Should Move Quickly.

The members of the Ontario legislature raised their own salaries with great promptness and despatch when the spirit moved them. On that occasion there was a very striking unanimity of opinion among the Government supporters and the opposition in the matter. It was seemingly one of those broad questions which should be looked at and considered from a purely national standpoint (as Sir Wilfrid would say), and in which party differences should be lost sight of and forgotten—just as if all questions should not be considered in an impartial spirit. The sheriffs of the province intend asking for greater remuneration, and if the legislature gives it to them with anything like the same cheerful alacrity with which it voted for its own raise, the action will meet with a larger share of public approval than was manifested in that instance. The rate of pay of these and other officials has not advanced in proportion to the general advance in other occupations, rendered necessary by the increased cost of living, and their request for greater compensation is quite reasonable. The Dominion Government, also, should be more liberal with the postmasters in small country places. The salaries paid them are much too small.

Not New.

According to the Journal des Debates, the adulteration of milk by watering it is not a very modern idea; and putting stones in butter to increase its weight, and selling overripe eggs, were common practices over four hundred years ago. The Journal describes an ordinance of 1481 for certain districts in France which, in part, reads:—"Any man or woman who has sold watered milk has a funnel pushed into his (or her) throat and as much of the watered milk, as a physician may deem without danger to life, is poured down! Any man or woman who sells butter in which has been mixed roots, stones or other matters to increase the weight is arrested and placed in pillory. Then the butter is pressed firmly on his (or her) head and remains there until melted by the sun. The dogs are allowed to lick them and the people to abuse them with any and all invectives provided God or the King are not affronted. If cold weather, a fire is lit before the culprit and anyone may see him. Any man or woman who has sold rotten eggs is placed in the pillory and the street boys are given the rotten eggs to throw at him; yet no other missiles must be used."

There is a hint in this for Canadian legislators, who are considering ways and means of punishing the sellers of rotten eggs.

Bank Inspection.

Toronto World: When it is remembered that banks are public institutions, operating under government sanction, and they have not a dollar in their treasuries that has not been obtained directly or indirectly from the public, the demand for independent inspection of their transactions cannot be described as other than reasonable. Professional pride and prejudice, natural enough in the circumstances, account for the unwillingness to accept even a measure of governmental supervision, but no argument of striking weight has been offered against outside inspection founded on public considerations. That there must be improvements in the system hitherto followed is generally admitted, the main point is whether such additional audits as are held to be necessary should be at the instance of the public or done by the Bankers Association, that is, the banks themselves. The objection that government inspection involves government responsibility, even if the two are inseparable, which is doubtful, must be dealt with as part of general public policy.

Hydro-Electric Approved Of.

The Windsor Record says: "Surely after Niagara Falls no more Canadian water powers should be given away to private interests, or if private capital be allowed at all to develop these resources it should be under the most perfect arrangements for regulation and recall."

Lindsay and other municipalities in the Electric Power Co. zone please note.

"Ruddy" Lowes in Kansas City.

"Ruddy Lowes" who was supposed to have been murdered at Thief Falls River, has sent a message to his father near Cannington stating that he is alive and well in Kansas City. A man had been found dead on the Winnipeg flyer, having tickets in his possession in the name of Lowes, and it was supposed at first that Lowes had met with foul play. Lowes had been travelling on the same train to the West from Cannington. It is now supposed that the man found on train bought the tickets from Lowes, who presumably changed his plans. The dead man has been identified as T. Hempstead, of Binghampton, N. Y. The coroner's jury found that his death had been caused by strangulation by himself while in a fit or paroxysm brought on by the excessive use of alcohol.

Orillia Packet:—In Beaverton according to the Clerk's record, there has not been a birth since the 5th of August last. In the same period only two deaths and two marriages have been recorded. Local Option cannot be blamed, as it does not come into force until next May.

Lindsay Post:—His worship Mayor Beal has taken the initiative in his "advertising Lindsay" propaganda, which he so strongly advocated in his inaugural address. Last evening he submitted two miniature sketches of advertising signs designed by Mr. Goodwin. On each is a map of the town showing its splendid situation, as well as its splendid railway and steam boat facilities. The different railway lines, entering the town are brought into prominence, and the town's position on the great Trent waterway receives due attention. Its many advantages as a site for manufacturing industries, etc., is emphasized in bold letters, and the two samples were very favorable commented on by Council.

CUTTING ICE TOO NEAR ROAD.

Complaints are heard again this winter about ice being cut too near the road across Cameron Lake, and it is said the law is being looked into to ascertain if there is not some enactment to fit the case. There certainly should be. There is any amount of room on the lake, and ice enough to supply the whole country could be taken out without going within a mile of the line of travel. Large holes near the track are exceedingly dangerous to persons crossing on a dark night or in stormy weather.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

IN MEMORIAM.

Tis hard to break the tender cord
Where love has bound the heart,
Tis hard, so hard, to speak the word
We must for ever part.

Dearest father, we have laid thee
In the peaceful graves embrace,
Still thy memory will be cherished,
Till we see thy heavenly face.
