The Feet of Time

Never get tired, because they are shod with just such shoes as we sell.

The Wear and Tear

Of our shoes means lots of wear and

NO TEAR AT ALL.

Their quality is equal to their appearance, and that is saying a great deal. If you need a pair come in and be fitted.

Who's Your Tailor?

If you ask any particularly well-dressed man in Fenelon Falls or surrounding district, "Who makes your clothes?" invariably he will tell you

'TOWNLEY.'

Be one of the number, and call and see what he is doing for the Fall and Winter. His prices are right, consistent with first-class style and workmanship. He makes no other.

WAITING FOR DEATH, BUT NOT WITHOUT HOPE

"There is a poor woman in this parish apparently just waiting for death to come through consumption. She has not the means to go to a Sanatorium, or she would probably be at one before this. She is still comparatively strong, walks about quite a lot—drives sometimes, too—but every day, of course, is growing worse. Would there be any possibility of her being taken into your Home for Consumptives? It would be a mercy if she could be permitted to enter it. I would much appreciate an early reply, as every day means so much."—REV. HAROLD SUTTON, Incumbent, Belmont, Ont.

LOST TWO DAUGHTERS

"I am advised by Dr. J. D. Wilson to write you concerning how soon I could get my wife admitted to Consumptive Hospital at Gravenhurst, also please send me pamphlet re terms while there. I have been told that it is free, so please let me hear from you soon as possible. I have lost two daughters, and my wife contracted the disease from our eldest one, who died ten months ago. I am a working man and not able to pay a high rate, but still anxious to do what I can."—A. CAMPBELL, London, Ont.

The above are typical of scores, indeed hundreds, of appeals constantly coming before the trustees of the

for Consumptives

No effort is being spared to meet every call. . . .

Not a single applicant has ever been refused admission to the Free Hospital because of his or her poverty, and the anxiety of the trustees to keep none waiting is shown in the decision reached a few weeks ago to increase the accommodation by twenty-five beds.

NEW PATIENTS ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

—This increase in patients will add heavily to the burden of maintenance and can only be covered by increased generosity on the part of friends in all parts of Canada. Patients have been admitted from every Province in the Dominion, and it is with confidence in the response to our appeals, that the trustees believe will come from Canadians everywhere, that these additional burdens have been assumed.

Where a cause more urgent? Where a greater call to help suffering Canadians? Where will your money do more good?

Socialism Is n't Practical, But This Is.

By the arrest of John Selinger, a manufacturer of mouse-traps at No. 112 East Third street, the state factory inspectors say they have disclosed the worst case of child slavery they have found in New York.

Selinger was arraigned in the Essex Market police court by State Inspector Nash and two of his assistants. They had with them twelve boys, ranging in age from 14 to 17. Only one of the boys could speak English, but he told the story of their existence. Magistrate Craue held Selinger for trial in the court of special sessions on a charge of violating the child labor law.

The dingy factory in which the poor boys work is known as the "mouse-trap." According to their story, they eat and work in a little back room that is about ten by twelve feet. But they told the inspector that they did n't have any fixed hours of toil. From early morning until late at night they work. Their work day is nearly always sixteen hours long, and many days they put in twenty hours on their little benches, twisting and weaving the thin wires into mouse traps. The boys are paid very little. In addition they are given scant clothing and three meager meals a day. They eat in the same little room where they toil, and this goes on seven days in the week. The boy who can speak a little English explained to the inspector that they were "brought over to this country by a man they did not know." Their parents are on the other side of the Atlantic. On landing here they went to the dingy factory and began the existence that was finally to bring down the factory inspector on Selinger.

But if the "mouse-trap" is equal, and dark, and ill-smelling, the gloomy shanty in the rear, where the twelve boys and nearly a score of men at work in the factory sleep during the few hours they have for repose, is worse. There are two little rooms in this shanty, and in them every night the employes sleep. There is scarcely any room in which to move about. Miserable straw pallets are provided by Selinger for his workers.

In the rooms there is little or no ventilation, and never a ray of sunshine. Even in broad daylight they are so dark that one can barely see the pallets and the narrow lanes between them. Yesterday there was a sick man in one of the beds. He had collapsed under the strain of the work imposed on him in the "mouse-trap." But that made no difference to the score or more of others who slept in the shanty. They occupied the same quarters with the fever racked man, for they were never out of debt to Selinger.—New York paper.

A capitalist's patriotism begins and ends with a bunch of $$$$.

Lots of men who claim to be seeking the truth, would n't know what to do with it if they found it.

Socialism stands for a system under which your purchasing power will be equal to your producing power.

The rule of the railroads not to employ any one over thirty five years of age does n't seem to have decreased the list of wrecks any.
