Ontario Agric. College, C. A. ZANITZ, Guelph, March 1910. Director.

Mr. Flavelle Criticised.

In his speech before the Canadian Club at Orillia, says the Toronto Telegram, Mr. Flavelle said: "I see no way in which men can be prevented who desire to do so, from buying products and putting them into store in the hope of making money by marketing them later, any more than I see how farmers are to be prevented from carrying their grain in their barns in the hope that at a later period they may secure a higher value than that which is current at the time."

Is not Mr. Flavelle somewhat superficial in the above attempted analogy between the acts of an individual and the acts of a corporation? The logic, or rather the tendency of an assumption that is utterly lacking in logic, offers these two suggestions:

- 1.—A farmer, capital say $10,000, can legally carry grain in his barns, in the hope of getting higher prices.
- 2.—A corporation, capital say $200,000,000, can legally corner food products in its cold storage warehouses in the hope of forcing higher prices.

Surely Mr. Flavelle realises that the farmer is a creature of nature and is responsible to the God of nature for the moral, not legal, quality of his puny attempts to corner grain. But the corporation is the creation of the state and is responsible to the state for the effect of its gigantic attempts to corner food-stuffs. It is conceivable, but perhaps impracticable, that a corporation could be formed with a credit of $200,000,000 or $300,000,000, and that its operations should affect prices by cornering food products in cold storage. It is inconceivable that individual farmers by mutual consent could affect food prices by attempts to corner wheat in their own barns. If the farmers sought a corporate existence from the state, the state would stand in the relationship of parent to its child, the corporation, and would be bound to see that the powers that child owes to the state were not used against the public welfare.

But It's Different Now.

A gentleman who used to farm in Prince Edward County, tells of an experience he had thirty-five or forty years ago. He killed some hogs and was told if he took his large ones to Trenton he could get a good price for them, so he drove about twenty-five miles with them, and when he got there he could not sell them at all. He then took them home and salted them down. The next spring he was told he could get a good price for his pork if he took it to Flinton, about forty miles back of Belleville. He took it back there and received $10 per barrel for it in shingles.—Port Hope Guide.

Now hail the gorgeous Easter hat; A bit of this, a lot of that; A crinkled brim, a flowered crown— And $19.99, cash down!

PANTRY TALKS

I am the Queen of the Flour Bin, the lady-in-chief of the Royal Pantry, the oracle of the Royal Household.

I want the attention of Big Folks and Little Folks, of Experienced housewives and Inexperienced—of Rich housewives and Poor—Young housewives and Old. For I have stories to tell.

Secrets—flour secrets—to unfold.

And these secrets have come by Experience—by actual knowledge of flour, actual study of different grades of flour.

Royal Household Flour

so named because it was the flour selected for use in the Royal Household of Great Britain. It is the one flour in Canada which stands out head and shoulders above all the rest. It is made in Canada by the largest millers in the British Empire—The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. Limited, and, because of its high quality and absolute uniformity, has given the greatest satisfaction both for Bread and for Pastry.

If I can tell you the secret of making better Bread and Cakes and Pies and Pastry, that will be profitable to you.

And if I can tell you why one flour is more economical as well as more wholesome than another, that, too, will be profitable.

For I mean to go into the flour question deeply, giving Whys and Wherefores, Facts and Figures.

So if you follow my little stories from time to time, as they appear, you will learn lots of things about flour that nobody has told you before. These Pantry Talks of mine will be chiefly about Coal in Northern Ontario.

Martin Shannon, of North Bay, formerly employed on the G. T. P. survey, has just returned from the Metagama River, north of the Transcontinental Railway, and a syndicate is being formed to send him back at the head of a party to locate coal lands. People coming out from the Metagama River country this week met four different parties going in, all looking for coal.

Claims have been staked and recorded for twenty square miles of territory, where an immense body of coal has been found. Tests were made at four different places within an area of three miles along the Metagama, and coal was found each time. Assays of the samples so far have been very favorable, and the interested parties are thoroughly satisfied that good commercial coal has at last been discovered in northern Ontario. The coal fields are located about sixty miles north of the Grand Trunk Pacific, west of Cochrane, and from the formation the Metagama River seems to have cut through an immense bed of coal, as it is found on both banks, and the high bluffs are scamed with the precious commodity. Should a thorough assay of the samples brought out and careful inspection of the deposits bear out the reports already given by engineers and prospectors a continuation of the T. & N. O. Railways to the new coal fields will be a matter of a short-time only.

Terrible Disaster in Hungary.

Mate-Szalka, Hungary, March 20.—More than three hundred persons were burned or trampled to death and one hundred others were seriously injured in a disaster in the village of Oegoorite Sunday night, at a public ball at the hotel of the village, where the coach house had been fitted up as a ball room.

While the dancing was in full swing a pine branch caught fire and fell to the floor. It blazed furiously, and almost instantly the dresses of several of the women burst into flames, which spread with astonishing rapidity.

A dreadful panic ensued, the revelers losing their heads completely. Many of them, their garments ablaze, rushed surging towards the barred exit, where a mass was jammed together.

The official estimate states that 290 persons perished, but it is believed that the total death roll will prove much larger than this, as many persons have not been accounted for.

How Small We Seem.

Government-controlled roads came right to the front in the discussion at the good-roads convention. Ontario has been in the limelight for several years as the province in the van of others in Canada in road improvement. But how paltry her efforts seem as compared with what some of the states of the union are doing! Massachusetts has spent $7,000,000 in the construction of state-owned roads, and is spending $1,000,000 annually in maintenance. Then there is New York State, a very wealthy state, it is true, with big expenditures also. A speaker from Buffalo stated that there is not a city in that state that does not give twice as much toward good roads as the whole of Ontario does. The city of Buffalo alone gave over a million dollars for good roads in Erie County. What has Toronto done for good roads in York County? Nothing but give the matter some consideration. A grant may come some day.—Canadian Farm.

HALIBURTON MAN KILLED.

Dauphin, Man., March 28th, 1910.—A young homesteader named Holmes, who was on his way west from Haliburton, Ontario, to take up a farm near Paynton, Sask., was fatally injured in the C. N. R. yards here this morning and died an hour later. He and his brother were waiting in the yards while the train for the west was being made up, and the dead man was struck by a shunting engine.

Another Deck on Lady's Hat.

Peterboro Review:—People are pretty nearly case-hardened enough to expect a woman wearing anything on her head, but there was a "turnout" on George St. Peterboro, on Saturday last, that caused passersby to come to attention. A woman was in a hat store on George street, and when she was coming out a small felt hat that was on an upper shelf tumbled down and landed on the headpiece of the lady. There it stuck among the feathers, tin cans, rope and other articles that went to make up the trimming. The lady did not know that another deck had been put on her sky-piece, and she walked a considerable distance along the street before becoming aware of why people were staring at her. Then she blushed and hurried back to the store.

Beaverton corr. Cannington Plaindealer:—"My Council" are the words used by Reeve Talbot on different occasions in public, and a number of enquiries have come to the office of the Hustler, as to who owns the council, Reeve Talbot or the ratepayers. We are under the impression that Reeve Talbot owns part of the Council, or have them rented. It is a question that should be settled before the new town hall is built, to avoid any dispute as to the ownership. Will some kind reader help us out?

Last week Teddy Thompson, an employe of Mr. F. S. King, the butcher, was bitten by a hog. The hog was squealing about the high price of pork, and Teddy undertook to close its mouth, at the same time it closed its mouth on Teddy's hand and the result was that the task pierced his hand, going right through, and the mouth had to be pried open to relieve the hand. Teddy swears that he will never interfere with the price of pork again. He has been laid up since and is recovering under the careful attention of Dr. Galloway, of Beaverton.

Toronto World—"Vancouver and the west generally are depleting Ontario of her young men, and the acceptance of the principalship of the new Anglican Evangelical Theological College there by Rev. W. H. Vance of the Church of the Ascension, involves a distinct loss to Toronto. It is the five years of his incumbency he has entered unassumingly into the life of the city, and has made a deep impression among young men, while building up a down-town congregation in the most successful way. Mr. Vance will have the best wishes of the community he leaves, and Vancouver will have one of the best men we can send it.
