Ponetang Herald: Wolves are located in large numbers within a few miles of the town of Parry Sound, in the township of Carling. The farmers of that section have had nearly all their sheep killed by wolves. A large number of deer are also falling a prey to these animals. Steps are being taken by the farmers to organize a club to go out and have a wolf hunt to exterminate these pests. It is hoped that fully a hundred people will take part in the hunt, which is to be a thoroughly organized affair.

Mr. J. T. Clark in England to cover British Elections for Toronto Daily Star

Another instance of aggressive enterprise on the part of the "Toronto Daily Star" is furnished by its action in sending to England a member of its staff, Mr. Joseph T. Clark, to remain there until the close of the British Election Campaign.

Since the 14th of December Mr. Clark's cables appearing in the "Star" have been commanding attention and favorable comment. Never before has a Canadian paper afforded its readers the means of following day by day a British Election Campaign so intelligently. Cabling is an expensive operation, but the "Star" does not spare expense when there is an opportunity to serve its readers.

Mr. Clark, who is known throughout Canada as a writer of unusually graceful English, with an original point of view that gives distinctiveness to everything he writes, is describing the campaign at greater length for "Star" readers in frequent letters which can be truthfully described as masterpieces.

The British Elections are being covered in the "Star" by no less than four distinct services, two of them exclusive to the "Star," as follows:

1. Mr. Clark's cables and letters (exclusive to the "Star").
2. A special cable service from a staff of permanent correspondents in Britain (exclusive to the "Star").
3. The Canadian Associated Press cables.
4. The Associated Press cables.

In no previous British Election has a Canadian paper made similar preparations for getting the news. It is another proof of the increasing closeness of Canada's relations to the Mother Land. But, also, not in our times have there been as great issues at stake. The budget, free trade, the future of the House of Lords, the British constitution itself, are in the melting pot, and who knows what will come out? For comparisons one has to go back to the great reform of 1832, and one authority says it is the most momentous struggle since the Revolution of 1688.

The "Toronto Daily Star's" news columns will keep you fully posted as to the progress of the fight.

The Herald of Light

In Men's Good Clothes

Some men made money out of other men's habits. Not necessarily bad habits but the cheerful, clinging customs which may be old-fashioned.

The cable companies collect 25 cents a word for messages to England, even though wireless telegraphy carries messages as accurately at half the price. Cable stocks are high in price, and the owners rely upon the long-enduring of an established habit.

Twenty years ago, not ten men in Canada believed that street cars could be successfully operated by electricity. Two Ottawa men converted us into a five cent car-riding generation.

Fifteen years ago nobody believed that Semi-ready tailoring was a better system than retail tailoring. Interested men pooh-poohed the idea. As Agnes Lamb said, "Practical men scorn the dreamer..... who wrecks his life trying to prove his dream a reality. Yet..... the Poet of action whose poem has been his Life, the Hunter who has chased the idea down the long trail..... has been a Herald of Light for all Humanity."

The Semi-ready idea is a practical reality. Yet many men can be pooh-poohed into paying $5 and $10 more and getting ill-made tailor-made clothes. It has been their habit. Conservative men do not all see the Herald of Light in the first years of its lustrous beaming. The continuous ray of Semi-ready success must ultimately carry conviction. Each year adds to its brightness and its rightness: as the way of to-day in tailoring good clothes for men.

AXES.

In this line more than any other, quality counts. The customer's satisfaction lies in one of two things—expert knowledge of goods which few have, or in knowledge of the store selling them, which all should have.

We don't buy and sell at random. We investigate and compare, and we want you to do the same. You are welcome to take away any of our axes, and get any where you can, the best look and judgment on them. If they do not agree in every particular with all that we say of them, you get your money back.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. A post-master is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law), when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.
2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.
3. Any person who takes a paper from the post office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.
4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it from the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.
5. Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
