Nothing to Commend It.

The event of the week has been the fight at Reno; that is, more widespread and keener interest has been taken in it than in any other recent occurrence, only Halley's comet and the death of King Edward being in anything like the same class. Since the fight occurred, figuring out why it was that the black man had such a snap, and moralizing on the badness and goodness of prize fighting in general, has been the order of the day. Jack London, who wrote up the affair for the News, says that unfair rebates and putting scrap iron into life preservers are much worse than prize fighting, and nobody has attempted to dispute his statement. But two wrongs don't make a right, even if one black made a fight. Prizefighting has nothing to commend it, and notwithstanding the interest manifested in Monday's contest, the "sport" is being gradually discouraged, and promoters are having more difficulty each year in finding a place in which to hold a fight. The prohibition of pictures of the fight in moving picture shows in Ontario by the Provincial Government will meet with general approval.

Preserve The Fish.

Circulars are from time to time sent out by various branches of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association, asking farmers and residents in the neighborhood of fishing waters to help in the preservation of the fish by refraining from catching them in the close season, and by observing the law in other respects. It is urged that it is infinitely more profitable to the farmer to see to it that the laws are obeyed than to indulge in illegalities or permit others to do so. As an illustration of what occurs when fishing deteriorates or disappears altogether, the experience of Mr. Southworth, of Newboro, is given. This gentleman for ten years ran a hotel on Charlestown Lake, which was so famous for the excellence of its fishing that numbers of tourists from all parts of the country used to visit it. The local residents, however, did not appreciate the value of this tourist traffic to themselves, or the fact that it was the angling which attracted it. Illegalities flourished; the fish gradually diminished; until Mr. Southworth finally had to abandon the hotel as hopelessly unprofitable, because no one would go there any more, the staunchest old-timers deserting it for better fields of sport, the stray angler visitor leaving hurriedly and utterly disgusted. Thus to-day not only have the residents and farmers practically no sporting fish, but likewise they miss the yearly harvest of dollars from the pockets of the visiting anglers.

We do not think for a moment that farmers or residents of any district should be deprived of any of the natural products of the locality in which they live in order that outsiders may come in and enjoy them, and it is sometimes seriously questioned whether the fishing done by outsiders or the illegal fishing done by residents is responsible for any falling off that occurs. Instances have been known where farmers have had a flock of partridge or a couple of deer feeding on their own farms all summer, and on the first day of the open season somebody from town came in and killed all or most of them. Still, there can be no question that the destruction of fish and game out of season does a great deal of harm, more especially the catching of fish while spawning. The protective associations are doing good work in pointing out that breakers of the law are injuring themselves, even if they happen to avoid capture and fine.

Address and Presentation.

On Thursday evening the ladies of the Methodist church, held an open missionary meeting, when Miss Terrill, who was the delegate to the W. M. S. Convention held in Peterboro, gave a very interesting report, and at the close, Mrs. Cragg was presented with a purse of gold, and Mrs. Maybee read the following address: Dear Mrs. Cragg:— Now that the time has drawn near when you are to leave us, we, the ladies, of the Methodist church, desire before you go, to express our good wishes to you, and to show our appreciation of the work you have done during your stay among us. We regard your conduct and spirit as becoming a Christian worker, and your zeal for our good as most worthy of a follower of Jesus Christ. Your noble, Christian life, has ever had its influence for good on our lives, and your example cannot fail to bring forth fruit to the honor and glory of God. We realize that your devotion to our various church meetings has meant much self sacrifice on your part, and we can assure you that your efforts have not been in vain. We pray that you may be richly rewarded for your labors, both in this life and the one that is to come.

As a slight evidence of our esteem, we ask you to accept this purse, and we earnestly pray that God's blessing, which maketh rich and addeth no sorrow thereto, may rest on you and yours, as you go to your new home and field of labor.

Signed on behalf of the ladies of the Methodist church. MRS. ELLIS, Vice Pres., W. M. S. MRS. COOKE, Pres. Ladies' Aid.

FISHING.

Fishing has been tolerably good lately, some fairly respectable catches having been made. Messrs. Hill and Rushworth, and a couple of companions, caught sixty-two fine bass and a few nice lungo in a couple of days' fishing. F. C. Young of Buffalo five bass and two lungo one afternoon, and Bruce McDougall six big bass on Tuesday. Notwithstanding the large number of fish annually taken, the lakes seem to be still pretty well stocked.

POSTPONED.

At the Division Court on Monday the case of Fenelon Falls vs. J. H. Brandon was postponed until September by consent of parties. The town has sued for $99.90 business tax, which Mr. Brandon disputes, and puts in a counter claim for $220 for repairs to mill and warehouse. The case promises to be of considerable interest.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE.

A meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon, 30th June, in Dickson's Hall. Rev. C. S. Lord gave an excellent address on "Home and State." Miss Campbell, of Brampton, the delegate, delighted all present with a splendid address on "Character Building." Those who missed hearing this address missed a decided treat. Very dainty refreshments were served at the close of this address, and a pleasant evening was closed by all singing "The Maple Leaf."

PADDLE AND PIKE POLE COMBINED.

Mr. E. W. Glaspell made last week for Mr. Bickford, of the Delanere party at Birch Island, a paddle with a pike point attached to the end of the blade, that is rather an odd looking affair. The weapon is intended for use in a gasoline launch, and can be used for paddling a few strokes or for pulling into or shoving off from a wharf, and will no doubt be a very useful implement. It required no little skill to construct it, and it is very neatly and strongly made.
