Improve the Roads.

The conclusions arrived at as a result of figuring out the cost of hauling farm produce over country roads have probably been chiefly responsible for the present widespread agitation for road improvement. Counting lost time, wear and tear on horses, waggon, harness and driver, poor roads have been shown to be surprisingly expensive. A Mr. Trethewey, writing in one of our leading farm journals recently, stated that it cost him $12 a day for 300 days to do his teaming on the road between Weston and Toronto, and that with a good road the cost could be reduced to $5 per day, a saving of $2,100. Other evidence of a similar nature indicates that good roads throughout the country would mean a gain everywhere as great proportionally as in the case mentioned. The only regrettable thing in connection with the present general recognition of the importance of good roads is that it did not happen sooner, so that farmers and others might now be enjoying the benefits of them instead of having to be content with the pleasures of anticipation.

C. P. R. Will Advertise Kawartha Lakes.

Peterboro Times: Mr. J. J. Brignall, travelling passenger agent C. P. R. was in town yesterday interviewing the officers of the Otonabee Navigation Company, in regard to improving the train and boat service next season. The details of the new service are practically completed and will be a great improvement over the old. The C. P. R. intend to advertise the Kawartha Lakes extensively next year and are now engaged in preparing the folders and other literature.

Apples at Ten Dollars Apiece.

Never before in the history of fruit-growing has $10 been offered for a single specimen of a standard variety of apple. The price usually paid is at the rate of about $5 a barrel for good Spys. If you stop to figure out the cost of a barrel of Spys at $10 each, it would total to over $2,000. That is a very high price, and one that would not permit the making of many apple pies. The choicest Canadian apples that are exported to Great Britain, sell for about five cents apiece in the fruit shops in London. In Oregon, they sometimes pay as high as $10 a box for winter banana apples, but they are of a special variety, and only a few are grown. Ten dollars each will be paid for the best single specimen apple of the following varieties: Spy, Baldwin, Greening, McIntosh, and King, and five dollars each will be paid for the second best of the same varieties, making in all $75 for ten apples. This amount is being given the directors of the Ontario Horticultural Exhibition, which will be held in the St. Lawrence Arena, Toronto, November 9 to 18. This exhibition includes a display of the best fruits that can be grown in Canada, as well as a flower show.

For some years past, this exhibition has been one of the leading attractions in November, and from present indications, this year's exhibition will surpass any of the previous successes. The railways are running special excursions from all points in Ontario.

Ted Heard Ran Good Race.

Ted Heard, who entered in the Examiner Road Race, which took place on Thanksgiving Day at Peterborough, finished third. He was a few seconds behind the winner, who made the five miles in 28 minutes, 30 seconds. The following is the Examiner's account of the race:

"An outsider and dark horse carried off the junior honours in the person of Willie Edwards, a lanky Keene youth who led home a field of 35 runners in 28 min. 30 secs., knocking a full minute off the record made by Peter Wallace in 1907—Edwards, however, did not have the easy task that Smoke had in the senior, as he only won by a desperate sprint at the finish, beating off by little more than a yard Garnie Tovey, the local boy who was second yesterday, as he was a year ago. The junior race was a triangular battle between Edwards, Tovey and Teddie Heard, and the three had a merry fight all through the five mile course.

The race was a hot one from the start, Edwards, the ultimate winner, went out at once, followed by Tovey and Heard of Fenelon Falls. Elmer Brown, Bullock of Lakefield, Nagle Phelan, Cecil Armstrong, Vernon Rannels, and several others, looked on to the three out in front, for a while, but found the pace too hot, and most of them dropped back rapidly, while behind them again the twenty youngsters of the rear guard were having all kinds of fights and changes of places among themselves. Out in front the three leaders had the hardest kind of a race. Each took his turn in leading and for the whole distance there was not much between them. Heard took the lead near the city, but was overhauled by the other pair, and could not pull down their lead, although he was always in threatening distance and ran a grand race. The other two raced almost together along Water street and then down George street to the finish. At Brook street they were on even terms and both sprinted desperately for the finishing tape, a short half block away. Edwards had the most left in him and breezed home a yard in advance of Tovey, one of the most exciting finishes in the history of the Examiner race. Hardly had the excited cheering of the crowd died away when Heard, the Fenelon Falls starter came in sight and finished with a strong sprint that brought forth renewed cheering. Then came another nerve-racking finish. Elmer Brown, of the Collegiate Institute, and Victor Bullock, of Lakefield, came in together sprinting like hundred yards men. From Brook street until a few feet from the finish they ran like a team, but a yard away, Brown, by a supreme effort, pushed himself six inches in front of the Lakefield boy, and they crossed the tape with a half a foot separating the fourth and fifth men. Nagel Phelan and Harold Morrow followed, and for the next fifteen minutes the kids were coming in.

PRESBYTERIAN ANNIVERSARY.—The anniversary sermons in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday last were ably delivered by the Rev. Alex. McMillan, of Toronto. On the following evening the ladies of the congregation held a fowl supper, which was a pronounced success both from a culinary and a financial standpoint, the sum of $108 being taken at the door. The chief feature of the programme given afterwards in the church was a lecture given by the Rev. Mr. McMillan, who introduced to many of his hearers the literary works of Dr. John Brown, of Edinboro, Scotland. After an interesting biographical sketch of the beloved physician, as he was then called, Mr. McMillan read extracts and cited passages from his book, "Rab and His Friends." The choir sang several selections, a solo being acceptably rendered by Miss Cecil Swanton. The opening prayer was offered by the Rev. W. J. M.
