

Powles' Corners.

(Correspondence of the Gazette.)
The members of the church here have once more decided to have a thank-offering, instead of a fowl supper. The majority of the members and congregation think there is too much work about fowl suppers, and they are not very far astray. Not only that, a fowl supper leaves the church in a dirty state. The proper way to raise funds for the advancement of God's kingdom here below is for everyone who has a desire to help to put his right hand into his pocket, and do not let the left hand know it. Mr. Jno. S. Brown is harvesting the heaviest crop of millet that ever was raised in this section. Mr. Brown is certain that the field will give three tons to the acre. The present fine weather is very favorable for saving a crop of that kind at this time of the year, especially on low land. The storm last Tuesday night did no damage in this locality, but we would judge by the illumination of the sky that there was some one in other parts came to a loss by lightning.

When you buy tea it is just as easy to get the best as to get the next best. The best housekeeper cannot make a good cup of tea with tea of poor quality, but anyone by using "Salada" Tea can make a delicious and healthful drink. With "Salada" you can make more tea and better tea. At all grocers.

Present indication are that the Ontario Legislature will be called to meet about the middle of January, and that six weeks will see all the business transacted. The fiscal year will close this year on Oct. 21. This will give the department time to have the public accounts and estimates ready in time to be laid on the table of the House the first week.

Wm. Hickson on Ruffed Grouse.

The September number of Rod and Gun, has an interesting and instructive article by Mr. Wm. Hickson, of Bobcaygeon, on the habits and the vanishing of our ruffed grouse. The article has five photo illustrations showing a nest of eggs, the hen partridge both on and off the nest, and the cock bird on his drumming log, a fine set of photos taken by Mr. Lloyd Hamilton. The article is one that will certainly attract the attention of all interested in our finest game bird, as it is full of information regarding the habits of the bird that are not generally known. It is an article that should be presented to the authorities at Toronto, as Mr. Hickson not only points out the causes of the gradual extinction of this fine bird, but suggests a course for preserving them. Unlike the ducks which go away for the winter to be destroyed in other lands, the partridge is with us always and entirely in our own hands. If the partridge is exterminated, it is our own fault. Mr. Hickson would prohibit the use of dogs when partridge shooting, and would have the opening season from October 1st to November 15th, or half the season when last allowed. At present the killing of partridge is prohibited, but it is to be feared that the prohibition is not very strictly enforced. The article is good reading, instructive, and cannot fail to arouse an interest in nature and the glories of our forest.—Independent.

Goldwin Smith, discussing Dr. Cook's success says: "What has been manifestly gained is the assurance that human life can be enjoyed at a temperature of 50 or 60 below zero under a tent with a diet of dried beef and tallow."

Globe: Liquor to the value of $1,500 has been destroyed officially at Elk Lake. This destruction is not due to a belief that illegal liquor is any worse or more dangerous than legal liquor. No other products are destroyed for violation of taxation laws. But the fact is that the chief value of liquor is in the taxation on it, and if that value is lacking it is seldom commercially worth preserving.

The Lakefield News says: Mr. George Cochrane, high county constable, at his Eagle Mount cottage, Stoney Lake, has a triangular plot of ground equivalent to three and a half or four feet square in area. This is planted with "black" raspberries. From this he has gathered this season 27 quarts of fruit. After one day picking three quarts, he picked the next day seven quarts. The plants are in a basin in the rock filled in with about two feet of earth. The plot receives and retains the water from the rains that fall upon the rocks sloping to the basin, and is consequently well watered. This is of interest to fruit growers as perhaps showing that abundance of water, while it certainly stimulates vine growth, probably promotes prolific fruiting.
