The Fenelon Falls Gazette.

Friday, August 12, 1910

No Gazette Next Week.

The Gazette intends taking its annual holiday next week, not having had one for several years. There will accordingly be no paper until the following week.

A Successful Celebration.

Good baseball, a good horserace, good music, good sports, good weather, a good crowd and a first-class bunch of curlers contributed to the success of the civic holiday celebration on Monday. The curling club, who handled the event this year, are well pleased with the successful outcome of the day's proceedings. So also are the people who turned out to enjoy it. As a result of their efforts the curlers will have a nice little war that will be a welcome help to them in whatever way they may think best to apply it to further the interests of the roarin' game.

The steamer Manita and the noon train from Lindsay brought in a very respectable sized contingent from the Point and Lindsay, with the band and the Manilla baseball team. The Wacouta, which ran from Cobocok, was also well patronized.

Messrs. Lunney, father and son, the Scotch pipers from Bolsover, arrived early, and the music of the bagpipes was soon followed by that of the Lindsay band, making a pleasing and effective contrast and combination. The water sports were the attraction in the morning, and were watched with much interest by the crowd that lined the canal banks. At half-past one the members of the curling club lined up behind the Scotch pipers and in front of the band and marched to the park, each one armed with a broom. The crowd at the park in the afternoon was considerably over the average, and the gate receipts correspondingly satisfactory.

The baseball tournament, with teams from Manilla, Toronto, Lindsay, Hartley and Fenelon Falls competing, brought out some of the best play seen here for some time, the first game especially, between Toronto Blue Sox, and Manilla, being clean and classy. Manilla were the victors by two to one in this game, and also defeated Hartley in the finals, carrying off the honors of the tournament.

Hartley beat the locals 6-2, and Manilla beat Lindsay 4-2. Manilla defeated Hartley 9 to 5.

The trotting race was the best seen here for years. Lou Keswick, owned by J. Ashmore, Lindsay, Ned Wilkes, owned by A. Fanning, Lindsay, and Harry K., owned by Jos. Lee, of Fenelon Falls, faced the starter. The first and second heats were won by Keswick, who was pushed all the way by the other two horses, Wilkes finishing second, Harry K. being close up and making a good race, although out of training. In the third heat Harry K. was first under the wire, but the judges declared it no heat, as the horse broke in the home stretch and his bike got into a mix-up with Lou Keswick. Many spectators who saw the affair think Harry K. was fairly entitled to the heat, as he broke on account of being pulled a little too hard in an effort to avoid being run into, and the mix-up was the result. If he had been given the heat, his chances would have been good to win the race, as he would have had the pole. In the fourth heat, Harry K. got away to a bad start, Keswick winning, with Wilkes third. The best time was 2:27. The track was rather heavy.

Following is a list of the winners in the sports:

Ben. F. Wilson's Address.

"The Meaning and Significance of the Socialist Movement," was the subject of an address delivered by Mr. Ben. F. Wilson of Chicago in Dickson's hall on Monday evening to a small but appreciative audience. Mr. Wilson began by drawing attention to the fact that the Socialists, instead of being a handful of discontented fanatics, as was quite commonly supposed, are far more numerous than any other single party in the world. In some of the old countries they exert a very powerful influence, and it is only a question of time until they have absolute control. Many people imagine that Socialists want to take away the property of the well-to-do and divide it up equally. This notion he characterized as "too silly to talk about." Socialists want to stop the dividing up process now going on, in which the producer of wealth is forced to divide up with the exploiter, and gets by far the smallest share. The idea that Socialists want to make everybody equal is also totally without foundation. What they do want is equal opportunity for everybody, which is not the case now. The world had always crucified its saviours, the speaker said, and men with new ideas had always been misunderstood, misrepresented and persecuted.

Mr. Wilson described the horrible conditions of poverty in London, Glasgow and other cities, and contrasted the misery and emptiness of the lives of the workers with the tremendous wealth of the landlords and the men who had unjustly acquired control of the natural resources of the earth. The Socialists traced the cause of the city slums, of the wretchedness of the poor, of industrial panics, and other evils, to the private ownership of the means of life and the machinery of production and distribution. As a remedy, Socialists advocate the collective or social ownership of socially necessary utilities. They do not wish to abolish private ownership of everything, but only of such things as are socially necessary. People cannot exist without access to land any more than they can live without access to air, yet any attempt at private ownership of the air would be universally and strenuously resisted.

Christianity, Mr. Wilson said, he believed in, but the test of a man's Christianity is his conduct toward his brother man. We do not commence our treatment of a new-born child by preaching the sermon on the mount to him. He is first fed and clothed, and later receives his education and religious instruction. The problem of food, clothing and shelter that confronts the world to-day must be solved, and the way to solve it is to take the ownership of the things upon which the life and comfort of the people depend out of private hands and substitute collective ownership. True Christianity would then be possible.

Mr. Wilson's address was forceful and eloquent, and held the attention of his audience closely. There is some prospect that he may speak here again after he gets through with his present engagements. Should he do so he will be sure of a full house.

The Spanish Prisoner Swindle.

The following despatch appeared in Saturday's Globe:

"The Department of External Affairs has been notified by the British Ambassador at Madrid that the time-honored old fraud known as 'the Spanish prisoner swindle' is still being exploited in various portions of the British Dominions, and the public are warned against it. The methods of the swindlers remain unchanged. A letter is received by the intended victim stating that some, often a long-lost relation, is dying in a Spanish prison, and wishes to leave his fortune to the addressee, on condition that the latter will adopt his only child. A sum of money must, however, be first sent to defray preliminary lawyers' fees, the child's journey to Canada, etc. The letters are usually accompanied by false documents bearing every appearance of authenticity. On the money being sent, nothing further is heard."
