SALVATIONISTS MOBBED.
Another Riotous Demonstration at Eastbourne on Sunday.
LONDON, Feb.---There was rioting in Eastbourne yesterday caused by the Salvation Army being a special celebration to commemorate the founding of the corps. After a usual morning service the Salvationists marched through the streets under police protection, and were disturbed only by running comments and chaff from the crowds on the sidewalks. In the afternoon a drizzling rain that had been falling since evening, a mob rapidly collected at the Salvation Army citadel and as the "soldiers" filed out singing their processional hymn they were subjected to me chaff, accompanied by the singing of a ribald parody, yelling and shouting several hundred well-dressed men formed a corps d'abord, followed by the rest of the mob, where it was proposed to hold a meeting. Along the whole of the street were filled with citizens and visitors watching the scene. A bomb was thrown at the army at the sea front, and the Salvationists had great difficulty in clearing a way for the "soldiers" who had to cling tenaciously to their instruments and flags without daring to attempt to play a note. When the scene began the mob swept down on the Salvationists, shouting "Throw them into the sea." The forces of the police were augmented and they behaved most creditably, resisting rush after rush, although early overpowered by numbers. The Salvationists were pelted with pebbles by their foes throughout the half hour they remained on the beach. When their services were seemingly ended, although not a word of it had been heard, the members of the army commenced their return march. They climbed to the parade with the utmost difficulty, their assailants making frequent rallies, but failing to capture the Salvationists flag. Desperate hand to hand encounters with policemen were continued. A few clergymen and soldiers were present, but held aloof. When the struggling crowd had reached a point opposite the Burlington hotel the police having become exhausted, another rally was made and proved successful. The flag was seized from its stalwart bearer and torn into shreds. Caps were torn from the heads of the Salvationists and tossed in the air or kicked in the roadway amid execrations. Some frail-looking "lasses," who swooned from pain and fright were nearly trampled upon. The scene of violence continued till the army retreated into their "citadel," and even then the mob was loth to disperse and still came into collision with the police.

Several of the Salvationists were badly injured and the uniforms of all were spoiled.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Directors was held last Saturday evening. The monthly reports were read and adopted. The young men's meeting next Sunday afternoon at 4.15 will be addressed by Mr. D. Green. The Orchestra will lead the singing. All young men cordially invited.

The first meeting of the local union of the Christian Endeavor, for 1892, was held in the Presbyterian church on Monday evening Jan. 25th. Rev. Mr. Hill pastor of the Queen-st., Methodist church addressed the meeting, the audience listened to his instructive words with great pleasure.
The officers for the current six months were elected and are as follows:--Pres. Mr. J. L. Allin, Vice-Presidents Miss Grace M. J. Campbell, Mr. Calhoun, Mr. H. Parkin, Sec. Hattie Mimms, Treas. W. H. Coones.

Church Notes.
Quarterly meeting services in the Queen St. Methodist church next Sunday. Love Feast and Fellowship meeting commencing at 10 a.m. in the Lecture room. All are welcome. Official board meets Monday evening. The funeral sermon of the late Mrs. Sharpe of Fair Avenue will be preached in the Queen St. Methodist church next Sunday evening.
The missionary services of the Cambridge-st. Methodist church will be next Sunday. The President of the conference and the Rev. Mr. Cocking, a returned missionary, will preach, and give an address on mission work. The presence of a returned missionary always lends special interest to a missionary meeting, and we are sure Mr. Cocking's address on Japan will prove of great interest. Mr. Cocking will give an address at 3 p.m. on child life in Japan.

Death of Mr. E. Gregory.
Our many readers in town and country will join us in regretting the demise of Edmund Gregory of this town, in his 61st year. Mr. Gregory was taken ill some two or three months ago, since which time he fought hard against the "last enemy," and his friends were cheered a couple of weeks since by a prospect of his recovery, but unfortunately he was seized by an attack of grippe, which in his weak state proved too much for him, and he breathed his last shortly after noon on Tuesday last. Deceased was one of our oldest business men--a druggist, who stood on the highest rating of his profession, and one whose ability was acknowledged throughout the province. He was a man of sterling probity and respected by all classes of the community. Mr. Gregory came to this country in the fall of 1854, and went to work in Hamilton at the printing, having served his time to that business in London England, and after working in other portions east of Toronto entered into partnership with the late John Knowlson, Esq., as Druggists, and since Mr. Knowlson's death carried on the business. Deceased leaves a wife and five sons and one daughter, (three of whom are grown up), and they have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community. The Methodist church loses an active member, and liberal supporter, and his place will not be easily filled in that body. In politics Mr. Gregory was a consistent Reformer.
The funeral takes place to-day (Thursday) at 3 p.m. to the Riverside cemetery.

In a short time the meeting was brought to order again, and those wanting out went quietly down the stairs without further disturbance. The fire was in a blacksmith shop near the Queen's hotel, belonging to Wm. Roberts.
