Coucluded from page six. So is the meat!"

The asparagus is burnt fast to the

The potatoes ?" Broken all to pieces, and floating ut in the water. These peas are all mushy Minnie!" Punctuality is the soul of dinner. Joe, from the parlor; "it's ten nutes past three.

Go set the table, "growled George. nous dish, with an ocean of white china surrounding its shrunken proportions. e potatoes, in little lumps, unskinned, ere piled in a fruit dish; the green ass which Minnie had with infinite officulty fished from the big meat pot,

There wasn't any." The meat's burned," cried one patented batented

patented

batented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

batented

patented

patentea patented

patented patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

patented

d by the f Novem-d for the with the louse, in forenoon

TT,

asurer.

ds.

or of the seal of the manding ne there-

ner paid, e o'clock

y Public rrears of

Total

It is stone cold, " said another. What's this ?" said a third, digging o the pile of peas. Faugh!" followed a daring attempt

"Never mind, "said Joe. "Rome ras not built in a day. Give us some pread and butter, and pickles George."

"Susy locked both up," cried Harry, ughing. "She declared a woman put em up, and that if we wanted them we ust prepare them for ourselves. ' Minnie produced the strawberries, d some sugar, and the gentlemen deared they had dined superbly.

"You fellows clear away," said Min- place. : "we're tired." "You wash up, don't you?" queried

Where's the water ?" "In the hydrant."

"What do you wash 'em in?" "Pan, I guess. Away went Joe on a voyage of investi-ion, and returned soon with a tin dish Il of cold water. The "leavings" as arry termed the remains of the sumpous dinner, were thrown from the winow into Susy's flower-beds, and armed ith a bar of soap and a fine damask table apkin, Joe began to "wash up." "How the grease sticks !"

Perspiration streaming from every pore followed. rubbed manfully at the greasy plates nd dishes, and if the water was cold, he ertainly was not. "I've wet my shirt-front. !"

"Good for white pants!" Splash

b them ont, Hal !" "Come, some of you, wipe up!"

ssist that operation?"

er men" called, like Oliver Twist, for and hung up, while the others washed. ore, at about seven o'clock.

"And a steak ; I can cook it," said Joe. "There's bread and butter, said Harry. | can dry in the night," said Harry. George went for the steak; Minnie un-

Minnie, blowing and puffing making e fire was greated with-" How it smokes !"

"What ails the fire Min?"

erspired, whistled, and used improper ing no visible effect. ords over the heat.

fire, greasy frying-pan placed as a helmet gars lay about loose, some whole, some well, go down and tell the foreman aver the coffee-pot, bits of bread lying half smoked, some reduced to a mere to chuck in more yeast. Thank Heaven, about loose, dirty pots here, and dirty stump; spittoons were in every corner; the old Hutch can't get up a corner on wind. dishes there. The parlor was in disorder; chairs were "promiscuously deranged;" on the centre-table three bottles, two demiung over all. The dining-room, with its johns, a pack of cards, and about two doziles of dirty cups, saucers, and plates, its en tumblers replaced her pretty book. The nswept floor, greasy napkins, and smoky piano bore two pairs of boots, deposited tmosphere, wasworst of all, and Harry there when the owners were too tired to nwardly admitted that "somehow, the go up stairs, and forgotten afterwards; the ouse didn't look as usual."

anally "retired in disgust," and the batch-parted guests, here a handkerchief, there a lors breakfasted off the stale bread left cigar-case, on one a pocket comb, on an-

Editor and Proprietor.

FIRE COCOUNTY

Five Bachelors Kept House ing off the whole by putting himself on only more so; dining-room ditto; bedrooms top to rest from his toils. Minnie, after to match. pulling all the clothes off one side in try- . Susy looked at the washboards in the t table, as the gentlemen sat down to tion. Steaks and coffee for breakfast were Clear up, and invite us to dinner. nner. The meat figured on an enor- followed by steaks and coffee for dinner. and both for tea. Charley suggested that they should have their meals sent from a

"All men cooks, so we stick to the contract," was his final observation. The motion was seconded, and carried by unanimous vote. By this time every dish, plate, napkin, pot, and pan in the house was dirty, and, joyfully concluding that they wouldn't want them any more, the gentlemen piled them up in the kitchen sink, on the floor and tables, and left them.

"Harry"-it was George's voice-" haven't got a clean shirt.

"Nor I." " Nor I."

"Nor I." "I've got one."

"Nor a hankerchief, nor a collar, nor a pair of stockings, nor-"

"Stop! Two weeks since Susy went and no washing-day."

There was a dead silence. "Who knows how to wash?" No answer.

things and rub 'em on a board." "Can anybody iron?"

reaching after one of the "critters," never become. Charley upset the table. Crash went the The Temperance society should then be crokery. Screams of laughter, cries of a bond of Christian union, an educating disgust, blows thick as hail, comments on force, an influential, respected, effective on the heat, jokes, warnings flew about agency for good. It should include in its for an hour, and then the panting party membership every class in the communceased from their labors, and viewed stern- ity, and the members of every religious ly the 'cold corpuses" of their foes. A denomination. Is there no one wise scream from Minnie-

"There's one down my back !" your hair !"

"Don't metnion it. Look at the fellow on your shirt sleeve."

"Let's wash up here."

clothes were collected from all the rooms, and streaming foreheads testifying to their must not continue to be accounted the "That went in my eyes; somebody efforts. Cold water required a great deal whole "good fight" securing conquest: ipe them; my hands are wet. Don't of rubbiug, and somehow the things had a yellow tinge after all, as George remarked as he wrung them out. Minnie, The table was cleared at last. Five objecting to going into the yard, hung amp, greasy napkins thrown into the them over the chairs in the dining-room orner of the room, testified that the and the banisters in the entry as fast as ishes were washed and wiped. The wa- George and Charley wrung them out. followed the "leavings," and the Dinner time came, and found them still at aintet sat down to "cool off." (Do cigars work. Dinner eaten, the dishes carried off by the waiter from the restaurant, they Spite of the supurb dinner, five "in- changed places, and the washers wrung

Six o'clock saw the last shirt hanging in "What's for tea?" Four voices echoed damp limpness over the parlor chandelier; the handkerchiefs waved from the man-the bars of the Canterbury.

After another slaughter of roaches in ertook to make the fire, Harry cut the the morning, the fire was lighted, the irons be right by-and-by, ead; Joe set the sable; while Charley put on, and the clothes collected, rough cleared the kitchen" by sweeping the dry, for the final touches. Every man nett. "Would not that sentiment make ts and pans used at dinner into a had visions of smooth, clean linen to repay oset, washing being omitted in the him for his unaccustomed efforts. Such Charley took the first step. Planting his iron on the front of a shirt, a smell greeted his nostrils, and he lifted it again to Webster. When he read them, his to behold a large brown mark, the precise whole demeanor changed. Stepping to Harry discovered the cause, pulled out shape of the flatiron, burned on the bos- his desk, he began to write the notes. te damper, and a merry blaze repaid om of his "go-to-meeting" shirt. Minnie's Having finished them he requested his The coffee boiled, the steak sput- iron, being almost cold, was travelling violin, and played the melody. In a few

e dishes which it was "too hot to wash" store that morning for a supply of linen, others who had come in the meantime five bachelors returned to the parlor. and the "washed clothes" were consigned were singing all the parts together. It was involuntary, but each pair of to the "pot closet" to await Susy's return. bystander who had been attracted by the eyes rested for a moment on the seat Susy | Susy's return! How can I describe it! music, and had listened in tearful silence, as wont to occupy. A little music, more Every man on that day found he had an remarked, "That hymn is immortal." lk, and still more smoking filled the imperative engagement abroad, and the It is now sung in every land under the sun. me till midnight, when each one yawned little maiden found an empty house. She mself off to bed. Harry, who was al- went first to the parlor. Dust lay in piles. rays the one to "lock up," stayed the One curtain was forn from the cornice, and The kitchen looked dreary; no lay in limp folds against the window. Ci-Canterbury had a dish of chicken salad There was fun the next morning mak- reposing peacefully upon it; one ottoman ig up beds. The milkman and baker supported a hat and cane, another a coat; ad vainly knocked for admittance, and every chair carried some relic of the de-ing to tuck them in on the other, and bath-room, the market-basket in the libthen correcting the mistake by tucking rary, the parlor chairs in the kitchen ("it them in on the other side and pulling them was nearest," Joe said when he brought off the first, put his bolster on over the them out); the frying pan in the best room pillow, and concluded it "would do." (Charley broke his basin), the bread pan Charley merely smoothed his down, sage- in the spare room (for dirty water, Joe ly observing that if he pulled the things said); the dish-cloths in the bedrooms off, he never could put them on again. (towels all dirty). She contemplated the Harry and George, who shared the same floors, unswept for a month; marke! the room, having followed Charley's plan, put on an extra touch by sweeping their room and leaving the pile of dust in the entry.

dust, the accumulation of a similar time; and then went to her own room, the only orderly because undisturbed place in the house. A little note lay on her table:-Go set the table, "growled George. Three day's experience convinced them It was unique in its arrangements, that bachelors' cookery was slow starvable pardon! We'll never do so no more!

> FIVE REPENTANT BACHELORS. " For God and Home and Native Land."

The Temperance society ought to be an agency of inter-denominational Christian work, bringing all classes and creeds together in united effort for the advancement of one holy common cause. The desirability of this united, special work is the only good reason for the existance of KOOIII any kind of Temperance society. If we are to have denominationalism among our workers we might as well make Temperance exclusively a part of Church work, and be satisfied with existing sectionalisms without multiplying them. The Temperance society of any locality ought "I-I've seen it done," said one faint to be larger, stronger, broader than any "No, not pickles, preserves," said voice, owned by Charley. "You soap the Church in that locality. It should not be divided into many sections. It should know no rivalries, except rivalry among They all thought they could manage its members in work for the promotion of its objects. If we had in this country The kitchen was open for the first time one great, strong Temperance organiza-for ten days. One cry burst from five tion, taking in all our workers, developlips. Tables, chairs, floor, dresser, sink, ing among these workers confidence in were one mass of roaches, collected by the each other, excluding all unworthy Lindsay, Jan. 16, 1887. piles of greasy dishes. They overran every jealousies, so simple in its machinery that none would be repelled by cumbersome "Shut the door. Now for it," cried ritualism, and well organized and pushed, George, and dashed at the invaders. Bed- it would be a power for good such as lam seemed to have broken loose. In broken-up antagonistic, rival societies can > enough and bold enough to devise and project some judicious scheme for the George cried-"Joe, there's one on attainment of this greatly-to-be-desired

It is yet encouraging to know and note that the evil enemy (the liquor-A general stampede for the bath-room traffic) owns no invulnerable shield of provements and New Appliances with a faith, posseses no rampart more impregna- view of making every operation as near ble than vile human license law, which No sooner said than done. The soiled in a christian country, the voting armies of the church militant can scale and cap-Splash and the boards and soap brought up from ture when ever they so will; and with concentrated forces, and fiery-dart ballots, rush | that will never wear out, go to Joe and Harry washed, blistering hands to the triumph. Mere shield-practise

'Gainst cruel arts, and deadly darts, Piercing fond hearts,-

Killing, decoying; Fire from above, to swiftly move-Bright active love

Sternly employing. War to the knife, and holy strife, In saving life-Evil destoying.

ter was subject to melancholy. He came underground stable. "Let's have coffee; I can make coffee." tel piece, and the stockings dangled from in to where his friend Bennett was at business one day while in a depression of span of Brood Mares, one 2 year old, "They always iron the next day, so they spirits. "What's the matter now?" said olly, (Heart of Oak) one Percheron, one Bennett, noticing his sad countenance.

"Yes; that sweet by-and-by, ' said Bena good hymn, Webster?"

"Maybe it would," replied Webster, Turning to his desk, Bennet wrote the three verses of the hymn, and handed them ered in the pan, and the men panted, briskly up and down his shirt, but produc- minutes he had the four parts of the chorus jotted down. It was not over It was humiliating, but true, that Joe thirty minutes from the first thought of It was a good supper, and, piling up took an order to a gentlemen's furnishing the hymn before the two friends and two LATE CLINICAL ASSISTANT, Hospi-

> Limitations of man's power. Baker-What is the price oi flour to-day?

-Philadelphia Record

His Choice-Proud father (showing off his boy before company)-My sou, which would you rather be, Shakespeare or

Little son (after meditation)—I'd rather East & West. be Edison. "Yes why?"

"Cause he ain't de ad."

A love-sick young man in Philadelphia sent his sweetheart a pair of stockings with om the night's feast, and comee black other a toothpick. Susy was dismayed; the instep, and now every society lady in but, like a brave little woman, determined the city of Brother Love is having the apply to "Every man clear up his own room." to face all "the muss" at once. The kitch- same operation performed on her hose. The order given, each started to obey. en came next. As we have described it The craze is likely to spread to other cities e pulled off all the clothes from his bed, on the eventful ironing day, so it remain- but inasmuch as the monograms attract athaving laid the bolster and pillow on ed, roaches inclusive, meandering every- tention to the feet when low shoes are coceeded to put on a blanket, next a where. The library was next in order, worn it is thought that the style will nevead, and finally the two sheets, finish- and it was the counterpart of the parlor, er be in vogue in St. Louis.

. VITES I. 2 A.

Next to in Day House.

SIX FRONT TEETH WITHOUT PLATE.

If you want a beautiful SET of TEETH that will last you a lifetime, go to NEE-

Numbers of persons are wearing Teetl

J. NEELANDS, Dentist...

Fifteen and 20 years and never required

GAS and VITALIZED AIR

Administered constantly for nearly twenty-one years, extracting teeth for thousands of persons without a particle of pain or injury.

OFFICE-Kent Street, Next Door to the Golden Lion.

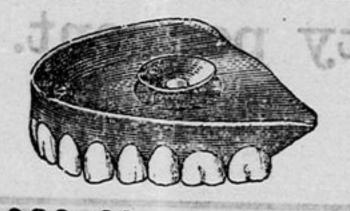

-TO GET-

Papers, Picture Frames,

Self-Rolling Window Shades and Picture Hanging Mouldings is at

Wm. A. Goodwin's,

near the market.

W. H. Gross,

DENTIST LINDSAY, Twenty-Eight Years' Experience.

MR. GROSS is constantly adding Impainless as possible. If you want your teeth taken out ABSOLUTELY WITH-OUT PAIN, and a set of Artificial Teeth

W. H. GROSS.

FOR SALE. A FARM.

FARM STOCK & IMPLEMENTS ALSO A

BRICK YARD. History of a Song.

Mr. Bennett a music writer, and Mr.

Webster were intimate friends. The lat
The Farm comprises the West Half of Lot No. 8 in the 9th Con. of Laxton, containing 100 acres. There are on the premises a good log house, a frame barn 52 x 34 and

A span of Percheron Mares 4 years old, year old, and two foals one Percheron and "No matter," said Webster, 'it will fine Clydesdale, six good grade milch Cows two 2 year old Steers, one 3 year old steer three I year old steers. and four calves. ALSO A BRICK BUSINESS WITH 150,000 BRICKS.

The above will be sold separately, or together, on favorable terms. For further particulars apply on the MATTHEWWATSON, Norland.

THROAT, NOSE AND EAR. DR. E. A. SPILSBURY,

tal for Diseases of the Throat and Nose, Golden Square, and Aural Department of St. Mary's Hospital, London, England. OFFICE, 279 College Avenue Toronto.

CANADIAN

PACIFIC RAILWAY, The Best Equipped Road on

the Continent.

Lowest Rates TO ALL POINTS

MANITOBA,

B. COLUMBIA. CALIFORNIA, And all points in the United States For TICKETS and full information

T. C. MATCHETT.

Agent C. P. R. OFFICE in Petty's Jewelry Store Kent Street, Lindsay.

A COLLOSSAL SWEEPING SALE.

OVERCOATS AND SUITS.

For Men, Youths and Boys.

This Stock was bought at 50 cents on the $, and every garment will be offered at less than wholesale prices, or in other words, less than you would have to pay buying a dozen at a

An Unprecedented Opportunity to become possessed of Superlative bargains in

Ready made Clothing, Hats Caps and Furs.

An elegant Stock of TIES for the Xmas. trade.

THE RICHT PLACE

The handsomest NECK SCARES ever brought to Lindsay, in Silk and Cashmere. Your choice of a line of travellers Samples at wholesaie prices.

Cardigan Jackets and Underclothing at factory prices, for the rest of the season.

Agent for Swiss Steam Laundry, Toronto. W. J. GALLON

Doheny Block, J doors east of the Daly House.

BEFORE

ENGLISH CONDITION

POWDER, Used and recommended for years by such noted horsemen as John Cairns, Geo. Skuce, Ops, Wm. Hancock, Maripsosa, Geo. Werry, Fenelon, Albert Ware Fenelon, Eugene Fee, Liudsay.

Try them. Don't take any other. 25 cts .-- Five for $1.00, at

A. HICINBOTHAM'S Drug Store.

GREAT FALL

Open to every person in the Dominion and United States.

APRIZEFOREVERY

BUYING ONE OR MORE PAIRS OF BOOTS OR SHOES AT

THE PALACE

Shoe Store

Doors open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m.

No admission fee required.

Polite attention and ample attendance given to every one

L. MAGUIRE.

Next door to Hamilton's Carrage Show rooms.

colds, when I can reach for White Pine Balsam.

WHITE PINE

BALSAM. THE GREAT REMEDY FOR COUCHS, COLDS,

Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough etc., in fact all diseases of the throat, lungs, and chest.

Mrs. Geo. Laing, Reaboro, writes,-White Pine Balsam is the best cough and cold remedy I ever used, it is easy to take and very effective. Mrs. T. H. Hern, Lindsay, says:-I never feel alarmed in cases of coughs an

25 CENTS, AT A HIGINBOTHAM'S

DRUG STORE.