Fatal Hunting Accident.

From the Lindsay Post we take the following account of the accident by which Mr. John Milligan, of Millbrook, lost his life while hunting in the north country on Friday last:

Otter Lake, Lutterworth township, in Haliburton County, was the scene of a shocking hunting fatality last Friday afternoon, the victim being John Milligan, of Millbrook, a member of a large party located at that point. His companions were his brother David and Messrs. Richard and Robt. Nurse, Jas. Armstrong, Thos. and John McBride, Ira Nattrass, Rue McNeish, and Allan Kirk (cook).

The unfortunate man reached camp Monday evening last, having been delayed by business affairs at home. He was an enthusiastic and successful hunter, and had been the life of the party from the moment of his arrival.

After dinner on that day the members of the camp scattered on various missions, John Milligan, Nurse and Fred Sawyers, the son of a settler nearby, being the only persons in the immediate vicinity of the camp. All were some distance apart, and busy at different avocations, when the report of a rifle was heard. Glancing in Milligan's direction Mr. Nurse noticed that he had fallen forward, and rushing forward he found his friend bathed in blood and horribly wounded. The other members of the party were quickly summoned, only to find their friend and companion on many a hunt was no more—life had fled almost instantly.

A brief examination disclosed that a bullet from a rifle carried by the deceased—a 38 calibre Winchester—had penetrated below the right eye and passed out through the top of the head, scattering the brains and causing a dreadful wound. How the accident happened cannot be conjectured. It is supposed that when about to liberate a hound he desired to take into the woods to place on a scent the gun slipped out of his hand and that a twig or stone struck the operating mechanism, causing an explosion.

The deceased leaves a wife and two children. Mr. John McBride came to Lindsay on Saturday morning's train to telegraph the sad news to the family and other friends, the other members of the party being engaged in the difficult task of getting the body to Kinnmount, where the county authorities could be communicated with. If not delayed by a demand for an inquest, they will pass through town this evening with the remains of their highly esteemed comrade.

The accident is one of the saddest hunting incidents that has occurred in the north country for many years.

Peculiar Death in Eldon.

Some weeks ago rumors of a fatality in Eldon township, as a result of an automobile accident, were rife in town, but strange to say it was impossible to glean any particulars. No record of the affair appeared in the Toronto or local press, and the incident passed from the public mind. Apparently an accident did take place, and an inquest was pressed for. After all night session Coroner Wood's jury at Kirkfield returned a verdict at 7 o'clock yesterday morning:

"That George McKelvey came to his death on Sept. 22, 1907, on the Portage road, by having four ribs broken, penetrating his lung. What caused the broken ribs we have no direct evidence to show. We find that no blame can be attached to the automobile or the occupants, and that due precaution was taken to warn him of his danger."

The automobile in question was that of Wm. McKenzie, of Toronto, and the occupants at the time included Mrs. William McKenzie.

McKelvey, who was 70 years of age, was driving a load of logs along the road, about 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the auto came up behind. As to what happened there is a difference of opinion. McKelvey's daughters say they heard no horn. Mr. McKenzie stated that the horn was blown, and that the old man heard it, and suddenly started back. The logs rolled off and the horses ran away. McKelvey died about three hours after his injuries.

County Crown Attorney Devlin, town, conducted the case for the crown, and Alexander McGregor, of Toronto, was solicitor for the widow.—Post.

The boat has hitherto passed under the bridge without mishap when divested of her wheel-house and smoke-stack, but on this occasion the paddle-boxes, which stick up on either side like unto the knees of a grass-hopper, failed to clear the bridge, with the result above stated. The accident was due to the sudden rise in the level of the river, caused by the recent rains.

District Notes.

The citizens of Millbrook will vote on local option at the coming January elections.

Port Perry Star: It begins to look as if the water was being taken from Seungog to such an extent as to impede navigation. The Cora draws 3 feet 9 inches of water, and cannot navigate in its regular channels. The Stranger draws 5 feet 3 inches of water, and used to run freely on Lake Seungog. Now it cannot run at all.

Last Thursday afternoon a most interesting and instructive meeting, under the auspices of the Eastern Dairyman's Association, was held in Lindsay council chamber. There were a number of very prominent speakers along dairy lines, and each was a specialist on the subject on which he spoke. Mr. D. Derbyshire took the chair and filled it very acceptably, as was evidenced by the vote of thanks passed at the close of the meeting.

Post: John H. McWilliams, lockmaster at Lakefield, had a narrow escape from death the other evening. While operating one of the huge gates, he received a blow that caused him to lose his balance and topple backward into the icy water some twenty feet below. In falling, he narrowly escaped hitting the edge of a scow, loaded with wood, then being passed through the lock. He managed to pull himself up on to the scow without assistance, which luckily was at hand if needed.

Post: Mr. Wm. Abbotfield, of Toronto, came out last Thursday morning with a party from the city. Mr. Abbotfield had quite an adventure with a wolf. It seems he was attracted by the cries of his hound from a thicket near by, and, upon going to investigate, found that a great timber wolf was trying to kill his dog. After a struggle, he succeeded in separating the animals, but was unable to kill the wolf, thus losing both the bounty and his revenge. The dog was badly cut up; but, as it is a valuable animal, Mr. Abbotfield is endeavoring to save its life.

Peterborough Review: The new Government boat, the Bessie Butler, was given a trial run on the 2nd inst., and travelled in a highly satisfactory manner. The boat left her moorings about two o'clock, was taken over the lift lock, and run up as far as Nassau and return. Her machinery worked splendidly and she travelled at a rapid pace. Superintendent McClellan and a number of the canal officials and others were on board. The Bessie Butler was built by the Polson Iron Works, of Toronto, and was launched about a month ago. She was built in the canal, just south of the lift lock.
