A Song of Touth. Laughed the youth, "Love's silken chain Hath no charm for me When the whole world I may gain-Life is Love," quoth he.

"Love is blinding," cried the youth, "From Love's altar fires Rises smoke that shines out Truth, Hides Life's high desires.

"Daphne of the woodland shrine, Phyllis of the field, Seek to woo with arts divine, But to none I yield." Eros first laughed at his words,

Then the god grew wroth,

Like the whir of humming-birds Sped the arrow forth. Where Hypatia of the school Taught philosophy, Bent the youth before her stool, For her love prayed he. Like a bird with broken wings, Which dares not to move,

Listened he to abstract things,

Life bereft of Love. "Love is life," the poor youth prayed, "All the world thou art," While the fair Platonic maid Smiled, but owned no heart.

Eros laughed. "This is the cure Of the gods," cried he. "Who thinks Love does not endure Finds philosophy. -Flavel Scott Mines, in Harper's Weekly.

PORTIA, JUNIOR.

Portia was nineteen, and a princess by virtue of her beauty and amiability. Her father was learned, even-tempered, and unprepossessing; her mother handsome and of equable temperament, but not unduly knowledgable-which may account for the fact that Portia herself, while of the intellectually beautiful type, was not superciliously lovely, as is so often the case with women similarly gifted. She could talk with a man without compelling him to feel his own ignorance, and, of course, this made her excessively popular with the male portion of the community in which she self so to women that plain girls, despite her beauty, loved to be with her. She had a way of making them feel that her beauty detracted from rather than enhanced their plainness, as though she shed the glamour of her personality on all those about her, just as the sun sometimes seeks out the dark corners of the earth, and makes gloom itself seem the source of light. Withal John. Portia was not conscious of prepossessing qualities, and went her way through life as simply, as quietly, and as sensibly as she | Prince John.

tendance upon her by the score was not scored the greater number of points. You surprising; that she should have prefer- have succeeded, and he has not. But he ences for certain princes was equally to be has been pertinacious. I admire success. expected; that she should have at least two I admire pertinacity and I sympathize with particular princes who wished her to be failure, so that the record now stands: to her, she was startled. That, I think, points, Admiration 5 points, Sympathy 5 remarkably good music. was the only commonplace thing about points, Total 20." Portia. To be startled by so insignificant an episode as two proposals on the same

But Portia had an excuse for her embarrassment, which most women have not, and she had a very warm place in her heart for | weak ?" Prince Henry until Prince John asked her rival just two hours previously. To neither | would bow to you in the matter of argu- leading up the hill to the mission. The yes-surely here was a dilemma! It is my his counsel, he'd have got his pound of land, and at a given signal from the two own opinion that most women would have flesh." solved the problem by quarrelling with | "Certainly he would," said Portia. "It both princes, and marrying a third; and a was for Antonio to pay the bill, not for the papooses, then the young bucks, and man similarly placed would have settled it | Shylock to collect it. by the toss of a coin. Not so with Portia. as plainly as she could just how matters able' as Portia cannot be bliss unalloyed."

"I-I think I love you both," she said. to his feet. "I cannot consent to Portia's "And so, of course, I cannot marry either arrangement. She is yours, Jack, not which of the two I love the better."

Most girls would have said "which of the two I love the best." It was in matters of this sort that Portia showed her erudi-

"and I will decide between you. Meanwhile you should both bestir yourselves, for by that which you achieve are my feelings likely to be influenced. Ordinarily a question of this kind is settled on the basis of love and affection. Here the love and affection being in both cases equal, it becomes a question of those qualities plus the unknown quantity that must decide."

"It depends, then," said Prince John, "upon that unknown quantity?" "Yes," replied Portia.

turns out to be a third prince?" suggested Prince Henry.

And the two princes went out into the world and strove.

Prince John devoted himself assiduously to many things, and succeeded in all. He an awful life. But then she must have and cloak of blue. He knelt in supplicabecame a lawyer of recognized standing, known what it would be when she married tion, while six red-gowned natives lay on not alone of respectability, but of marked | him.' ability. In or out of court Prince John was sure to win any cause to which his energies were devoted, yet so fearful was he of not ultimately realizing the ideals of the into literature. He wrote a novel that even pleased the critics. His work was discussed seriously by the pulpit, and although while writing he had no idea that such was to be the case, he found himself six months after the publication of his great work hailed as the father of a new philosophy. To | miles or so to find one." counteract the effect of his novel, which, while gratifying, was not exactly to his dinner to entertain a country customer?" taste, he became a humorist-a humorous humorist, who, while he brought tears to out. the eyes of his readers, as do most other humorists, did so less abruptly, leading up to them through the medium of laughter. Having shown his ability in this direction, vast prairie with no neighbors-hardly a a universally accomplished person he was, lonely?" turned his attention to poetry and the amateur stage, with such success that one of his poems crept into several Western papers "Living in this city, in the midst of slave held a basin and pitcher with which credited to Tennyson, while his Hamlet | thousands, with clubs and theatres, but | he was about to wash his hands, disclaimwas of such a quality that a prominent so- hardly a soul you know. No one can be as | ing all part in the crime which the Jews ciety journal called him "a mute, inglorious lonely as one who is alone among thou- wished to have committed. Before the into the highest possible praise. every forward stride taken by Prince John, stranger in it."-Detroit Free Press. Prince Henry took one backward. He too tried the law, and failed. He too tried literature, yet succeeded not. Next Prince Henry tried to become a young Napolean of finance, and did so well that he met his Wellington, went through his Waterloo, and came out sans everything save his good name in less than six months. The good name he managed to retain, though it was sadly mortgaged. Money had been borrowed on it, but not in such a fashion as to lead to any suspicion as to his integrity.

But his Waterloo by no means called for a St. Helena. Unabashed by repeated failures, Prince Henry was not afraid to fail again, and he did so, this time as an agent for an insurance company, his commission not exceeding two per cent. of his office rent. And so he passed on from failure to failure, and at the end of five years the two cavaliers presented themselves at the house of Portia-one eminent, rich successful the other eminent only as a failure, rich

And Portia received them both with smiles. Her heart was still true to both. "Hullo!" sneered Prince John, as he caught sight of Prince Henry entering the front door. "What are you here for? You don't suppose you have any chance now, do

"No," returned Prince Henry, sadly. "I am here simply as a matter of form; that is all. I said I'd be here, and here I am. I shall content myself with saying good-by to Portia, and congratulating you. "Ah!" said Prince John, softening. "You've had hard luck, Hal, for a fact. it wasn't my fault."

And then Portia came in.

gives you any pain to announce it in my presence, don't do so. Let me take it for granted. There's no question about it, Jack has proved himself the better man." "That's very true," returned Portia.

"But I don't think it's nice of you, Prince Henry, to forestall my decision in that way. In fact, it almost impels me to lived; but, rarer still, Portia endeared her- | change my mind, and marry Prince Jack." "Change your what and marry which?" roared Prince Jack. "I didn't hear exactly right, did I?"

Prince Henry was speechless. He did not know whether to be full of joy or of "Change my mind, and marry you," repeated Portia, looking severely at Prince

"You don't mean to say there is any question about my being accepted?" queried

"Why, certainly," returned Portia. "I That she should have princes dancing at- had decided in Henry's favor because he from the train a Squamish chief, Harry,

"That's one way to look at it," sneered Prince John; while Prince Henry gazed evening is quite in the line of woman's way. | blankly at the carpet.

another. You have fame and fortune. would stop occasionally, and then pour is the most precarious. The comparative event of death by accident. that excuse was that it was not until Prince Prince Henry has nothing. You have down again with renewed vigor, but the comfort of a roof tree does not compensate Henry proposed marriage to her that she shown your ability to stand alone. Prince realized how much she cared for Prince | Henry has not. Shall I give to the rich? John, nor did she awaken to the fact that | Shall I support the strong and neglect the

the same question that had been put by his | well-named. The great original herself | themselves at the foot of the winding path | with the quadrumanal digestion. could she say no; to neither could she say ment. If Shylock could have had you for Indians gathered like an army on the low-of you at present. Time alone can tell mine. You have won her fairly and squarely. Take her, for I shall not." Portia looked faint. "No," returned Prince Jack. "She has expressed a preference for you, and that boulevard leading past the mission buildsettles it. As a gentleman I cannot appeal "Come back in five years," she added, from her decision, and I shall not remain one after another, at intervals of about any longer." Prince Henry.

"Nor can I!" roared Prince Jack. "Gentlemen," said Portia, "do not quar-

Two noble hearts indeed were they and ly correct. strong, for twenty years had passed since "But supposing this unknown quantity then, and Portia is still single.

The renunciation is still on, however, and | which the procession divided, half going on is likely to remain so for some time to one side of the boulevard, and half on the "The advantage is with you," returned come, since both princes have married- other. As they marched along, the Indians Portia. "You have the start on him. If Prince John twice, and Prince Henry even he overtakes and passes you, I am not to now is enjoying his third honey-moon .-John Kendrick Bangs, in Harper's Weekly.

Loneliness Among Thousands.

little farmhouse out in the country with have an unusually good conception of the still undecided Portia, that he branched out the nearest neighbors five or ten miles away. Think how lonely it must be !"

"Oh, yes; he can't get away very well." "He can't go to the club?" "Certainly not. He'd have to ride 100 his body moved.

"And he doesn't have to stay away from "If he stayed away he'd have to go with-

"Of course. But think of living on that Lord. Prince John, in order to show Portia what house in sight. Can anything be more fore Pilate. The Roman Governor was Booth," which, naturally, he construed sands. The loneliness of a little back room Governor stood Christ with downcast eyes overlooking a court is nothing to the lone- and bound with chains. Near by was a And what of Prince Henry? Alas! for liness of a brilliantly lighted ball room to a group of sullen and angry Jews watching frequently found on the tables of the poor

INDIAN PASSION PLAY.

AN IMPRESSIVELY DRAMATIC POR-TRAYAL OF THE CRUCIFIXION.

The Progress to the Cross Presented by the Natives of British Columbia-Thousands in Attendance-A Strange and

One of the most important religious events that has ever taken place in Western Canada was the recent presentation of the Passion Play by the Indians of St. Mary's Mission near New Westminster.

Very Moving Spectacle.

The Indians have but little imagination, and accordingly the missionaries have had great difficulty in teaching them the various Bible stories. The plan of presenting and blood. An Indian woman, as St. Veroonly in debts, successful only in lacking a Passion Play was finally adopted a few nica, stooped forward to wipe his face, and natives a conception of the leading events | rise to his feet. in the life of the Saviour. Several times the Indians at the various missions have essayed to present the play or parts of it, a reassuring smile was telling them not to but never have they given so complete and realistic a production as on this occasion, so well presented on this continent.

wap, Thompson River, Fraser River, lips.

bluff, overlooking the Fraser River, on lowed out of curiosity uncovered, and Prowere in separate clusters of tepees, and moving sight. in the center of each group was placed | The stillness had grown oppressive, when the standard of the tribe. In addition to five of the chiefs arose, and each in turn streaming from the tops of many of the was dying, was dying, was dying. A tents, and the natives themselves were shrill, mournful chant, repeated over and decked in their most gorgeous colors- over, and echoed from the cliffs across the the flaming reds and strong yellows, as river was the reply. Then, at a signal, all usual, predominating.

arrived on the morning of Thursday, After the last man had bowed, and the track to get a glimpse of the fathers | Seattle Correspondence New York Sun. from the East. As the priests stepped the mission for luncheon the Indians squat- | learning is a dangerous thing." ted on the ground by their tents, built smouldering fires (for their native cooking, "Yes," replied Portia. "And here is and munched dried salmon. The rain Indians paid no beed to it.

nouncement was made that the play would their primeval forests, it is not amazing "Portia," said Prince John, "you are the encampment, ordering them to mass hazel nuts and stale buns is apt to disagree chiefs the procession moved up the steep A Story Tinged With Romance and Sulascent. First came the women, carrying after them a mixed crowd of old men and "Good !" returned Prince John. "And women, boys and girls. Slowly they would die away to a low moan. At the the murder of his wife quite two score yoars crescendos the Indians would throw back their heads and wave their arms in a religious frenzy. The play had no speaking parts, but was presented in a series of eight tableaux. The stage was the broad, hard ings. The tableaux were all placed at once, fifty feet, and consequently each scene had "Jack, you must; for I cannot!" cried different sets of actors. Only the best of the Indians were chosen for parts, and so the honor of being in the performance was a high one, and the men and women selected were regarded as much to be envied. But she addressed the empty air. Both | The tableaux were as complete as the limitprinces had rushed from the house, not to ed resources of the mission would allow, quarrel, but each actuated by a spirit of re- and the costumes, which were carefully fashioned after those of pictures, were fair-

At the top of the hill a chief was stationed, giving in a low tone the command by still sang their weird chant, and at each tableau or stage of the cross every one in the procession made a profound obeisance and crossed himself.

The first group, or tableau, contained a "Poor girl," she said. "She must lead stalwart Indian, roped in a white surplice the ground behind him feigning sleep. The "Is he unkind to her?" asked the scene was the agony in the Garden of Gethsemane. The Indian representing "Oh, no, I guess not. But they live in a | Christ had been drilled until he seemed to part, for he threw his whole soul into the portrayal, and his face wore a wonderful ex-"Yes, of course it's lonely, but she has pression of suffering and intercession. During the forty minutes while the spectators were walking past, he appeared to be in a state almost hypnotic, for not a muscle of

The second scene was Christ seized by the soldiers. An Indian, about the same in stature as in the first tableau and wearing exactly the same dress, took the part of the Saviour. Other natives with the "And she's sure to have his company | shields, spears, helmets, and jerkins of Roman soldiers were binding the unresisting

In the third tableau Christ appeared beseated on a dais spread with scarlet, while "Oh, yes," said the little woman promptly. his chair of state was covered with a robe nal seed. of the same gorgeous color. Before him a

The fourth picture, the flagellation, was horrible in its realism: Christ was bound to a post, and two savage soldiers were standing over him, with bloody knouts upraised. The Saviour, from whose back the blood was pouring, bent forward, his face showing both anguish and spiritual deter-

In the fifth picture Christ sat in a rough chair, and soldiers with spears in their hands stood about him. One of them was placing on his head a crown of thorns, while the blood from his brow trickled down his face and stained his white garments. So true was the scene that the spectator could hardly rid himself of the idea that the blood was real. Fully as real was the next tableau, the burden of the cross. Overcome by the load, Christ had slipped, and his body was pinned to the ground by the heavy weight. The crown of thorns still pierced his brow, and his countenance was obscured by dust years ago as the best means of giving the two soldiers with blows were urging him to

In the seventh scene Christ was meeting the weeping women of Jerusalem, and with grieve for him.

From this spectacle the procession, softly and it is doubtful if the play has ever been | singing the solemn chant, passed into the large yard of the mission. There on a plat-A party of distinguished Roman Catholic | form at the very edge of the cliff towered priests is now visiting the missions of the cross. A waxen image of the Saviour British Columbia, and the play was given | was nailed to its arms, and clinging to the in order to show them the advance which | feet of the Crucified and receiving the drops the Indians of the Province have made. of blood on her head was a Mary Magda-The visitors were Archbishop Duhamel of lene whose long jet black hair streamed I'm deucedly sorry for you, old fellow, but Ottawa, Bishop La Fleche of Three Rivers, below her waist. Beside her was a dusky Bishop Lorraine of Pembroke, Bishop Virgin Mary, with dumb, tearless agony returned Prince Henry, "it | Macdonnell of Alexandria, Bishop Brondel expressed in every feature. Near the edge of Helena, Vicar-General Hamel of Que of the platform a tall, handsome Squamish bec, Vicar-General Marechel of Montreal, Indian, representing St. John, sat bowed "We have come for your formal deci- and many other well-known members of in hopeless grief. Soldiers with swords sion. Portia," said Prince Henry. "Of the priesthood. The Indian tribes which and spears were grouped around the cross, course I know what it is to be, so if it took part in the conclave were the Shus- and one held the hyssop to the sufferer's

> Squamish, Sechelt, Stickeen and Douglas. | As the chanting Indians came before this The thousands of Indians who had last tableau they were visibly affected, the gathered from all parts of British Colum- song was hushed, and all silently fell to bia were encamped at the foot of the their knees. The spectators who had folwhich the mission stands. The tribes testant and Catholic alike bowed at the these standards, bright banners were called out in his own language that Jesus Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats. arose, and filing past the crucifix each made When the train bearing the visitors a deep reverence.

June 2, a drizzle was falling, but every crowd was slowly scattering, the sky grew Indian in the camp was standing by the dark again, and the rain began to fall .-

Value of Exact Knowledge. came forward, and in the native tongue | The importance of exact knowledge in delivered an address of greeting, which was many things cannot be over-estimated. A translated by an interpreter. From the doctor was asked by a mother if arrowroot Mission Hill a salute of cannon was fired, was healthful for a babe. He told her it and the bluffs along the river tossed back a was, and the mother fed her child on that theirs was not startling; and yet, sensible Prince John-Love 5 points, Affection 5 hundred echoes. After the speech of wel- alone till it was nearly starved. Had she as Portia was, when these gallant gentle- points, Admiration 5 points, Total 15. come was over, three brass bands, every known that arrowroot contains little but men made known their matrimonial hopes | Prince Henry-Love 5 points, Affection 5 | player in which was an Indian, gave some starch, which alone cannot long support life, she might not have furnished so apt an While the visiting clergy were taken into | illustration of the proverb that "A little Precarious Stock.

Of all menagerie stock the monkey tribe for the activity of their natural life, and, At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the an- considering that they feed on fresh fruits in begin. Two chiefs addressed the people in | that after a time an unlimited dietary of lied by a Remarkable Crime. Ellenwood (B.C.) Letter in the Los Angeles Times: After a patient, weary Neither dissemblance nor penny-tossing good-morning. I congratulate you, Henry, moved up the hill, chanting in Latin, tinent and covering a period of nearly was one of her accomplishments. Frank- on your good fortune, but I cannot say I broken by the guttural sounds of their own forty years, Charles Hartley, of Oswego, ness was, and she told the two gentlemen envy you. Life with a woman so 'reason- language, the "Hail, Jesus." The song N. Y., a few days ago at this point ended seemed to effect them greatly, for now their a period in his eventful life by arresting "Stay!" cried Prince Henry, springing voices would rise high and shrill, and now Allen Hartley, a cousin, charged with

FOUND AFTER TWO SCORE YEARS.

> The man arrested is an old resident of this city, having lived here nearly twelve years. He served two terms as Mayor, and has been successful in the accumulation of a comfortable fortune. Four years ago he married a well-known lady of this place. Back of it is a story tinged with romance and sullied by a crime so remarkable in its details that it furnishes a chapter in criminal history.

Allen Hartley is now an old man of nearly 70. When his locks were raven and his beard was young he married a charming young lady, the belle of the small interior town in New York State where both resided. Charles Hart- Wheat, Peas, Barley, ley, the cousin, who yesterday, after such a lapse of years, caused the arrest of Allen, was an unsuccessful suitor. Though denied all hope by the marriage of his cousin with the girl he still loved, this flame kept burning through the years caused the tracking down and arrest of the wife mur-

Thirty-nine years ago next May Allen Hartley bade his friends a hearty farewell, and at the same time informing them with his wife he was going West to seek his fortune. No one saw the people leave the town, and finally murmurs of something wrong increased to open gossip. Charges of foul play were freely made, but there were none to prove them, and at length they died away. When later the house in which the Hartleys had lived was being repaired and there was found in a cemented vault beneath it the skeleton of Agnes Hartley, was gone and there was no trace. Charles Hartley swore to hunt him down if it took | INCOME, a lifetime and his fortune. It required DEPOSIT AT OTTAWA, forty years of one and as many thousand dollars of the other, but success has at last rewarded the long search.

A Prolific Tree.

It has been shown that the white elm of our bottom lands and groves yields, one year with another, at a very moderate estimate, too, 329,000 seeds. Now, an elm ordinarily lives at least a full 100 years, and, consequently, in the course of that comparatively short life produces nearly

Where Horses are Eaten.

It is said that 1,000 horses are slaughtered for food every week in Paris, where horse flesh has come into general use among | Cash Dividends paid Every year the poor as an article of diet. Palatable of Berlin and Vienna.

will find our Furniture

It's a well recognized fact that daily surroundings have much to. moulding of character. If the home be neatly furnished the chances are that the good man will come home early o' nights and that the children will grow up refined and gentle.

YOUR HOMES CAN BE FURNISHED CHEAPLY

nowadays compared with the outlay that would have he necessary a few years ago. Well-made Furniture was never cheaper in price than it is to-day—with us, at least.

WE WILL GIVE YOU

A Handsome Parlor Suite for $30

A Bed-room Suite for $11.

A Sideboard for $4.50, a Bureau for $4, a Bedstead for $2, or Mattrass and Springs for $5. Common Chairs, Hall Furnitum etc., very low. We are making a special drive in Mattrasses.

ANDERSON, NUGENT & CO.

Furniture Dealers and Manufacturers, near the Market.

P. TULLY,

Orders delivered to any part of the tow

-sth door east of the market.

and start you. Can work in spare time ers. Failure unknown among them.
NEW and wonderful. Particulars free.
H. Hallett & Co., Box 880 Portland, Maine

Accident Insurance.

The London Guarantee and Accident In surance Company of London, England Capital $1,250,000. Liberal policy—Bonus every five years, $5 per annum secures $5 weekly compensation and $1000 in the

JOHN D. MACMURCHY Gen eral Agent, Lindsay

TO FARMERS.

Are now prepared to buy at the new G. T. R. Storehouse, Lindsay.

Oats, Red and Alsike Clover and Potatoes

CASH paid at the Storehouse. Lindsay, Sept. 18th, 1890 -36-tf.

ife Assurance Company.

the town went mad. But the murderer SURPLUS, (by Canadian Standard) 7,858,507 6,243,780 3,000,000 POLICIES IN FORCE 124,907,217 NEW POLICIES, 1890 23,370,242

ENDOWNMENTS

The Government Reports for years past show that the ÆTNA LIFE has paid to living policy holders in Canada a lar ger sum in settlement of MATURED 3,000,000 grains, all coming from one origi- ENDOWMENTS than that paid by Canadian and British Companies combined. No better evidence is required of the value and popularity of the ÆTNA EN-DOWMENT Policies.

JOHN D. MACMURCHY

General Agent

MONEY TO LOAN.

INTEREST PAYABLE YEARLY a puzzle to live sometime

Terms to suit borrower.

McINTYRE & STEWART, Barristers and etc., Lindsan

Magnificient New Steamer

NORTH Will leave Cobourg at 8 A.M., and Por Hope at 9.45 A.M., on arrival of G.T.H

Trains from North, East and West. RETURNING- Leaves Charlotte 11.15 P.M., except Tuesday at 9.45 P.M. and Saturday at 4.25 P.M. Connects Rochester with early trains for all point on New York Central and all divergin lines. Calls at Brighton and Colbourn Wednesday and Friday at 4.00 A Rochester, and Wednesday Morning and Saturday Evening from Rochester. Through Tickets and Baggage Checks from Agents or on board.

THE NORTH KING is one of the largest, swiftest and most powerful s mers on the lakes. Lighted by Electricity and modern throughout.

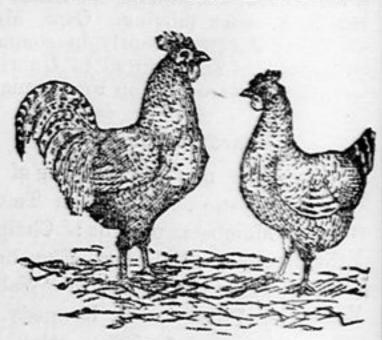

C. H. NICHOLSON,

Gen. Pass. and Fgt. Agt.,

C. F. GILDERSLEEVE PORT HOPE General Manager, KINGSTON.

Agent, Lindsay.

F. C. TAYLOR,

PLYMOUTH ROCKS

Parties Wanting

Orders filled as received. In stock are all prize birds, as follows

HOUDANS, WHITE LECHORNS, PLYMOUTH ROCKS.

D. C. TREW.

MONEY TO L COMPANIES' & PRIVAT TO LOAN AT LOWEST

> hout expense: Interest year H. B. DE Barrister, Corner of York & Ken ilege to borrower to pay off any indsay Dec. 30th, 1887. The Watch

THURSDAY, JULY

HOW A DRIVER Came North With His Parents, and Proved a

Something happened t

at recalls a doctor's stor "John Moore was an en Chicago and Erie, and he through Hammond here and a smile and a cher that made him a host of was one of the old men went on, in fact, when the company was called the Atlantic, and was stagge weight of debt and d vier than that usuall even the newest roads. he had been a fireman, that a hustler after any that would bring in m father's family was large AT LOWEST CURRENT RATES, one of thirteen children slave-owner in the Sou negroes depending upo occasionly earning an father was a physician became a surgeon-genera federate army when the But when the war was last vestige of fortune we the old man came Nor at Fredonia, N. Y., whe could go to school and cal of the dominant Yankee

> "The boy John was a us. He was no honest a capable. 11: never ab and never forgot his m the rest of us were having he worked like a Troja the last dollar of his w treasuary at home. I money as we had, and princely qualities about endeared him to us and m ed whenever he came am "The task of bringing family was discharged at last of the 13 had gaine was equal to all burder had married well, an mother were provided for got married. He found woman, and she made hi as ever a good man brought her to Hunting made her a home, for h ing up, as I told you ; t then a fireman, now an very best class. He me schedule time, always trusty, always wi as good as a rich He came to have thre he took them to church chance, for he held co

a man as ever I knew. "It was a cold Ja when the tradegy can with ice all over the wind blowing a gale. veen delayed by the st made up the time and sual. As his engine elegraph office he dro cab to run in for orders his footing on that form and he slipped a mighty wheels crushe till the round, swift

Episcoral faith, and Gospel. He was as ha for him. "Of course I can' horror. No one can, writhing under the splintered bones aud rising on flanges before conscious gaze-rising carried them up an down again, with awfi

"We pulled him out ed him into the sta terrible sight, that s unhurt trunk, but the ed body ; for the legs the spirit in the ma superior to pain.

"What do you thi asked me when I ha "Well you're bad told him.

"Oh, of course." Don't be afraid. Te ing to die ?" "Yes, you can't I was the bitterest spoke. "How long?"