

SALT RHEUM CAME OUT ON HANDS

Formed Watery Pimples. Itchy and Had Horrible Burning Sensation. Lost Some of Finger Nails. Could Not Open Hands. Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

235 N. Lisgar St., Toronto, Ontario.—“For seven years I have been troubled with salt-rheum. It came out on my hands and formed kind of watery pimples all over them which became itchy and it had a horrible burning sensation which caused me a good deal of pain. It came out on my hands in the fall and remained there till after spring. I might mention that I lost some of my finger-nails by the disease. During this length of time I was utterly useless, as I could not open my hands. I tried several other patent medicines without a bit of relief. Some of my friends advised me to try Cuticura Remedies so I sent for samples and by using them there was a great improvement. Then I went to the druggist and bought one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment; after using them I am glad to say I am completely cured. I had given up all hope of being cured. I can say to all those who have suffered as I have, not to lose courage but to give Cuticura Remedies a fair trial.” (Signed) Miss Lillian Irwin, Oct. 13, 1911.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp that torture, itch, burn, scale, and destroy sleep. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 35D, Boston, U. S. A.

A Man Who Has No Enemies.

Go straight on and mind not enemies. If they block up your path walk around them, and do your duty regardless of their spite. A man who has no enemies is seldom good for anything; he is made of that kind of material which is so easily worked that everyone has a hand in it. A sterling character—one who thinks for himself and speaks what he thinks—is always sure to have enemies. They are as necessary to him as fresh air; they keep him alive and active. A celebrated character, who was surrounded with enemies, used to remark, “There are sparks which, if you do not blow, will go out by themselves.” Let this be your feeling while endeavoring to live down the scandal of those who are bitter against you. If you stop to dispute you do but as they desire and open the way for more abuse. Let the poor fellow talk; there will be a re-action if you perform but your duty, and hundreds who were once alienated from you will flock to you and acknowledge their error.

Chest Colds, Wheezing Cured Over Night

You Can Break Up Cold, Feel Fine Next Morning, by Following the “Nerviline” Method.

EXPERIENCE OF A TRAINED NURSE.

Every mother knows how difficult it is to get a young child to take a cough mixture. Seldom will one help unless given in large doses, and the result is to completely upset the stomach and make the child sick.

Speaking of the promptest cure for chest troubles and children's colds, Nurse Carington says: “In all my experience in nursing I haven't met any preparation so dependable as Nerviline. It is the ideal liniment. Every drop you rub on is absorbed quickly, sinks through the pores to the congested muscles, eases, relieves, and cures quickly. Especially for chest colds, pain in the side, stiff neck, earache, toothache, I have found Nerviline invaluable. In treating the minor ills of children Nerviline has no equal. I think Nerviline should be in every home.”

Hundreds of thousands of bottles of Nerviline used every year—proof that it is the ideal liniment for the home. Refuse anything your dealer may offer instead of Nerviline. Large family size bottles, 50c.; trial size, 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhzone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Talk.

“Don't you think peace would be promoted if nations could be persuaded to talk things over deliberately before going to war?” “Possibly. But sometimes the more you talk things over the more you find to fight about.”

Crawford—How in the world does it cost you so much to live? Crabshaw—I sometimes fancy it's because I have such expensive neighbors.

John—“I saw your sister dancing the two-step at the cottillon the other night. She does it beautifully.” Henry—“Why not? She learned it from her two step-sisters.”

THE DROWNING MAN.

How He Acts in the Water and How to Rescue Him.

When a person is unable to swim he probably flings up his arms and shouts for help. In doing so he parts with a large quantity of air from his lungs. As his mouth is just about on a level with the surface of the water at the next inspiration he swallows a large quantity of water. The inhaled water sets up coughing, and air and water are expelled. More water is then inhaled, until the lungs become surcharged and the body weight increased. The drowning man in his struggles for air makes convulsive grasps of anything within reach, and herein lies the great danger of attempting a rescue, for the drowning man may grasp the rescuer so tightly that both may sink and drown. In attempting to rescue a drowning man, keep him at arm's length. Grasp him by the hair, if possible, and pull him ashore, or to a place of safety, and begin artificial respiration at once. Let it be remembered in this connection that the body is only very slightly heavier than the water, and will all float of its own accord, especially if in salt water. If self-possession is maintained and the air kept in the lungs, and now and again, when opportunity offers, a fresh supply of air is inhaled, one can keep oneself afloat for a long period. This is more quickly attained if some of the outer garments can be thrown off and a gentle treading motion kept up.—Dr. C. H. Hayton.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to little ones. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or, if they do come on suddenly, to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GRIMSBY STORIES.

Two Good Ones From England's Great Fishing Port.

A young clergyman of the Church of England, named Trebeck, was once dining at the house of his bishop. The young clergyman, whose parish was Grimsby, the great fishing port of England, showed a most unexpected knowledge of horses, and a severe old lady who sat on his right listened in stern disapproval to his conversation. At last she said:

“I think, young man, you said you lived at Grimsby. Let me advise you to leave horses alone, and make acquaintance with that worthy, pious young curate, Mr. Trebeck, who has lately gone there, and who is doing such good work among the fishermen.”

There was a roar of laughter, which the old lady could not understand.

“I happen to know him a little,” replied her neighbor, “and I am afraid he is not very worthy or very pious.”

In “Glimpses of the Past” Miss Elizabeth Wordsworth tells this story, and adds one that Mr. Trebeck likes to tell himself.

One stormy day a fishing-smack was wrecked, and fast sinking. When the skipper came on deck, he found the mate busy swabbing.

“What's the use of that, Jack? Don't you see she's sinking?”

“Yes, master, I know it; but for all that, I'd like the old gal to go down clean and tidy.”

More Praise for Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

“For a period last summer the thought of food excited feelings of nausea,” writes Mrs. C. A. Dodge, of Bloomsbury. “The heat had made me listless and the distaste for food reduced me to a condition of semi-starvation and brought me to the verge of nervous collapse. Tonics were useless to restore an active desire for food. The doctors told me my liver and kidneys were both at fault, but the medicines they gave me were too severe and reduced my strength so that I had to abandon them. At the suggestion of a friend who had been cured of blood and skin trouble, I began the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The difference I first noticed was, that while they cleansed the system, instead of feeling weaker I felt better after taking them. Indeed their activity was so mild it was easy to forget I had taken them at all; they seemed to go right to the liver, and in a very brief time not only did all source of nausea disappear, but I began to crave food and I digested it reasonably well. Then I began to put on weight until within three months I was brought to a condition of good health. I urge Dr. Hamilton's Pills for all who are in poor health.”

Restaurant Wisdom.

Two men in a restaurant were disputing as to what a pineapple really was. One insisted that it was a fruit and the other insisted that it was a vegetable. The men finally decided to accept the decision of the waiter, who was called.

“Waiter,” said one of them, “is a pineapple a fruit, or is it a vegetable?”

“It's neither, gentlemen; a pineapple is a hextra!”

Reproof.

“I don't think your father feels very kindly toward me,” said Mr. Staylate. “You misjudge him. The morning after you called on me he seemed quite worried for fear I had not treated you with proper courtesy.” “Indeed! What did he say?” “He asked me how I could be so rude as to let you go away without your breakfast.”

A naval seaman has once every day to salute the quarter-deck of his ship, even if no Officer is upon it. “Salada” Tea is in such popular favor that many people feel like saluting a packet wherever seen.

How He Escaped.

“So you've never been spanked, little boy?”

“Naw. Never.”

“Isn't that nice? Then you've never given your father and mother cause for annoyance?”

“I've made 'em mad often enough, I guess.”

“And they've never whipped you for it?”

“Naw. You see, whenever Paw starts in to spank me Maw gets mad, an' whenever Maw threatens to spank me Paw gets mad, an' they have a fierce argument an' by the time they get over that they've forgotten what it was they were going to spank me for, anyhow.”

$2,000,000 IN GEMS STOLEN.

London Detectives Are Without Clues to Big Thefts.

Revival of the hopes of recovering the famous $675,000 pearl necklace which was stolen from the registered mail between Paris and London has concentrated attention on the huge harvest of jewels which thieves have been reaping in England.

Within the last few months jewels valued at close to $2,000,000 have been stolen in England. Scarcely a day passes but that Scotland Yard is notified of some new theft of gems. The seaside places at present are the favorite fields of the thieves.

The officials of Scotland Yard are convinced that a big gang of Continental and American thieves are responsible for the havoc, but they have been unable to obtain the slightest clues, as the thieves are careful not to leave any. Certain men in the West End of London who have the reputation of being jewel “fences” have been carefully watched, but without result.

The facility with which the thieves get rid of the jewels on the Continent, and particularly at Brussels, is one of the handicaps which the police are working under. Sales are easily effected and no questions asked so long as the price demanded is fairly reasonable.

Some Don'ts.

Don't eat fast. Don't stay up too late at night. Don't put tobacco in your ears to stop pain. Don't forget to take your tooth-plate out every night and wash it. Don't sleep with your window shut, and don't breathe with your mouth open. Don't use for yourself a prescription which the doctor wrote for somebody else. Don't have false teeth put in over rotten stumps; have the stumps taken out first. Don't have the child's ears pierced in the hope that it will improve weak eyes; it is a silly superstition. Don't spend on worthless “curealls” money which might be put by to help towards a summer holiday. Don't wear spectacles which were ordered for somebody else, but have your eyes properly tested. The two eyes are seldom of equal strength.

Plaids Are Popular.

Plaid fabrics are returning to favor. One of the smartest plaids is made up in chiffon and is used for bodices. It is barred with red and gold, on a blue ground, and shows a line of green here and there. This plaid chiffon is covered by the dress-makers with sheer blue chiffon, the color of the background, and so the colors are softened and merged into harmony.
