"The Tamin," however, urges a more moderate policy, and advises that the present complication should be utilized to strengthen Turkey in its stand against the payment of an indemnity to the allies. AN UNWASHED BOY.

His Word Was Preferred to That of His Mother.

A despatch from Montreal says: Striking evidence given in the Recorder's Court on Wednesday by their unwashed, half-starved, eight-year-old son was sufficient to convict both John Sneiden and his wife of drunkenness and neglect of their child. It was a pathetic and sordid case, in which the little, ill-kempt boy's word was taken rather than that of his mother.

FIGHTING IN THE BALKANS.

Enormous Loss of Life is Reported in Despatches From the Front.

A despatch from Belgrade says: Army headquarters report that the Servians, after capturing Istip, pursued the enemy, capturing over 100 officers and 1,000 men. Press despatches report that sanguinary fighting has occurred at Ovtchepoyle, where the Bulgarian losses were enormous and 4,000 Bulgarians surrendered. In this engagement 2,000 Servians were killed and wounded. According to the best information to be obtained at the Servian capital the battle line extended from Kotchana, Istip and Strumitza towards Guevgheli, and thence onwards to the Gulf of Orfani.

The Bulgarians delivered their heaviest blows at Guevgheli, where they severed the Greco-Servian line, and at Istip. They still hold Guevgheli, but were driven from Istip eventually with heavy losses towards Ovtchepoyle, where the Servian army was massed. The Servian supporting forces, coming up in time, met the Bulgarians at Dermak and Petrishino, behind Kotchana, where a fierce fight ensued. The Bulgarians suffered heavily, the Servians capturing an important height near Osigovtt, called Retkibukwe. On the other side of Guevgheli the Greek armies are concentrated, and the Bulgarians risk getting caught between two fires.

Unconfirmed despatches on Wednesday night report further heavy fighting in the Istip district, in which the Servians were compelled to abandon their fortified positions at the town of Istip and leave behind their wounded. Fifty-four officers, including four colonels, were among the killed, while the losses on both sides numbered several thousand.

According to the latest advices from the front the Bulgarians have been entirely driven off the territory which they occupied when they took the Servians unawares. The Bulgarian right wing has been completely routed. It is asserted that the fighting was the bloodiest in the history of Balkan wars.

Frightful Losses.

A despatch from London says: The Bulgarians and Servians are still inflicting smashing defeats on each other identical times and places. The victory always rests with the army from whose capital the news comes. The fighting apparently continues on a big scale on the frontier and either side of it, but no independent reports are available and the others are utterly contradictory. A Servian statement puts the Bulgarian casualties last week at from 20,000 to 25,000 and the Servian losses at 15,000, while another despatch says the Serbs have lost more men than in the war with Turkey.

MANITOBA CROP LOOKS FINE

Outlook Is Somewhat Uncertain in South, But the Farmers Are Optimistic

A despatch from Winnipeg says: After three days of almost incessant rain, the weather in Manitoba was clear and cool on Thursday. No complaints of lack of moisture are now being heard, and the crop is said to be coming along finely at all points. Straw will be short. Expectations are that wheat will be headed out at many points by July 20, and some barley will be ready to cut by the end of the month. Mr. S. A. Bedford, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has just returned from a tour of the Province in the vicinity of Portage la Prairie and Neepawa, and says conditions are fine.

The outlook is still somewhat uncertain in southern Manitoba, as the rain came almost too late to save the crop. The next two weeks will decide. Farmers take an optimistic view, and are hoping for an average yield. Taken on the whole, the Province can get along for ten days without rain.
