WM. CAMPBELL

The King of Ranges—"BUCK'S HAPPY THOUGHT"

One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Canadian Women have decided for

The "Happy Thought" Range.

Common Ranges were not good enough—why should they be for you?

Don't be imposed on by "just as good" talk. The construction of The "Happy Thought" is patented, its design registered, it is totally different in every respect to any other. There is none like it. There can be none so good. If you only knew the time, the trouble, the labor it would save you, how little fuel it uses, you would not be one single day without one.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1913.

Sir James the Socialist.

Under the above heading the Toronto World says editorially:

It should not be without significance to Sir James Whitney and also to The Globe that the balance of power in the students' parliament is held by the party described as social-democrats. This is the thin edge of a much thicker wedge than Sir James was able to desecrate in the land tax reform. But the real objection to socialism which the political partisans have conjured up for themselves is a self-created bogey. Its reality is existent only from a party standpoint, and is based on the party practice of grabbing the spoils for the victors. The essence of socialism would be the absence of party. It would be the fulfilment of Macaulay's ideal, "Where none were for the party and all were for the state." But neither Sir James nor any other partisan politician could imagine a condition of things where none were for the party. Hence the further difficulty of imagining the condition of things when all would be for the state. And yet it is only to the extent that the parties have dropped party ends and served the state with single heart that party government has been successful in our generation.

Party government in recent times has not been a division of men guided by different principles, but rather a separation of the sheep and the goats on the basis of honesty being the best policy. A strong conviction among the people that Sir James' predecessors in office were not politically honest drove them out of power. A similar conviction that Sir James and his government are politically honest will maintain them in power in the face of many economic fallacies, and belief in such absurdities as that the nationalization of the land would lead to the dissolution of the home and marriage and the disappearance of religion. In political optics the party lens turns things upside down. When the competition in honesty becomes sufficiently keen to abolish the spoils system, and to assure the people that a square deal for everybody is the equal aim of either party, socialism need no longer masquerade as a compromise between efficiency and sound economics, but will put on the ermine of royal justice.

Meanwhile Sir James should realize that his strength in the province lies in what has been described and denounced by the trusts and the capitalists as his socialistic legislation, with the Hydro-Electric Act in the forefront of his achievements. His sterling honesty has won him the confidence of the people, and they recognize the value the utility of his reforms. Should Mr. Rowell ever succeed in convincing the people that he and his party are of equal integrity and equally to be trusted, political competition and electoral success will depend for Sir James, as for all governments, on willingness to regard the rights of the people as superior to the rights of any class or individual. The rights of the people, of which there is no more outspoken advocate than Sir James Whitney, are the foundation of socialism.

The Same Old Game.

From the Dundas Star.

The effect of the proposed introduction of Hydro power into Peterborough is having the same effect there as it has had everywhere else. The local company there, which has had everything its own way in the matter of charges, is engaging in a rate cutting warfare, in order to keep people, if possible, from making contracts with the Hydro. Some people are listening to the song of the siren, as they did here, and are signing long-term contracts, simply because the rates are cut in two. They forget that the Hydro is their own concern, and the more users the Hydro has the cheaper will be the rates, and at the same time they own it. Dundas has now, after persistent opposition by the Cataract, a profitable Hydro system, and at the same time the people enjoy cheaper and better light, power and service in every way. The people of Peterborough will certainly stand in their own light if they do not loyally support the Hydro, now that they have voted for its installation. Dundas is more than pleased with its success in this regard.

Pleasing Social Event.

Friends to the number of about one hundred were right royally entertained, on Friday evening, Feb. 14th, by Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Curtis in their palatial new home in Verulam. Mrs. Curtis was assisted in receiving her guests by her niece, Miss Ruby Sanderson. The Fenelon Falls orchestra was present and added very much to the pleasure of the evening. A short programme was rendered, consisting of selections by the orchestra, violin solos and duets. A trio, two violins and flute, given by Mr. E. Chambers, Mr. Will E. Chambers and Mr. H. Hathaway of the B. N. A. staff, and accompanied by Miss M. Quibell on the piano, was very much appreciated. Games of various kinds were indulged in until about twelve o'clock, when a sumptuous lunch was served, and very heartily enjoyed by all. Among the guests were noticed Mr. T. Guy of the Bank of B. N. A., Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Curtis, Mariposa, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Curtis, Bobcaygeon. About one o'clock a start was made for home and the singing of "God save the King" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" brought to a close the most enjoyable social events of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have every reason to feel proud of their new home, which is one of the finest in the county, and indeed would compare favorably with many of the best city houses, it being finished and decorated in the most up-to-date styles, and having all the modern conveniences, including hot water heating, baths, etc. The contractor was Mr. A. Tiers, with Mr. H. Littleton in charge of the mechanical work, and Messrs. R. Rutherford, J. T. Thompson Jr. and J. Littleton, to all of whom much credit is due, and also to Messrs. E. and W. Chambers, who are responsible for the painting and decorating of Mr. Curtis's handsome and commodious new residence.

Verulam Council Endorses Central Railway.

A special meeting of the Verulam Council was held on Wednesday last, and the following resolution was passed, on motion of Messrs. Wm. Green and Isaac Lewis, that, whereas the Council of Verulam is advised of the construction of a new line of railway by the Central Railway Co. of Canada between Montreal and the great lakes via Carleton Place, Hawksbury, Fenelon Falls, Orillia and Midland, and whereas it is understood that by the construction of said railway, that a large new section of country will be opened up thereby, hitherto without railway facilities, thus affording railway transportation to such additional advantages to other sections, therefore be it resolved that the Government of Canada be requested to grant the usual bonus for the construction of said road. And be it further resolved that said railway be requested to come within the corporate limits of Bobcaygeon. And be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Col. the Hon. Sam. Hughes, Minister of Militia, Member for Victoria and Haliburton.

Mitchell, Assistant Supreme Chief Ranger, acted as chairman, and gave a short and impressive address, explaining the good work being done by the Order, and urging its members to greater efforts to extend its usefulness.
