

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Haliburton

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

A number of visitors are here, and seem to be delighted with the village and surrounding scenery. The great drawback to the place seems to be the lack of suitable accommodation. It is true we have a first class hotel, but, owing to the unusual rush of visitors, it is unable to accommodate all. The Temperance House, too, is taxed to its full capacity.

Our village school sent up for Entrance examination three pupils, viz: Dorothy Clarke, Chesel Lucas, and William Cain. We expect at least a hundred per cent of them to pass.

School closed for the holidays on Tuesday last, and, strange as it may appear, the majority of the pupils raised no objection. A number of the pupils passed a very creditable promotion examination.

The village of Donald, a few miles from Haliburton, is growing with amazing rapidity. It might be well for those intending to invest in real estate to do so at once, as the value of town lots is rising by leaps and bounds.

Fine prospects of a good hay crop this season, and in consequence the farmers are all looking pleased and quite happy.

Too late for last week.

The annual school picnic will be held in Lamb's Grove on Tuesday, June 30th.

Mr. Robt. Wilkinson has been operating the grader in this section, and Thos. Kelly, of Red Rock, has the stone crusher at work, so we shall have good roads.

Rev. Mr. Cragg exchanged pulpits with Mr. Lord last Sunday, the latter filling his charge at Powles' Corners.

Mr. Fred. Billett left for the West last Wednesday, where he has two brothers doing well.

Our teacher, Miss Staples, has a class preparing for the entrance examination. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McKay, of Mariposa, were visiting in this vicinity.

The rain which came to-day was very much needed, and the prospects for a good harvest are encouraging, but the hay crop will be light in this section, and there will be a large acreage sown with turnips.

Many from here attended the barn raising at Mr. Jas. Poulson's on the lake shore. When completed Mr. Poulson will have one of the finest barns in the township.

Our milk drawer, Mr. Geo. Teirs, has been on strike, and has again resumed after a promise of increase in his pay. George says it pays to strike.

The school picnic was well attended, and the children as well as the older ones seemed to enjoy themselves.

Messrs. Hoskin and Golden have received a liberal grant from the Provincial Government, and are expending it on our roads.

The Somerville council and Board of Health had a special meeting last Saturday to provide a tent, and prevent, if possible, the spread of smallpox which has broken out in the eastern part of the township.

Mr. C. G. Pryce left on Monday for Drayton, Ont., to work at his trade.

Powles' Corners.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

The telephone meeting last Tuesday night was not attended as well as it should have been, but there was some business done of an encouraging nature. A committee was appointed to canvass the farmers to take one or more shares. Another meeting will be held the evening of Tuesday, July 14th.

Unless a lot of rain comes soon, there won't be any more straw than there was last winter, and the hay will have to be cut with a comb and sheep shears. All kinds of vegetation are badly in need of rain.

Quite a number from here attended the Methodist Sunday school excursion to Peterborough, and they report having a pleasant time.

Mr. Nathan Day is building a concrete foundation under a barn, and Mr. James Fell intends laying a concrete cement floor in his cow stable.

Mr. and Mrs. Parrish, of Lindsay, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Daniel, of Toronto, spent Dominion Day under the parental roofs.

It was rather quiet around here on Dominion Day. Some went to Glenora and some to Ball Point, and some had too much to do at home to go anywhere.

The potato bugs are showing up in large numbers. If it were not for this scourge we could grow potatoes that would astonish the world. There are men who can invent automobiles to scare horses and kill men and women, but there is no one who can eradicate this pest of bugs.

Wrinkles in Lettuce Growing.

A combination method of indoor and outdoor lettuce culture that sometimes works nicely is starting head lettuce in the greenhouse, hotbed or cold frame and transplanting to the open as soon as the weather is favorable. Not only do we thus get earlier lettuce, but the development of head lettuce seems to be very fine under these conditions. Deacon, Big Boston, May King, Black Seeded Tennisball, Market Gardener's Private Stock, Iceberg and Improved Hanson are varieties suitable for this combination culture. The last two are curly leaved varieties, but under proper cultural conditions form good heads. [The plants are started in the greenhouse, transplanted into flats and hardened off in the cold frames. They are then set in the open ground in rows fifteen inches apart and about ten inches apart in the row.]

Another wrinkle in the growing of early lettuce is to grow the plants in pots until about the size of that shown in the figure and then transplant to flats, in which the plants are grown to maturity or at least salable size.

Use Your Watch Right

What would you think of an engineer who ran his engine two or three years, night and day, without cleaning or oiling?

What would you give him for his machine after a few years of such use.

And yet you subject your watch—a far more delicate piece of machinery, to just this treatment.

Don't you think it would pay you to have it cleaned and oiled up once a year.
