Capitalist Barbarity.

The utter heartlessness and inhuman barbarity which are characteristic of the capitalist class surpass in degree and in extent the recorded ferocities of all other historical ruling classes.

One of the most difficult tasks for the true working-class teacher, is that of impressing upon his fellow workmen the grim, relentless and undying hostility displayed towards the working class by the dominant rulers—the capitalists.

The worker's mind is so constantly bluffed, bulldozed and chloroformed by the specious falsehoods which emanate from the capitalist press, that he is prone again and again to stupidly imagine that in some unexplained and concealed manner the capitalist class wishes him well, and wears a benevolent smile whenever the working class is mentioned.

As a matter of fact, the capitalist class cares nothing for him or his either one way or the other. It cares only for "profits." Profits, large profits, huge profits, immense profits, stupendous profits; as the profits loom larger, so do the temptations to fraud and crime appeal more strongly, and so does what they call "the moral law" recede into the back-ground.

Because profits enable them to live in luxury, to ride rough-shod over other classes of society, to buy genius, flattery, the prayers of the church and the brains of the learned, at will and by the pound—to say nothing of the servility of the despised working class.

It is again one of the ironies of fate that the prosperity of the working-class means a reduction of profits. Diminish the number of the unemployed and the workman becomes more independent. He refuses to work for a subsistence, and profits decrease. And yet there are workers who talk of the kindness and consideration of "the bosses!" Poor fools. They will be awakened later on—and rudely! Let them, however, ponder over the following item of news—not, of course, cabled through the wires connected with Australia and controlled by capitalists.

The Berlin correspondent of the London Standard says:

"In the Reichstag Budget Commission Herr Dernburg stated that the prompt continuation of the Central railway through German East Africa was necessary for military reasons. Owing to the size of the Protectorate and the badness of the roads, a rapid concentration of troops was impossible, and if anything like a general rising took place they would not be able to hold their own." This is explanatory. Now for the denouement:

"The Colonial Secretary mentioned that in the recent trouble in East Africa it had been necessary to seize all the available food supplies, either for the feeding of the German force or to weaken the enemy, and that had resulted in the destruction of 75,000 human lives."

The murder of the 75,000 human beings was due to the robbery of the food supplies.

The robbery was necessary for the safety of the German force.

The safety of the German force was necessary for the projection of the Central railway through German East Africa.

This railway was necessary "for military reasons."

But the "military reasons" were only needed for the security of the East African German protectorate.

And the security of the East African protectorate is only necessary in order that German, Jew and other capitalists may make profits!

This is the bed-rock—"profits!"

Is there anything more awful to contemplate than this wholesale murder of 75,000 natives by capitalists? By a nation which hypocritically unloads guns, ammunition and brandy from one boat and missionaries from another! Is there anything more despicable than the slaughter of 75,000 people in order that the capitalists who were responsible for the deed could more easily and safely exploit the survivors?

No cure for the rapacity and barbarity of this present-day ruling class can be found, except in its utter abolition. It is the mission of the working class to accomplish this by means of Socialism.—Barrier Truth.

Which is the Sin?

The wealthy are very indignant at the Socialists for wishing to make collectively owned property out of that which is now privately owned. They are sure that it is a sin to take the property of an individual and use it for the common good; but they have no objection to the taking of a private citizen and making him over into a public soldier. The right of individual to his private life is not considered when the capitalist state has need of him. The working class is drawn upon for volunteer and conscript soldiers; but the capitalist class is never required to furnish the financial "sinews of war" save on terms agreeable to them. Under capitalism the rights of capitalism are paramount. Under Socialism the rights of man will be paramount, and those of property will be secondary.—Appeal to Reason.

There is his difference. Socialism would do you good, and capitalism is "doing" you good.

Charity be blown! Give the workers the wealth they produce and they will need no charity.

No man knows everything; but every many knows that things cannot forever continue as they are.

Compulsory arbitration under capitalism means that the workers must agree to be robbed in profits or be shot.
