Emperor William yesterday issued his proclamation to the Prussian people. After a touching illustration to his father's discharge of his kingly duties in the face of death, he prays God to make him a just and clement prince, so that he may promote the welfare of the land and be a firm guardian of the people's right. He counts upon the people's fidelity, and conscious of his purpose, reciprocates it heartily as a true prince to a true people, both equally ready to make sacrifices for the Fatherland.

The Mail says:—Rev. Mr. Rainsford formerly of St. James' cathedral, Toronto, is attracting much attention by the candor of his public utterances and the practical philanthropy of his teachings. He recently told the congregation of St. George's church that those of them who were leaving the city for their vacation ought to allow poor families of the parish, who were well recommended, to occupy the basements of their house during their absence, and he agreed to be personally responsible for the conduct of the temporary tenants. Strange to say, a number of the congregation acted on the suggestion, and it is said about thirty poor families are now living in brown stone mansions. The benevolence shown in this action is creditable alike to the pastor and his people.

G. W. Goodfellow, proprietor of the Aylmer roller flour mill, was arrested yesterday in Aylmer, charged with unlawful intimacy with his fifteen-year-old daughter. Upon the officers showing him the warrant he drew a revolver and blew out his brains.

Arrival of a Toronto Journalist at Stouffville. The general assembly in Montreal.

TORONTO, June 19.—Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, and Prof. Galbraith have to-day for a visit educational centres in the United States. The purpose of Mr. Ross is to establish departments of architecture and of mechanical engineering in connection with the school of practical science and to go across the line for points of view on each of these subjects. Hon. Wilfred Laurier will probably begin his tour of Ontario during the second week of August. He will be accompanied by Sir Richard Cartwright. It is likely their first meeting will be the joint demonstration to be held under the auspices of the Young Liberals of Hamilton and Toronto. The police here are getting their names up. The excitement over Rev. W. F. Wilson's arrest had not subsided when James Cheesman, agricultural editor of the Empire, was arrested and locked up in the cells all night. Cheesman was taking a stroll in Queen's Park at an early hour yesterday morning, when he was asked by a policeman what he was doing there. This enquiry led to his being taken to the police station for arrest, which he promptly did. The Police Court the Magistrate upheld the action of the police. The case was withdrawn. The Toronto Methodist Conference adopted a memorial to the British government to the effect that the Annual Convention meeting will be held in the different towns within the bounds as well as in Toronto. A breach of promise case heard in the Assize Court yesterday before Justice Fallgout and a jury. The plaintiff is Miss Jennie Brennan, a nurse by profession, 28 years of age and rather intelligent. The defendant, George R. Henderson, is a machine-maker in Taylor's, a young man, sports a heavy, dark moustache, and behaved in such a manner during the trial as to give the impression that he rather enjoyed the experience of having the story told in court than otherwise. The case went to the jury at 3.30 and they returned a verdict for plaintiff for $100. A large amount was for. THE MANITOBA ELECTIONS.

A SELF-WILLED EMPEROR.

WILLIAM II. SEIZES THE REINS SWIFTLY AND WITH VIGOR.

An Exciting Sunday in Potsdam—Words and Acts that Thrill Europe—A Bold Self-assertion Through France.

BERLIN, June 19.—It straws show which way the wind blows two days hence Kaiser Wilhelm II. did on the very instant of his father's death and which caused general comment, ought to arouse the gravest apprehensions for the future. Frederick died at twelve minutes past eleven o'clock on Friday morning. The then Crown Prince William, together with other members of the Imperial family, was beside the Emperor's deathbed. At the very moment of death the Crown Prince walked out of the Chamber and gave orders to his aide-de-camp, Major Baron von Nattiner to have the palace surrounded by fresh cohorts of troops, and sent another officer to order the regiment of Hussars of Guard to patrol the grounds and to let no one in and to let no one out. The Hussars acted at a smart trot, and did their duty admirably. Even Sir Morell Mackenzie was for half an hour held a prisoner. From the palace given by Prince Radokoff, the Hof Marshall, and the Chief of the Emperor's household, the Emperor's death was announced within two minutes after Kaiser Frederick's death. A friend of mine, provided with one of the keys of the palace, was in the palace at the time of the Emperor's death, was unable to get out and was kept a prisoner in the guardhouse from half past eleven until midnight, and he was not permitted to be released until he had taken the Emperor's body to the cemetery. This was the first act of the young Emperor. No one dares say much about him in Berlin, but they cause general uneasiness, and are regarded as emblematic of what is to come by and by. In an Imperial message to the Reichstag, not a Socialist but a good standard Nationalist, said to me: "I see from these two acts that here is a new head for the German Empire. Kaiser Wilhelm and our good Kaiser Frederick both died peacefully in bed; but our young Emperor Frederick died in a field of honor as a hero, in the midst of a military action. He is not a man who is afraid to die, and he is not a man who is afraid to live. He is a man who is full of courage, and he is a man who is full of honor. He is a man who is full of energy, and he is a man who is full of vigor. He is a man who is full of life, and he is a man who is full of power.
