Largest Hats in the World

What would you think of a hat that was so large it would safely shelter your father, mother, sisters and yourself under it should a sudden rain-storm come up? The men of Korea like these enormous hats and would not feel properly dressed without them. These hats look like great flower pots set on a round table six feet across. The crowns are nine feet in height, and three inches wide, much like a chimney on a one-story house. How do you suppose these large, round head coverings are kept on? Under the brim is a small, closely-fitting cap, held on by a padded string which ties under the ears. The material of these hats is bamboo, so finely split that it is like thread; and, lastly, they are varnished to keep out the sun, and rain, and the wind.

Red Indian Tango

The Red Indian has caught the tango fever. The whole Shoshone nation of Nevada Indians has learned the dance, and the old tribal gyrations are now entirely discarded. The Indians of the White Pine country have started the construction of a large hall to be devoted exclusively to the practice of the tango. Three Indian maidens, who have mastered its intricacies, are besieged with pupils eager to pay $2.50 for a lesson.
