The Feet of Time

Never get tired, because they are shod with just such shoes as we sell.

The Wear and Tear

Of our shoes means lots of wear and

NO TEAR AT ALL.

Their quality is equal to their appearance, and that is saying a great deal. If you need a pair come in and be fitted.

Who's Your Tailor?

If you ask any particularly well-dressed man in Fenelon Falls or surrounding district, "Who makes your clothes?" invariably he will tell you

'TOWNLEY.'

Be one of the number, and call and see what he is doing for the Fall and Winter. His prices are right, consistent with first-class style and workmanship. He makes no other.

His 1905 Open Letter

MR. W. J. GAGE TELLS OF THE GROWTH OF THE CONSUMPTIVE HOSPITALS IN MUSKOKA

Accommodation at Free Hospital Increased by Twenty-five Beds

URGENT CALL FOR FUNDS TO MEET INCREASED BURDEN FOR MAINTENANCE

Dear Friend:—

Contributions from rich and poor, young and old, received by the Free Hospital for Consumptives, tell of the love and charity toward the great work carried on in Muskoka.

Thousands from all parts of Canada not only sent their "God bless the work" but their money also to help to answer their prayers.

The poor widow out of her hard-earned savings, telling how her own heart was made lonely through the dread scourge, as well as the rich insurance companies, have sent their gifts.

2,000 patients have been cared for since the opening of our Homes in Muskoka. 560 of these were treated in the Free Hospital. 150 patients in these two Homes to-day, show how this life-saving work has grown.

Premier Whitney, replying to a large deputation in the interests of the National Sanitarium Association, stated that "personally he thought $100,000 would not be too much for the Government to set apart for this work."

Seventy-five patients to be cared for in the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives means a large weekly outlay. The Trustees accept this obligation, believing the needed money will be forthcoming.

The world is full of good and generous people ready to give. But they want to be sure that their money is wisely spent. In no other place can your money do so much good.

The growing knowledge of the contagious character of the disease has made the lot of the consumptive poor a hard one.

The Muskoka Free Hospital is today the only place where a sufferer in the early stages of consumption is admitted free.

Will you not help to save the life of a sick one to whom all other doors are closed?

What greater blessing could crown your giving, than the knowledge that it helps to snatch a fellow-being from the very jaws of death?

$50,000 is wanted for the coming year. Will you join in this greatest of all charities?

Faithfully yours,

W. J. GAGE.

Toronto, Can.

The Industrial Unrest.

The revolution in Russia is making other thrones tremble for fear it may become contagious. The slaughter of the working class for aspiring to liberty continues, but the American eagle does not scream for liberty any more. It talks only for capital and the exploitation of the workers.

Unrest pervades the whole planet. The idle Japanese soldiers are threatening a revolution in Japan. Machines have taken their jobs and they are getting hungrier than usual, though their masters are feasting. China is undergoing a revolution, but not of blood. The machine of modern production is rapidly being introduced; the old hand workers are being huddled together in great shops, and the habits and customs of centuries are being torn aside. She is mobilizing a great army with modern machines of destruction, both to keep her people in subjection and to be prepared for the civilized barbarians when they shall again try to coerce her. With modern industrialism and cheap labor she will cause a tremendous upheaval in the other parts of the world by reason of cheap goods.

New Zealand and Australia are also in the throes of labor troubles. Their makeshifts of labor legislation have run their course, and still the people are idle, goods are high, and there are evidences of political explosions.

Unemployed thousands are roaming the highways of Great Britain, and the politicians are wondering what to do, but capital sits in the high places, feeding off of food produced by the masses, and rightfully belonging to the masses, and the revolution proceeds with accelerated speed.

Germany and France are in like condition. Strikes of tens of thousands have occurred, and have been repressed with the military force at the command of the chief robbers.

All the world is ablaze with the new impulse of the twentieth century. Each of these is contributory to the solution—Socialism. All paths centre in the one goal—the ownership of the planet by all the people living on the planet. It is great to live in these days. To be an actor on the stage for even a few brief moments is of itself more glory than achieved by any of the generals of the past. What they changed is nothing to what this change portends.

In the classic language of the immaculate Chesterfield, "Git out an' hustle."

—Appeal to Reason.

Wendell Phillips: "I come into a civilization in which two men out of every three don't have enough to eat."

The Real Incentive.

For the privilege of skinning the common folk kings have fought and millions of the common folk were killed during the last century. Sixteen millions is the number given as killed in war. And yet every war was simply the result of the desire on the part of two sets of rulers to skin the same people. And the common fools did all the fighting, all the dying and all the paying! And war is simply a matter of business. Business is engaged in simply for the purpose of skinning people. Do you suppose that anybody is in business for the public good? If there were no rake-off, do you think men would invest their capital? The skinning is slowly being shifted from the battle-field to the counting-house—but the skinning process goes on just the same. Something for nothing is the game. You can form no idea how many patches of your epidemics have been nicely sliced off you by the modern process of business skinning. Under Socialism, what we know as "business" will not exist. Goods will be produced for use, not for sale. No one can profit by adulteration, and, as all will lose by it, none of it will be done. The citizens who handle goods will have no interest in what you buy, where you buy or what you pay. Goods will be dispensed as are postage stamps, and the sellers will be simply public servants whom you have employed for your convenience. And when business ceases war will cease, and peace and good will will take their place.—ib.

What Competition Requires.

Competition requires that you sustain an army of 100,000 men, a navy costing as much, and furnish them with expensive implements of destruction; it requires you to support 250,000 lawyers, 100,000 policemen, 200,000 agents and real estate men, a million servants and waiters, 200,000 commercial travellers, 200,000 saloon keepers and assistants, 500,000 extra clerks and proprietors of stores, 50,000 unnecessary public officials, 200,000 paupers and criminals, made such by the system, 100,000 unnecessary men and women in the various advertising avenues, and a host of others that never help to produce the things that enable society to live. These consume or hold twice the natural products that the producers consume, and this alone would treble the income of the workers if they were kicked off their backs and made to produce their own living. The labor of the working class supports the whole pyramid. And they are so stupid they don't know it.—ib.
