FANCY STRAWBERRIES.

Some Kinds That With Proper Culture Produce Large Fruit.

An interesting account of the Millionaire strawberry is given in Rural New Yorker, which says:

Five years ago Henry Jerolaman, the New Jersey strawberry man, produced a seedling, specimen fruit, which is here shown. When the increase of the first plant had made a row eight feet long Mr. Jerolaman on going away one day told the boy left in charge that no berries were to be sold from those plants for less than $1 per quart, thinking that would be prohibitive. On his return the boy handed him $4, a cus-tomber having taken four quarts, all that were ready at the time. Next day the same man returned and got three quarts more. This was running into money so fast that Millionaire seemed an appropriate name for the berry. This year the finest of the crop has wholesaled at 40 cents in New York. The fruit illustrated was two inches in diameter and about as large as any seen. Many run from one and a quarter to one and a half inches. The shape is uniform, no coxcombing being noted; color bright red, with a fine gloss; quality good, above the average to my taste. Its season is long and nearly every berry is matured. The foliage is strong and abundant, the plants standing from ten to fifteen inches high by actual measurement.

In the same journal is given an illustration of Kevitt's new seedling, which is said to promise well. In regard to growing fancy strawberries Mr. Kevitt writes: For fancy trade plant New York, President, Oom Paul, William Belt, Dixon, Marshall and Glen Mary.

To produce strawberries of mammoth size, so that a dozen berries will fill a quart basket, plants should be set out in the early part of August in good, rich soil and kept well cultivated during the growing season. All runners should be kept off the plant.

Emil Gorafe, a grower of the Dixon, also says:

I like to set strawberry plants for large fruit in August or early September on land well enriched with fresh stable manure the previous spring.

Farm Wood Lots.

Throughout a very large portion of the United States nearly every farm has a certain part of its area under wood, either planted, as in regions otherwise treeless, or of natural growth. The value of this wooded portion, besides affording protection from the wind, is chiefly for fuel, fencing and railroad ties, with some building material and the wood needed for special uses about the farm. Without the wood lot the farm very often would be an unprofitable investment, because the farmer could not afford to buy the wood which now costs him very little except the labor of cutting and moving it, but in the majority of cases this part of the farm is far less useful than it might easily be made. This is true because the farmer does not study its productive capacity as he does that of his fields and pastures, and hence does not make it yield as fully as he might, with little or no additional labor, if he went about it in the right way.—Gifford Pinchot.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A post-master is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it he takes it from the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
