We are Not Much at Underselling

To tell the truth, we don't like the words "cheap groceries."

We much prefer to deal in the highest qualities obtainable.

Because reduced prices always stand for reduced values.

It is inevitable.

Business is so regulated that it cannot be any other way.

So we talk high qualities month in and month out. And we sell accordingly.

And it is the truest sort of economy to deal here. No waste of material—constant satisfaction—most healthful eatables.

These are reasons enough.

ARNOLD'S.

FALL AND WINTER CLOTHING

Made-to-order Suits and Overcoats of highest quality and best workmanship—you can get them here at reasonable prices, the latest goods and styles.

Be ready for the cold weather with a nice new suit or overcoat, or both. We can equip you in the best style possible.

Vulgar Wealth and Misery.

A short time ago Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, the noted society woman, gave a swell reception at Newport, which is reported to have cost a hundred thousand dollars. Live doves and butterflies were liberated, and the scene is pictured as one of the most luxurious and wonderful ever beheld in this or any other country. Everything that money could buy or the wit of man devise was provided to make this affair eclipse all other social functions ever attempted in this country.

Where does all the money come from which pays for this vulgar display on the part of these social parasites? Out of the sweat and misery of the groaning millions who are robbed of the fruit of their labor and beggared, that these millionaires may riot in their riches and taunt the suffering poor who have not bread to eat nor where to lay their heads. The day following the reception of Mrs. Fish to the Newport parasites and their flunkies, the United Press asked Eugene V. Debs for an opinion of the affair from his point of view, and he prepared the following statement:

"The social function of swell society under our modern plutocracy bears a striking historic analogy to the same function of the ruling patricians of ancient Rome and of the royalty of France just preceding the bloody revolution. Wealth concentrated in the hands of the few as the fruit of the exploitation of the mass, must inevitably contain within itself the elements of its own destruction. The vulgar, brutal, reckless extravagances of the extremely rich are the symptoms of social disease and decadence. The Seeley dinners, Fish receptions and monkey parties foreshadow the impending doom of our modern aristocracy.

"The latest exhibition of our morbid self-conceit and heartless defiance of the social misery of the masses was given by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish in her Newport farewell function. The description of this riotous affair is well calculated to impress upon thoughtful people the fact that there is something radically wrong in a country in which a display of such fabulous luxury is made within a stone's throw of where hundreds of thousands of human beings, men, women and children, are struggling for existence, and the great mass of them are doomed to go over the Niagara of poverty down into the abyss from which none may escape.

"The lesson of the Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish exhibition and similar social excrescences will not be lost upon all the people. For my own part I thank the plutocrats for helping the Socialists to open the eyes of the people to the meaning of the present system, and arousing them to the necessity of reorganizing society upon a basis of equal opportunities, equal freedom and equal justice to all."

The hundred thousand dollars here squandered in vulgar ostentation were wrung from the toilers and producers, which accounts in part for their poverty and suffering, and the lords and dames of sweldom, who rob the workers and roll in riches, continue to palm off their hypocrisy and cant about "the poor ye have always with you."

Yes, the poor we will always have with us as long as we allow the few to rob the many of what they produce and riot in their stolen millions at their Seeley dinners, their Fish receptions and their other monkey parties. —Appeal to Reason.

Churches Under Socialism.

A paper comes to the Appeal stating that under Socialism all land will be owned by the state, that there will be no chance to secure land for a church, that no one can support a church, except as the whole people vote to do so, and that, therefore, Socialism means a state religion.

The whole thing, of course, is purely fanciful. Socialism does not say that all land must be owned collectively; it wishes only so much land as may be necessary to break the power of landlordism and unemployment. It is expressly understood that, under Socialism, every man shall have the utmost liberty of individual action. If a number of families choose to support a church, they shall have that privilege just as truly as they have now. That church may teach whatever they are willing to have taught.

There would be this advantage to the church under Socialism which it has not now. Then the workers, receiving the full product of their toil, would be able to contribute to religious and spiritual development, as nine-tenths of them cannot do now.

The church naturally is moulded in its opinions by those who contribute to it. Because the masters of labor now do more contributing, the church is compelled to stand for the master class. Under Socialism it will be free from this domination. It will, therefore, be free to speak the truth and to stand against injustice of every kind.

Socialism will do more for the cause of real religion, and for the development of the church that stands with the whole people, than anything that has come to the world through all the centuries.

The trouble is not human nature but inhuman nature, that wants to continue a system of robbery.

The high cost of living means low living for some and high life for others. Beyond all this, it means a change that will end all of it.
