Patriotism.

A great howl is going up throughout the length and breadth of Canada for patriotism. The newspapers are howling for soldiers and guns and battleships, and all under the pretense of patriotism. Why should Canadian workmen and farmers want to tax themselves with an army? Patriotism on the lips of our government officials means protection for the plunderbund. On all sides we see the formation of the trusts and the machinery for plundering the people. Foreign plunderers are pushing to the feast. Canadian labor is being plucked. The men who are howling for guns and ships and soldiers care nothing for the welfare of the Canadian people. Our farmers pile mortgages against their little farms and the plunderers rejoice. The men whose strong arms build the railroads and dig the mines can starve, and the financiers and their government assistants do not mind.

But the men who are being plundered object; and the men who are plundering them must devise schemes in order that their revenues may be protected against the indignation of the plundered. These plunderers are glad when a war breaks out. Of course the labor thieves dare not admit their real sentiments; so they talk of patriotism, and endeavor to inveigle the plundered into the belief that some foreign country is about to fall upon Canada and eat her up. And the poor fools who serve as meat to the plunderers listen open mouthed to the bogey stories told them. They do not realize that the financiers of Canada have sold out Canadian industries to the foreigners. Of twelve million dollars paid by the C. P. R. in dividends, ten millions went abroad. The Dominion Iron & Steel Company is owned by Americans. The capitalist newspapers chortle with joy whenever another Canadian industry is bound and mortgaged to foreign money lords.

When will you yaps who do the work and get skinned learn that the patriots who suck your blood are hypocrites? When will you learn that this talk of patriotism is merely a blind to keep you fellows stirred up against Germany, while the capitalists of Canada are stealing you blind. As long as you can be made to hurrah for an army of men who plunder you, they will be glad. But just as soon as you stop hurrahing and begin to ask where the money is going, the capitalists will find out that you are getting wise to the skin game being played upon you. Never fear, the trust magnates and railroad barons and cheap Ottawa politicians have their eyes on you. And they are all scared to death lest you fellows should begin to think.—Cotton's Weekly.

Vanishing Jobs.

The Montreal Street Railway Company wants to haul freight. It is doing so at present to a limited extent. The Montreal Street Railway also wants to remove the snow in winter from the streets along which its cars pass. The Street Railway can handle the freight with less labor than teams of horses can. Because the workers will be thrown out of employment if the Street Railway carries the freight and handles the snow, the workingmen object and want antiquated methods continued. The labor thieves who own express waggons are also fighting for the continuance of the old methods. They do not want to see their profits disappear. The fight of the workingmen and of the express owners is doomed to defeat. Their mode of transportation has become unnecessary. The express owners are going to be wiped out of business, and their employees will lose their jobs. Under capitalism the workers will haunt the streets looking for jobs which they can't find. Let the workingmen and the little capitalists who run express services realize their only hope of salvation is the public ownership of the street railway property, with the men who do the work running it in the interests of themselves. The Montreal Street Railway Company has, by its method of doing business, taken away the jobs from many cab drivers, and it is about to take the jobs away from many snow shovellers, freight handlers and teamsters. Let these men whose jobs have been taken away from them organize themselves politically under the red banner of socialism, and run the street railway for the benefit of all who will work. Capitalism, with its hunt for profit, cannot solve the problem of unemployment; it produces it. Socialism, with its principles of production for use and not for profit, is the only remedy.—Ibid.

The Growing Menace.

John H. Wrenn, head of the big Wall street banking house bearing his name, has just returned from a trip of several weeks in Europe. He says: "Everybody in financial circles in England is becoming seriously frightened at the growth of Socialism in that country. I had always supposed England was firmly based on aristocracy, but my recent visit compels me to believe that that power has been almost destroyed. Europe has turned to America for its investments, and is placing a deal of money here, seeming to feel that it is to-day the safest nation, from a political standpoint, of any on earth. Hence their desire to invest here.—Appeal to Reason.
