Rev. Dr. Linscott's Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson for July 25th, 1909.

Paul's Second Missionary Journey.—Athens. Acts xvii: 16-34.

Golden Text.—God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth. John iv: 24.

Verse 16.—Can any true man, at this time, see the folly and sin which thousands so eagerly follow, without his spirit being stirred?

Verse 17.—Notwithstanding that we all, necessarily, have trades and callings to pursue, should or should not our chief concern be the tremendous issues involved in spiritual truth, and why? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Verses 18-21.—The Epicureans and the Stoics had a contrary philosophy of life, state briefly what they each taught.

Which brings the more lasting happiness, and develops the nobler character, a life devoted to the pleasures of sense, or a life devoted to service for others, and to self denial?

What as a matter of fact, is the substance of what Paul taught?

Should we lend a respectful ear to all new theories of life, and eternity, or reject them without examination?

Verse 22.—Which is the better man, an active skeptic, or an indifferent and thoughtless Christian?

Which is preferable to be ever speculating about God, or to have no thought concerning him?

Is belief in and a longing for God, peculiar to Christianity?

May a heathen who has never come into touch with Christianity, find out, and know, the true God?

What then is the advantage for a true hearted heathen, coming into contact with Christianity?

Verse 23.—Can one man who knows God, be the means of imparting that knowledge to another who desires to know him?

Verse 24.—How do we know that God made all things?

God does fill heaven and earth with his presence; but does he not also dwell in the temples that are made in which to worship him?

Verse 25.—While God does not need the support of man's hands, does he not desire the worship and love of men's hearts?

How does God give to all "life and breath, and all things?"

Will we in heaven be able to see God, in any different way from the way in which it is our privilege to see him now?

Verse 26.—What is the evidence that all races of men sprang from the same original stock?

Has God had anything to do with the national, and geographical, divisions of the globe, as they exist to-day?

Has God had anything to do with our present individual conditions?

Verses 27-28.—What is both the chief joy and object of life?

Is it possible for every man to find God if he will but seek him, and what is the only condition for seeking him?

How do you conceive of the thought that "in him we live and move and have our being," can you illustrate the thought with air, that is both in us, and around us?

Verse 29.—Can any work of art represent God to any practical advantage?

Verses 30-31.—What makes the need for repentance?

In what way will Jesus judge the world?

Verse 32.—Why did some mock when they heard of the resurrection?

Verses 33-34.—Did all who were true to God accept of Paul's message, and were all untrue to God who rejected it?

Lesson for Sunday Aug 1st, 1909.—Close of Paul's Missionary Journey. Acts xviii: 1-22.

Powles Corners.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)

The recent showers were a great blessing to the agriculturalists in this section as well as in other parts of the province. The rain was a little late coming for the hay crop, but all the other crops of different kinds have made a wonderful growth, and the great shortage of straw that was predicted may not be so great after all. There is a very small acreage of fall wheat in this section. The late spring frosts were hard on it, but it has made a wonderful recovery and will be a very nice crop. A large amount of buckwheat and millet have been sown. A great many farmers around here seem rather backward in going forward to sow more alfalfa. For this plant it is most important to have the ground very clean and fertile.

Quite a number from here went last Monday night to the garden party at the Methodist parsonage and every one was well pleased and enjoyed the excellent music.

Miss V. Crittel and Miss Garnet Quinn, of Toronto, are visiting friends in this locality. These young ladies are always glad of an opportunity of getting away from the noisy city.
