

GALA DAY AT THE INSTITUTE

THE STUDENTS' RE-UNION AND CONVERSAT WAS A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

OLD STUDENTS CAME BACK—REMINISCENT SPEECHES—A BRILLIANT AFFAIR AT NIGHT—COLOR, MUSIC AND A GAY THROG.

Famous abroad for industrial and commercial activity, renowned for our prowess in the realm of sport, we fill out the measure of the reputation of a modern town by no mean achievements in the pursuits of culture.

Thursday of last week was red-letter day in the educational history of this town. It was a field-day, a grand review after nearly half a century of marching.

After the elections, a number of speeches were made. In the absence of Mr. J. R. McNeill, chairman of the Board of Education, through illness, Mr. D. R. Anderson spoke in behalf of that body.

After the evening function, the school and the community were united in a most interesting and successful conversation in the history of the school was held. It was a brilliant event and a thorough success.

In the evening the first conversation in the history of the school was held. It was a brilliant event and a thorough success. The various rooms with their splendid decorations had been closed in the afternoon, but in the evening were thrown open and thronged by the culture and beauty of this town and county.

those of Victoria. Varsity, Trinity and McGill were "at home" elsewhere, and in the luxury of these rooms, appointments, their drapery, colors, furniture, carpets, rugs and bric-a-brac there was a splendid rivalry that did credit to all these schools and converted the Institute into a scene of regal beauty.

The conversat was extremely informal. The arrangements were so complete that the usual army of functionaries in such occasions was dispensed with. And yet so alert were the Collegiate students that no visitor was ever in more than a momentary quandary for any minor directions he might require.

Queen's! Queen's! Queen's! Oil-thick na baraignin oil brath; Cha gheill! Cha gheill! Cha gheill! No better proof of the perfect liberty of speech under British institutions could be found than that such a performance as the above can be rendered with impunity.

The conversat was a financial success. Mr. Robt. Luky had charge of the gentlemen's cloak room and manipulated the checks to everyone's satisfaction.

Several members of the United States engineer corps were interested witnesses of a feat of insect engineering near the road on which they were working. One of their number found a blue ground wasp dragging along the ground a dead swamp spider one-quarter the size of a full grown tarantula.

WASP AS AN ENGINEER. Bit of Insect Cleverness That Won Prize From Army Men.

Again he returned to the spider, seized it and dragged it to within a foot of the orifice. To the spectators it was evident that more work would have to be done before the spider could be dragged in.
