children. There were 33 like cases last year and hundreds in 20 years.

Please send contributions to J. Ross Robertson, Chairman, or to Douglas Davidson, Sec.-Treas., of the Hospital for Sick Children, College Street, Toronto.

This Man will be Crucified.

The Rev. Dr. Kutter, a Lutheran pastor of wide popularity, has just published a book in Berlin, full of startling facts and figures, constituting a terrible indictment of Christian society, which, he says, is habitually guilty of acts no heathen would ever think of committing against his fellow man. The following are a few paragraphs from the book:

"The modern order of society is a parody on justice and equity; reduce your demands for honest treatment to ever so low a level, the Christian society of to-day will not grant them; on the contrary, it will cover you with scorn for asking justice at its hands.

"And the sway of money is such as no heathen emperor, or financier, ever so much given to violence, dreamed of imposing upon the people.

"Christian society is not only a robber and plunderer, by the capitalistic order of things established, but it is a home destroyer, where it should be a home-maker. Who counts the names of persons, the tribes, the nations annihilated, driven from home and settlements, robbed of their lands, their fisheries, for the sake of money?

"Christian society forces the small man to underfeed, to underclothe, to live in inadequate quarters. It despises him and derides manual labor as unfit for the intellectual.

"Christian society is a murderer on a more extensive scale than any heathen conqueror. Our factory system and a hundred other systems of production—coal mining, steel making, etc.—murder the poor and downtrodden by inches, but murder them surely. Capitalism means death to the small man, death by starvation, slow or rapid. The trusts, financial rings or syndicates, whatever they are called, are wholesale executioners of mankind, tolerated by the Government. They take their livelihood away to fill the pockets of those already colossally rich.

"It is the foremost duty of the state to protest against aggression of the powerful, but our Christian Governments do nothing of the kind. With arms folded over a breast swelling with pride, the state stands unmoved while thousands of its citizens go to destruction, while myriads of little fish are swallowed by the big whale, called financier and speculator. In fact, the Christian state is the shameless high protector of capital's destructive practices.

"Somebody called the industrial state 'the battlefield of industry' with good reason. In the factories, in the workshops, in the offices, in the mines, below and above the earth, a war to the knife is going on without interruption, and the more civilized the country, the bloodier.

"The lust for profit begrudges men and women rest by day and night; let them fall into the machinery and be killed, if they cannot stand upright any longer. And as to undermining their health, that is in no way the employer's concern.

"Just as long as the wages of the majority do not exceed by a considerable percentage the cost of life's necessities—the most absolutely necessary of the necessities—just as long as men and women are paid less than is essential for right living; just as long as the babies of workmen must do without a mother's care for the greater part of the day, because she must engage in factory work to eke out the meager wages of the provider of the family; just as long as the working classes are living from hand to mouth, while those suffering from illness or accident are immediately plunged into the lowest depth of misery by the increased expense; just as long as Christian society deals out charity, so called, to the accompaniment of espionage and similar heartless practices; just so long Christian society remains a murderer of mothers and babies, a menace to innocent, honest girls.

"According to the police records, the poor are great thieves. It is a lie. The poor, though there are a hundred times more poor than rich, do not commit one-tenth of the crimes against property that may justly be laid at the doors of the well-to-do.

"Show me the big financier the bulk of whose money was acquired honestly. Show me the merchant princes and trust managers who deal justly, at all times, with their customers and employees. Show me the great factory owner who does not practice adulteration.

"Show me the great land owners and speculators in real estate who can say that the grounds and plots he controls were honestly, or even lawfully, acquired.

"How did Rockefeller acquire his enormous fortune—Rockefeller, upon whom all servants of Mammon, priests and pastors included, look with reverence as the biggest of them all?

"When a heathen steals, why, he is a thief. When a Christian steals, he still believes himself an honest man. The system of gains and profits under which he works is so complicated that he must steal, even when he intends to be honest; that he steals without knowing he commits an unjust act; that stealing becomes his good 'right.'

Is there a supporter of the present system who has the nerve to defend it from the charges made by this courageous minister? If there is, let him stand up and be counted.—Wayland.

The recent municipal elections in Great Britain show that the Socialists and labor candidates had a majority over all opposition all along the line. They feel jubilant.

Properly organized, the industries could be made to produce four times as much as they produce to-day. Put at useful work all those who are now uselessly employed, and give them the best machinery and conditions, and then the production of good things will be increased fourfold.
