POLITICAL.—Notwithstanding the inclement weather, counter attractions, and a mistake in having the date properly announced, there was a very fair attendance at the public meeting, in the interests of Mr. John Campbell, the Patron's candidate, last Friday evening. Mr. Campbell defined his position in the forthcoming election, dealt ably with a number of leading questions of the day, and drew particular attention to the assessment system now in vogue. Mr. Douglas and Dr. Gillespie followed in short addresses, and were in favor of Mr. Campbell. They both admitted the soundness of his line of argument in favor of a change in the law as at present constituted.

OMEMEE.

HOME AGAIN.—Mr. Isaac Fee, Emily and her brother Bert Ford, of Carberry, Man., returned to Omemee on Tuesday evening last, having spent a pleasant time visiting their Toronto friends.

PLEASANT PARTY.—A few of our young ladies made up a very nice driving party and spent a few hours very pleasantly at the residence of Mr. R. Adams, four miles north of the village, on Monday evening last. The weather, sleighing, refreshments and music were all that could be desired. The gentlemen present tender sincere thanks.

OBITUARY.—We are grieved to learn of the death of Edward Foster, which took place in Port Hope, on the 12th instant. Mr. Foster was a resident of Omemee some three years ago, and had a butcher shop in this town. He will be remembered by a large number of citizens, who will be sorry to hear of his sad demise.

ORILLIA.

FROM ORILLIA TO BARRIE.—At the Medical Association meeting held here last Thursday there were present Drs. McCarthy, Mott and Ross, of Barrie; Hanley, of Wauwasung; Harvey, of Coldwater; Haxland, of Huntsville, and the local physicians. Interesting papers were read and fully discussed and the visitors were treated to a supper at the Grand Central hotel. The next meeting of the association will be held at Barrie in June, when the officers will be elected.

THE NIMBLE HERRING.—An extensive cold, much larger than the fish he lands, is what the average fisherman catches at the nurrows these days. After a five hours' tussle with the nimble herring, during which time he spears a half dozen small ones, it begins to dawn on him that this fishing business is not what it is cracked up to be. In truth, the herring are running well these days, he thinks, as he sees them pass by shoal after shoal. —News Letter

Mr. McInnes' horse took fright and ran into the rig of Mr. McKay, which was a short distance ahead. Mr. McKay stood up in his cutter to stop the animals when he fell over, receiving a severe blow on the head. It was feared for a time that brain fever would set in, but we learn he is recovering. Mr. McInnes had some of the bones broken in the left arm. —Advocate.

PRESENTATION.—On the evening of February 21st, a number of friends to the extent of over 100, assembled at the residence of Mr. Wm. Nelson, to give expression to their good will, on the eve of Mr. Nelson and family's removal to Lindsay, where they will reside in the future. Mr. Nelson has been a prominent member of the Orange order, and was tendered a very flattering address and was presented with a watch and chain, while his amiable partner was the recipient of a large silver cruet. Following is the address:— To Brother Wm. Nelson, Esq., Past Deputy Master of L. O. L., No. 408.

WORTHY BROTHER.—We, the officers and members of L. O. L., No. 408, having recently learned of your intended removal from our midst, cannot allow this opportunity to pass without showing in some tangible manner the high esteem in which you are held by us as a worthy brother of our noble order. The position you have held in our lodge, as Deputy

... goes to show more than words can express, the confidence the brethren of our lodge repose in you as a gentleman and a brother, and we are not saying much when we say that had you remained longer amongst us there were still honors awaiting you in the gift of your brethren. Your regular attendance at our meetings, and your advice and counsel in matters appertaining to the welfare and prosperity of your lodge, together with your unabated zeal for the advancement of our noble and beloved order will be greatly missed, and gratefully remembered. Still we are pleased to learn that your removal is not of a nature so as to preclude the hope of an occasional visit from you, believing we will not be disappointed in such hopes as opportunities arise, knowing, as we are sure you do, that your brethren of old 408, will be pleased to welcome you. And now, on behalf of our lodge, allow us, Bro. Nelson, to present you with this watch-chain, which we trust you will accept, not for its intrinsic worth, but as a slight token of our esteem and brotherly love, and that your amiable partner, Mrs. Nelson, will accept this cruet, as a slight token of our regard for her as your wife, as well as for her amiable qualities. Hoping that you both may be blessed with good health and long life to enjoy these tokens of our esteem, and that your journey through life be guided by an all-wise Providence, and that when you pass the confines of this life, you may enter into eternal rest. Signed on behalf of "Star of the East" L. O. L., No. 408,

ANOTHER ONE GONE.—Mr. Robert Bell, father of Mr. Thomas Bell, of the G. T. R. station, died at the residence of his son, Hayward street, this morning. He had lived to a ripe old age and was a gentleman whom his acquaintances say was a most kind and agreeable person, with a kind word for every one he met. The funeral took place from the G. T. R. station at 4.35 Friday morning last, for Grahamsville, county of Peel, to be interred in the family burying ground there.—Guide.

BURNED TO DEATH.—A disastrous fire, accompanied by loss of life, occurred at an early hour Friday morning, at the residence of Thomas Gray, situated on the 11th concession of Otonabee, about two miles from town. The house, a rough-cast, was owned and occupied by Mr. Gray and family, consisting of Mrs. Gray and five children. They also had living with them Mr. David Scollie, an old gentleman 67 years of age. At about 12 o'clock last night, Mrs. Gray and the member of the family retired to rest, Mr. Gray being absent from home, visiting friends in Ontario, leaving everything, as they thought, secure. Mr. Scollie occupied a room up stairs. Some time during the morning, Mrs. Gray was awakened by her daughter Annie calling her. She quickly arose, and found the house full of smoke. She procured an axe which was kept in the room and knocked a window out, herself and children barely escaping in their night clothes. In the hurry and excitement of saving themselves, their lodger, Mr. Scollie, was entirely forgotten. Several of their neighbors were aroused by the flames and immediately went to the scene of the fire, but too late to render any assistance to Mr. Scollie, whose remains were found some time afterwards burned almost to a crisp, the head and limbs being burned from the body. Mr. Scollie was in the habit of reading for some time after retiring to rest, and it is supposed that either the lamp exploded or that he had fallen asleep and the paper came in contact with the lamp. The fire started in the upper part of the house. Everything was a total loss. There was an insurance of $850 in the Mercantile Insurance Company.

A RARE FLOWER.

A black calla lily, one of the rarest specimens of the lily species known, may be seen in bloom in the window of Mr. Geo. A. Schofield's drug store. It was propagated by Messrs. Jordan Bros., of the Argyle street nurseries, town, and is much admired by lovers of floriculture, both as a rare curiosity and for its thrift and bloom.

A RARE OPERATION ON A HORSE.

The particulars of the successful performance, by a local veterinary surgeon, of a very rare operation in horse surgery are reported to the Examiner. On Saturday, Feb. 17th, Mr. T. E. Bell, of Smith, brought a horse, that was so seriously injured that the journey was a very difficult one, to the infirmary of Dr. Johnston, V. S., Chambers-st. An examination revealed that the animal's neck was dislocated as the result of an accident. In any attempt to straighten the neck the animal would fall if pressure were continued in the neighborhood of the dislocation. Dr. Johnston put the animal under chloroform in the standing position—the latest mode of administering an anaesthetic to the horse—and in a few minutes the dislocation was reduced, the displaced vertebrae returning to its place with a snap, distinctly heard by the many persons present. The neck was then placed in splints, and the animal is doing well under the skilful care of Dr. Johnston, who, by the way, only recently came to town from Kene, and is meeting with the success which his skill in his profession merits.—Examiner.

BOWMANVILLE.

A FATAL KICK.—On Monday morning last, a sad accident occurred at the farm of Mr. J. Clemence, just east of the town, whereby a young lad, aged 14 years, named W. Ingram, lost his life. The boy was from the Home, at Toronto, had been up in the left, throwing down hay to the horses, and it is supposed that in coming down at the head of a stall in which a young horse was tied, he frightened it and it sprang forward, knocking him down and trampling him to death. Young Clemence, who was in another part of the stable, heard the noise and ran to where the boy was lying. He rushed up to pull him out, when the horse kicked him also, striking him in the head and bowels. When picked up, the lad was quite dead, and Mr. Clemence lies in a precarious condition.—News.

One of the saddest things in life is the death of one of the family—no matter whose family it may be. If ever the soul needs the consolation of a belief in a happier sphere hereafter, it is when the mysterious grave closes over all that is mortal of the one we loved. Desolation falls upon the house—the sunshine pales and grows cold—it seems cruel that the sky should be blue, the flowers sweet, and that the birds should sing, while we lay this very part of our own life in the dust.
