Montenegrin Bomb Throwers Sacrificed Their Lives To Make Way For Infantry

A despatch from Cetinje says: Great Tarabosch fort, which for months has held the allies off Scutari, is now practically in the hands of the Montenegrins, thanks to the sacrifice of 200 bomb-throwers, every one of whom lost his life in a last desperate effort to clear the way to the town, for the possession of which Montenegro is ready to give up everything. These bomb-throwers were all picked men, chosen from several battalions. Clambering up the mountain-side under a murderous fire from the Turkish guns, they cut the wire entanglements, and getting to close quarters, threw bombs among the Turks, thus opening the way for the bomb-throwers returned, but they had accomplished their object, and the Montenegrin infantry,

MRS. PANKHURST'S SENTENCE

Noted Suffrage Turned Pale When She Received Three Years Hard Labor

A despatch from London says: Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader of the militant suffragettes, was on Thursday found guilty and sentenced to three years' penal servitude at the Old Bailey sessions on the charge of inciting persons to commit damage in respect to the bomb explosion at Lloyd George's country house at Walton Heath. The trial had lasted two days and when the judge, Sir Charles Montague Lush, pronounced sentence his speech was received with loud cries of "shame" from the militant suffragettes, who crowded the court. The jury had added a strong recommendation for mercy, and when the judge pronounced sentence the women rose in angry protest.

As Mrs. Pankhurst stood in the prisoner's enclosure, her sympathizers cheered wildly and then filed out of court singing "March on, March on" to the tune of the "Marseillaise."
Mrs. Pankhurst, who acted as her own counsel, said she did not wish to testify or to call any witnesses. She spoke for 50 minutes, at times wandering so far from the matter before the court, that the judge severely censured her. Speaking with much feeling, Mrs. Pankhurst fiercely criticized the man-made laws, and said that the divorce law alone was sufficient to justify a revolution by the women. In impassioned tones she declared that whatever might be her sentence she would not submit. From the very moment when she left the court she would refuse to eat and would start a "hunger strike." She would, she said, come out of prison dead or alive at the earliest possible moment.

Justice Lush, in summing up, told the jury that Mrs. Pankhurst's speeches were an admission that she had incited to the perpetration of illegal acts.

Mrs. Pankhurst almost broke down when the jury pronounced its verdict. Leaning over the front of the prisoner's enclosure and addressing the judge before he passed sentence, she said:

"If it is impossible to find a different verdict I want to say to you and to the jury that it is your duty as private citizens to do what you can to put an end to this state of affairs." She then repeated her determination to end her sentence as soon as possible, saying: "I do not want to commit suicide. Life is very dear to all of us. I want to see the women of this country enfranchised. I want to live until that has been done. I will take the desperate remedy other women have taken and I will keep it up as long as I have an ounce of strength left in me. I deliberately broke the law, not hysterically and not emotionally, but for a set and serious purpose, because I honestly believe it is the only way. This movement will go on whether I live or die. These women will go on until women have obtained the common rights of citizenship as they shall have over the civilized world before this movement is over."

Railway Stations Wrecked and Trains Blown Up By Explosives In London Suburbs

A despatch from London says: The Suffragettes continued their "reign of terror" on Friday. They burned a large unoccupied house at Charleywood, in Hertfordshire. Only the walls of the building were left standing. The usual cards bearing the legend, "Votes for Women," were found. The loss is $12,500.

The police believe that some of the recent acts attributed to the Suffragettes, principally the attempts to destroy railway property, was the work of men engaged by the women. All the railway stations and tunnels are being patrolled in order to prevent miscreants from damaging them. Warnings were sent out on Friday by the directors of the railroad systems throughout the United Kingdom to the effect that militant Suffragettes had threatened to burn stations in various parts of the country. Patrols were ordered to be organized at all stations and in the tunnels.

Some empty trains were greatly damaged by explosives near Stockport, Cheshire, in the course of the night, and Suffragettes are suspected of having committed the outrage. A canister of explosives had been placed under a seat in one of the cars with a quantity of fire lighters saturated with resin and oil. The force of the explosion splintered the sides of several cars, a number of doors being hurled long distances. There was also an attempt to blow up Oxted Station, in Surrey, on the London, Brighton and South Coast Railway, but the damage caused by the explosion was inconceivable, only the windows and doors of a lavatory being shattered. A travelling basket was found in the lavatory containing a clock timed to go off at 3 a.m., and some cans of petrol. A fuse had been set into a small package of gunpowder, which evidently exploded without igniting the petrol. A revolver was found outside, which apparently had been dropped during a hurried flight.

Mrs. Pankhurst has carried out her threat to go on a hunger strike. The last meal she took was luncheon before sentence was imposed upon her on Thursday. Since she entered Holloway Jail she has conformed to all its rules except that she refuses food. Mrs. Pankhurst will be removed to the women's penal establishment at Aylesbury, where any steps that are considered necessary to feed her will be taken.

How the Scott Antarctic Party Met Death.

A despatch from London says: The Imperial Merchant Guild of Liverpool has received some details of the death of the Scott Antarctic party from Captain B. J. Watson, the guild's agent at Wellington, New Zealand. Captain Watson says: "I heard from a shipmaster who had a conversation with Commander Evans at Lyttelton that at the time when Captain Oates left the others in the tent and went outside he had no feeling, having lost his feet through frostbite. Some time previously I also heard that when the party set out to look for the Southern party and later discovered the bodies, they were so attenuated as to be unrecognizable."

SEEDING WILL BE LATER.
Will Not be General in the West Until Between April 15 and 20.

A despatch from Winnipeg says: Seeding will not be general in the western provinces until between April 15 and 20, an average of ten or twelve days later than 1912, according to reports from two hundred points on Wednesday. While a few places report snow still lying to depths varying from thirteen inches to three feet, the country is generally clear, and the spring record may still be much better than last year, when severe frosts in two weeks following the seeding did great damage.

Machinery of Latest Zeppelin Goes Wrong And She Lands In French Parade Ground

A despatch from Lunville, France, says: One of the great German Zeppelin air cruisers landed on French territory on Thursday, coming down on the military parade ground here at mid-day, while a brigade of French riflemen was drilling. It was seized by the French authorities. Six German officers alighted from the gondola, and explained to Brigadier-General Anti de Leon Lescot, who galloped up, that the motor of the airship had developed a defect. The ranking German officer said they had departed from Friedrichshafen, on Lake Constance, at 6.40 o'clock Thursday morning, and had lost their way in the clouds. The news of the descent of the German military dirigible was telegraphed to the Minister of War at Paris, and Eugene Etienne, the Minister of War ordered it to be seized.

New Treatment Now Advocated For Bronchitis

is Having Wonderful Success, and is Making Most Remarkable Cures.

For bronchitis a different form of treatment is now advocated. It consists of a scientifically devised vapor that penetrates to the uttermost recesses of the lungs and bronchial tubes. Every spot that is sore, every surface that is irritated is at once bathed with soothing balsams and healing essences that make chronic bronchitis an impossibility.

This treatment now so universally employed in bronchitis, throat troubles, colds, etc., is called CATARRHOZONE. It acts just as air of the pine woods acts, as a healing antiseptic remedy for all diseases of the breathing organs.

Just think of it—a remedy that can be carried with the very air you breathe to the seat of bronchial or catarrhal inflammation. A remedy powerful enough to kill germ life and yet so healing that disease flees before it. Catarrhozone is truly a wonderful remedy. In many lands it has won its way, and is affording grand results to sufferers from colds, catarrh, throat weakness, asthma and bronchitis. There is no sufferer from a grippy cold or any winter ill, that won't find a cure in Catarrhozone, which is employed by physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and costs $1.00 and is guaranteed; small size 50c, sample size 25c. all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.
