

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

A Few Interesting Facts About Some Well-Known People.

Lord Amphil, who stands 6 feet 5 inches high and weighs 233 pounds, has begun rowing practice to reduce his weight. He is an old rowing blue, having appeared for Oxford three times (1889-91) against the sister university of Cambridge. At that period he weighed 190 pounds. Though under forty, Lord Amphil has held the high position of Governor of Madras, from which he retired last year.

An interesting announcement is that Carl of Albemarle has finished a full-sized bronze statue of a bugler and a drummer boy, illustrative of one of Rudyard Kipling's poems. His grandfather, the sixth Earl, who died in 1891 a general, took part in the Battle of Waterloo as an ensign of the 14th Foot, now the West Yorkshire Regiment. He was only sixteen years old at the time, and had charge of one of the drums. Coming unscathed out of the battle, he lived to the age of ninety-two.

One of the delegates to the Carnegie Pittsburg Institute was Mr. Maarten Maartens, the Dutch novelist, whose real name is Joost Marius Willem Van der Poorten-Schwartz. Though he was educated in Germany and lives in Holland, Mr. Maartens writes his novels in English, which he speaks like a native. He is a wealthy landowner, and lives in the picturesque castle of Zuytestein, which is several centuries old. One of Mr. Maartens' finest epigrams is: "God, what compassion must be Thine, when even we brutes feel pity!"

Dr. Jameson, the Premier of Cape Colony, like the late Cecil Rhodes, is a bachelor. Everyone knows of the famous raid into the Transvaal in 1895, when Dr. Jameson upset Cecil's apple-cart, and landed himself in a Boer prison. "I made a mess," the Doctor frankly said afterwards, "and I got fifteen months. That is all. No; I may add one thing: I deserved fifteen years—for failing." It is not everyone who becomes a Prime Minister, however, so Dr. Jameson need not talk any more about "failure."

The Lord Mayor of London, Sir William Treloar, "the carpet knight," has been telling some stories of his school days. He went to King's College School, and one day he admitted to a master that he was ignorant of the meaning of the word "abdomen." The master, "a brawny Yorkshireman," at once struck him with his fist, saying: "There, that's your abdomen, and don't forget it." "I have never forgotten it," added Sir William, "and I find that some knowledge of anatomy is useful to a Lord Mayor." This remark, needless to say, was greeted with loud laughter.

The Prince of Wales, who has just been promoted to the rank of admiral, entered the Navy in 1877. As a midshipman he served for a time under the present Admiral Sir Frederick Bedford, who tells a good story. While the ship was coaling in a Turkish port a pasha came off to pay his respects to Queen Victoria's grandson. "I am in command," said Sir Frederick, "and the Prince is an officer; but here he comes." At that moment Prince George, who was in charge of a coaling party, came up. The Turkish pasha refused to believe that the youth, black from head to foot, was the Prince, and he left the ship under the impression that he had been hoaxed. Like all Orientals, he did not realize the English word—duty.

NERVOUS INDIGESTION.

A Severe Case Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I suffered so much from nervous dyspepsia that I feared I would become insane," says Mrs. Alfred Austin, of Varney, Ont. "For months," says Mrs. Austin, "I was prostrated with this trouble. I got so bad I could not eat a mouthful of food without it nearly choking me. I was affected with such terrible feelings of dizziness and nausea that I had to leave the table sometimes with just two or three mouthfuls of food for a meal. My nerves were all unstrung, and I grew so weak that I could not even sweep the floor. In fact, my nerves affected me to such an extent that I feared to be left alone. I could not sleep at nights, and used to lie awake until I feared my reason would leave me. I was taking medicine constantly, but it did not do me a bit of good. I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on a former occasion with good results, and at last I determined to try them again. I can say nothing better than that these pills have been a blessing to me, as they have made me a well woman. Every trace of the indigestion is gone, and my nerves are as strong and sound as they were in girlhood. Now I can eat anything that is on the table, and I get sound refreshing sleep at nights. All this I owe to the faithful use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I shall never cease to praise."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills fill the veins with new, rich, red blood. That is why they strengthen the nerves and every organ in the body. That is why they cure all troubles due to bad blood or weak, shattered nerves, such as anaemia, with its grinding, wearing backaches, headaches and sideaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, heart palpitation, indigestion, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis, kidney troubles, and those special ailments that render the lives of so many women and growing girls a burden. But you must get the genuine pills with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TO REACH HALE OLD AGE

TESTIMONY OF SOME WHO HAVE LIVED TO A GOOD AGE.

Pointers on How to Assure One's Years Being Long in the Land.

Mme. Palli has given as her recipe for retaining youth: "Eat frugally and be scrupulously clean." It may be interesting to collect other testimonies from those who have successfully combated the ravages of time.

General Booth, a grand old man of 79, has given a lengthy explanation of the methods by which he has retained his activity. Here is his advice:—
"Eat as little as possible. The average man eats too much. Instead of nourishing his body he overtaxes it, compelling his stomach to digest more food than it has capacity for.
"Drink plenty of water in preference to adulterated concoctions. Water is wholesome nourishment.
"Take exercise. It is just as foolish to develop the mind and not the body as it is to develop the body and not the mind. Perform some manual labor; dig, walk, chop wood, or, if you can talk with your whole body, why, then talk, but do it with all your might.
"DON'T INDULGE.

Do not fill your life with a lot of sily and sordid pleasures, so that when you come to die you will find you have not really lived.

Have a purpose in life that predominates above all else, that is beneficent to those about you, and not to your own greedy self alone. If there is one thing for which I am glad it is that I have found a purpose which involves not me alone, but all humanity.
"BOBS" KEEPS YOUNG.

Lord Roberts, now in his 75th year, says:—

I have kept myself young on purpose. I have not drunk nor smoked, and I am really not a day older than after Majuba in 1880.
"Strict teetotalism, no medicine, and no doctor," is the prescription of Mrs. Honor Coleman, who is now 107. Mrs. Coleman, who lives in Somersetshire, belongs to a remarkably long-lived family. Both her mother and her grandmother were centenarians, and her daughter is nearly 80.

The Rev. Thomas Lord, who is a hundred, and is the oldest living preacher, has said:—

"I have no secret for long life. I only see the duty of a Christian man to his own common sense, and the way clear to moderation in all things. With that influence, and the influence of total abstinence, I have progressed from manhood to one hundred."
Another preacher, Dr. Clifford, has a special prescription. The famous Baptist is seventy-one, and a tremendous worker. He says:—"The more you work, the longer you live."

Lord Gwydyr, aged ninety-seven, finds the reason for his age in the following:—

Not smoking, plenty of outdoor exercise, and moderation in eating and drinking. I am not a vegetarian, and do not exclude any form of flesh. As to sleep, I used formerly to rise at about six o'clock in the morning, but latterly I have been a little later; my usual allowance is about ten hours a day.

MEDICAL ADVICE.

Sir Lauder Brunton specifies as enemies to continued youthfulness improper mastication of food and chills.

Largely open windows are comparatively safe, but a chink through which the air blows is to be carefully avoided. The practice of gobbling food may, to a certain extent, be responsible for the larger proportion of cancer in the stomach, which occurs in men more than in women.

Sir James Crichton-Browne has strong theories on the subject. Copybook rules he denounces.

Almost as many men have been killed by the maxim, "Early to bed and early to rise," as by over-eating. Instead of making a man healthy, wealthy and wise, early rising lowers his vitality, and results in brain-fag and early decay.

SOME GOOD PRINCIPLES.

Sir James lays down the following principles for those who would preserve their youth:—

Be moderate.
Do not worry.
Take plenty of sleep.
Take plenty of exercise.
Eat plenty of sugar, rice, peas, fruit, potatoes, bread and milk.
Eat sparingly of fish and meat.

From these many witnesses one gathers that Crispi was right in finding the secret of long life in "regularity and abstinence." The same view can be gathered from the life of the great German field-marshal, Von Moltke, who, at the age of ninety when still possessed of fine intellectual power and remarkable vitality, said that he had managed to live so long and in such excellent health "by great moderation in all things and by regular out-of-door exercise."

One kind of underwear, and only one, fits right, wears out slowest, and satisfies you from the day you buy it. That kind is trademarked (as above) in red, and guaranteed to you by stores that sell it and the people who make it. THOUGHTFUL OF HIM.

"See here," said the lady, "you told me that work would cost me only $13, and here you've sent in a bill for $14."

"Yes'm," replied the carpenter; "you see, when I came to think the thing over afterward I was afraid maybe you'd be superstitious about that thirteen."

THE REST OF IT.

"Do you think it in the nature of any girl to object to a fellow's being spoons on her?"
"Not if he forks out."

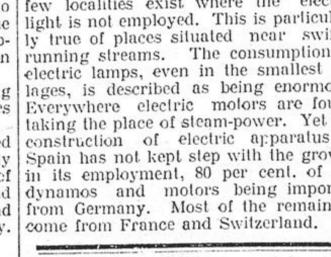

cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market. It Has Many Offices.—Before the German soldier starts on a long march he rubs his feet with tallow, for his first care is to keep his feet in good condition. If he knew that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil would be of much better service he would throw away his tallow and pack a few bottles of the Oil in his knapsack. There is nothing like it.

The area of India is one million and a half square miles, that of the United States 3 1/2 millions, and of Russia eight millions of square miles.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator does not require the help of any purgative medicine to complete the cure. Give it a trial and be convinced.

ELECTRICITY IN SPAIN.

The recent increase in the use of electricity in Spain has been so rapid that an official report states that to-day very few localities exist where the electric light is not employed. This is particularly true of places situated near swiftly running streams. The consumption of electric lamps, even in the smallest villages, is described as being enormous. Everywhere electric motors are found taking the place of steam-power. Yet the construction of electric apparatus in Spain has not kept step with the growth in its employment, 80 per cent. of the dynamos and motors being imported from Germany. Most of the remainder come from France and Switzerland.
