

Here's the way they do it in Lindsay. A prominent citizen was notified by the mayor to fill up a hole in the street in front of his residence. He filled it with ashes; and was promptly summoned before the magistrate, and had to pay $3.95c. costs for putting ashes on the street.

Mr. Wilbert Alger, an employee of the Lindsay Light, Heat and Power Co., received a shock of 1,000 volts while working at the top of a 35-foot pole, on Monday morning, and fell to the ground. His climbing belt, however, held him close to the pole and checked the speed of his fall, and he received no injury except a few slight bruises.

Shortly after dinner on Tuesday of last week, fire broke out in the depot camp of the Cavendish Lumber Co. The camp is situated on the border between Anstruther and Cavendish, and is about sixteen miles from Gooderham. Two store-houses, the blacksmith shop and stables were completely destroyed. The loss incurred is in the neighborhood of $3,000, and is mostly covered by insurance.

Bogus fifty-cent pieces are in circulation in Peterborough. They are a poor imitation of the genuine coin, and are not likely to fool many. They are made of aluminum, and of course are much lighter than the real thing. They are dated 1881, and have the queen's head upon them. The coin would be a good imitation, were it not for the difference in weight from the genuine.—Review.

Pasture For Foals.

There is far more in arranging about pastorage than is often supposed. A pasture may be good for calves and cows and poor for foals and horses. In respect to the pasture deemed best for foals a Kentucky exchange advises as follows:

It is not required to have for such a purpose what is known as rich land. Very rich land produces rank grass, and this is not the sort to make fine, strong bones and muscles of the firm and enduring sort. Foals raised on such material will be pretty sure to be lacking in spirit, being slow of movement and deficient in wind, so that when placed in harness to be required to go at a moderately fast pace—something not likely to be done except by a frequent application of the whip—they breathe heavily, sweat much and soon tire.

The best soil for foals is one that is dry. Sometimes this is secured by natural and at other times by artificial causes. If the soil abounds in rocks scattered about and that are a foot or more in diameter, they are not objectionable, but small stones are faulty, because the foals in running are liable to strike them and so injure their hoofs. The grass on the lands needed for foals should be sweet and tender. Thus every part of the animal grows as it should.

Use Your Watch Right.

What would you think of an engineer who ran his engine two or three years, night and day, without cleaning or oiling?

What would you give him for his machine after a few years of such use.

And yet you subject your watch—a far more delicate piece of machinery, to just this treatment.

Don't you think it would pay you to have it cleaned and oiled up once a year.
