FENELON FALLS.

THE WISEST HOUSEWIFE

Is she who devotes the most care to the selection of the supplies for her table.

She recognizes that in this particular she is the custodian of the health of the family.

She sees to it that all doubt of quality is removed.

In short, she enforces a pure food law of her own framing.

This explains why so many housewives have got into the habit of depending upon this store.

They have learned that our claim for high grades is more than talk.

We invite a test from every overseer of a family's eatables.

We promise to give everyone all that there is to be had in the way of eatable surety.

The Social Unrest.

The topic of most of your conversations with your neighbors is about the way things are running in this country. You cannot discuss any subject but what this is a part of it. If you discuss the price of products, you are trying to think how to get the most for what you have and where to get goods for the least, and how to avoid the tribute or miss the pitfalls that schemers are continually laying to skin you. In other words, you are forced to play the game, whether you will or no. And so long as you are forced to play it, the system that you see has many wrongs in it will continue. The things that can only be cured by legal action—politics—are the uppermost in your minds all the time, touch you closer and oftener than any other, and yet you fail to see that politics have anything to do with it.

Your idea of politics is that you are to vote for some friend or honest man to hold a position and draw a salary and do things; and you have probably not once thought as to what ought to be done to give you relief. Neither has the man whom you elect, unless he has made a study of the subject. An honest man who does not have the knowledge cannot help himself. Now here is where you lose out. A man who has studied the subject must necessarily have discovered how to make the change; but, to do so, he must advocate a programme so totally different from the programmes that have been used and complained of, that you either do not understand him or you lose faith in his sense. Something totally different must be adopted to make the change; for, if the same rules that have been used are continued, the same evil effects must be produced. And every such man is quickly denounced by the papers and politicians controlled by those who are benefiting by the present conditions.

If you have hope of relief by anything the Liberal or Conservative parties will give you, you certainly are credulous. If many years of rule by these parties has not demonstrated that they cannot or will not make the changes that will produce justice, how much more proof do you wish? Even honest men elected, and the majority have been such, if they try to remedy things by applying the same principles as in the past, cannot give any relief. The illegal stealings have been inconsiderable compared to the legal thefts. One big trust legally robs the people of more each year than all the petty thefts and defalcations combined. And if the honest men you elect believe in the private ownership of the trust combine, how can it be prevented from taking its toll from the people and crushing all smaller concerns in the same business? Your theory of governmental functioning is narrow. You do not want it to go into production and distribution, and yet it is the private ownership of these things that produces the evils of which you complain. You would likely oppose the collective ownership of the postal system, if it were privately owned now, as you now believe the government should not take over the express companies or establish other conveniences. You believe in the collective ownership of the postal plant, not on principle, but because you have grown up under it and never saw it any other way. If it were privately owned to-day, you would denounce men who advocated the government taking it over; just as you are honest in your opposition to the government doing other things for you, so that each is equal before it.

The Socialists cannot do anything for you. If there is anything done for you, you must help to do it. It takes a majority, and you Liberals and Conservatives are the majority; so, after all, nothing can be done for you unless you help to do it. A minority cannot pass a law. We do not ask you to trust us Socialists, but to trust yourselves. If we can get you to understand the principles of society, you will then be most potent in bringing about the things you want. It is the things that you want that we are trying to induce you to help get. But that is what you can't get into your mind. You have an idea that Socialists want a lot of things that you do not want. If this were true, Cotton's would quit the work of agitation. We want just what you want, and are trying to get it; but you are not clear in the matter. If we could speak to you face to face, we could convince you that what you want is the very thing we are trying to get for you as well as for ourselves.

We want to put this stronger, if we can. You will not make any change in your nature, your desires or wishes, if you should become a Socialist. Nobody does that. It is not a change of any conviction. It is but a change of method to get what you now long for. When a farmer throws away an old machine, good in its day, and gets a better one, does that change his desires in life? Is n't it that he has got the new machine to more easily secure the very things that he was trying to get with the old machine? Now, that is something like the Socialist movement. It is a process to get what you have been trying to get by using the old parties for many years, and have not gotten. Socialism will give you what you want to-day. No change in you is desired or sought.

Get a book on Socialism and read it, and see whether this be not true.—Cotton's Weekly.
