BRITAIN'S NEW MINISTRY

IT IS NOT POPULAR WITH THE RADICALS.

Earl Rosebery Will Hold the Position of Foreign Secretary—The Appointment of Baron Houghton as Viceroy of Ireland Causes Surprise.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The new Government officially announced last evening is as follows: Mr. Gladstone, Lord Privy Seal and First Lord of the Treasury; Earl Rosebery, Foreign Secretary; Baron Herschell, Lord Chancellor; Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Herbert Asquith, Home Secretary; the Right Hon. Henry H. Fowler, President of the Local Government Board; the Right Hon. J. H. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War; Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty; the Right Hon. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland; the Right Hon. A. J. Mundella, President of the Board of Trade; Sir Charles Russell, Attorney Gen.; John Rigby, Solicitor-Gen.; the Right Hon. Samuel Walker, Lord Chancellor of Ireland; Mr. McDermott, Attorney-General for Ireland; the Right Hon. Edward P. C. Marjoribanks, Patronage Secretary to the Treasury; Alexander Asher, Solicitor-General for Scotland; the Right Honorable J. B. Balfour, Lord Advocate of Scotland; the Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India and Vice-President of the Council; the Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies; Sir George O. Trevelyan, Secretary for Scotland; Mr. Arnold Morley, Postmaster-General; Mr. Arthur Herbert Dyke Acland, Vice-President of the Council on Education; Baron Houghton Viceroy of Ireland without a seat in the Cabinet.

The announcement of the appointment of Baron Houghton to the position of Viceroy of Ireland was so incredible that the representative of the Associated Press made inquiries about it, when he found that the appointment had been made as announced.

Baron Houghton is a lifelong protegee of Mr. Gladstone's. He is likely to spend much beyond his whole official income in lavish entertainments. Still, everybody questions the wisdom of putting an unknown and untried young man of 34 years in the highest post in Ireland, though only as a figure-head. The informant of the Associated Press representative predicts that Baron Houghton will soon gain popularity among the Irish, that he will not interfere in politics, but will support Irish sports, keep an open table and win good will.

Crowds Cheer the Premier.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Despite the falling rain a large crowd waited for hours to receive Mr. Gladstone in the vicinity of Stuart Rendle's house in Carleton Gardens, where Mr. Gladstone is stopping until he takes up his official residence in Downing-street. When he drove to the house the crowd cheered him. He smilingly bowed his thanks for the reception. After the lapse of a brief interval he emerged again, accompanied by his wife and daughter. The party were driven to Kensington to attend a wedding. Upon his return Mr. Gladstone met the members of the new ministry and a conference took place.

Radicals Amazed And Angered.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The composition of the new Government causes intense disappointment among the radicals. Not a single man, except John Morley prominently identified with the radicals has been appointed a cabinet minister and among the ex-cabinet posts few members of the new set have any but the remotest chance of getting a place. The old set are masters of the situation and representatives of old Whig families and Liberal mediocrity having aristocratic connections and never associated with extreme views have been Mr. Gladstone's exclusive choice. Even Mr. Stanfield, who, in the latest Gladstone cabinet represented democratic opinion, has been shelved.

The official list when scanned tonight at the National Liberal Club awoke vehement protests. Was it for this undiluted list of old men associated with the traditions of Whiggery, from the territorial and aristocratic class, that radicals had given their money and their time?

Apart from radical opinion the Cabinet is really composed of eminently reputable men. Mr. Gladstone has preferred collecting around him tried colleagues accustomed to subordination and certain not to deviate into strange ways. His three new Cabinet Ministers—Asquith, Arnold Morley and Acland—are sound Liberals.

Baron Houghton's appointment as Viceroy of Ireland amazed even Mr. Gladstone's intimate friends. When an inkling of the appointment reached Dublin this morning it was held to be without foundation until the appointment was officially announced.

The Crowd Cries "Bravo."

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Mr. Gladstone, who Monday visited the Queen at Osborne House, returned to London yesterday. He is in excellent health. The enthusiasm manifested yesterday at various points along the route of Mr. Gladstone's journey was repeated to-day. Everywhere, particularly at Southampton and the Waterloo Station, he was surrounded by a good-natured crowd, who heartily cheered him and then greeted him with cries of "Bravo William," "Drop it into them, old man," etc.

Mr. Hardie Squares Himself.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Mr. Keir Hardie has sent as a contribution to the Homestead strikers' fund the £100 given him by Mr. Carnegie for his expenses in the recent election.

Committed For Trial.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—At the Bradford Petty Sessions yesterday the Rev. Robert Baynes was committed for trial on the charge of assaulting two little girls.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The regular meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening. Present the Mayor, Reeve Kylie, Dy-reeve Crandell, and Councilors, Lack, Robson, Mallon, Touchburn, Finley, Connolly.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A petition from P. Nicholl and others praying for an electric light on Sussex and Francis street. Referred to the committee on fire and water.

From J. H. Lennon in reference to market fees. Referred to town property committee.

From the arbitrators in the matter of Mr. Wm. McDonnell's property on the Queen's square. The amount allowed Mr. McDonnell was $325.

From P. Tully, and others asking for two crossings. Referred to street and bridge committee.

Mr. Robson read the report of the street and bridge committee which was adopted.

Mr. John Dovey was heard in reference to the placing of a hydrant on the corner of Queen and Lindsay streets. The matter was referred to the committee on fire and water.

On motion of Capt. Crandell, seconded by Mr. Robson, the chairman of the street and bridge committee was authorized to place a crossing on Lindsay street leading to the steam boat wharf.

On motion of Mr. Connolly, seconded by Mr. Kylie that when this council adjourns it stands adjourned till Monday 22 inst for the purpose of striking a rate for the current year and for the reception from the chairman of each committee of a report estimating as near as possible the amount that will be required for the remainder of the current year.

On motion of Mr. Mallon, seconded by Capt. Crandell, an electric light was ordered on the corner of St. Patrick and Bertie street, in the east ward.

On motion of Mr. Finley, seconded by Mr. Kylie the chief of police was instructed to see that the by-law in reference to the cutting of noxious weeds be carried out at once.

Convicts Making Binder Twine.

The big combiners in the States did their best to circumvent and defeat the Ontario Government's efforts to establish a binder twine factory in the Central prison. When the Hon. J. M. Gibson went to the States for machinery his footsteps were dogged by agents of the combine. They tried to prevent the manufacturers from selling, but finally the machinery was secured and much of the twine used in binding the sheaves of the next harvest will be supplied at a low price by the Central prison factory. The trades organizations are opposed to this because they say it is bringing prison labor into competition with free labor.

Daily Life of Pope Leo.

In summer as in winter Leo XIII. is awakened at 6 by his private servant, Francesco Centra, from Carpeneto. At 7 o'clock he says his mass, attended by two cappellani segreti, and hears a second mass celebrated by one of the same attendants, who act also as private secretary. It happens sometimes that the Pope, having been troubled with sleeplessness, gets up with a piece of Latin or Italian poetry composed during the wakeful hours. The verses are generally dictated to one of the secretaries before the mass. The breakfast of the Pope consists of coffee, milk, and bread without butter. Soon after the official reception begins. The first one, as a rule, is given to the cardinal secretary of state. His audience lasts more than an hour, and takes place every day except Tuesdays and Fridays, which are set apart for the reception of the diplomatic body. Cardinals, heads of congregations, generals of monastic orders, strangers of distinction, are received later in the day. The North American Review thinks it is to be regretted that Leo XIII. does not accord private audiences as often as his predecessor did. Many strangers are obliged to leave Rome without having been able to see the holy father. In winter, if the sun shines, the receptions are interrupted for a while for a walk or a drive of half an hour in the Vatican gardens. Leo XIII. dines at 1 o'clock in the old Roman style. The dinner is composed of a soup, generally potted, a roast, a vegetable, very often fried potatoes and fruit. The Pope is very apt to glance over the journals at meal times. He dines alone generally, waited upon, in addition to the valet, by his scalco segreto or carver, Commendatore Giulio Sterbina. This official is a gentleman of refined tastes and artistic culture, owning a good collection of pre-Raphaelite pictures. An invitation to take coffee and milk after the Pope's mass is considered a great honor, and it is only extended to those who have heard the mass and taken Holy Communion from the Pope's hands. After dinner Leo XIII. takes a short rest on a chaise longue, the siesta never lasting beyond the hour. Then follows a drive in the Belvedere gardens, through which an avenue more than a mile long has lately been opened, affording many lovely points of view over the city and its suburbs.

Archbishop Cleary Sends Home Rulers the Donation of His People.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 10.—Yesterday Archbishop Cleary sent a draft for four hundred pounds sterling to Mr. Justin McCarty, M.P., London Eng., to aid in defraying the expenses of the recent electoral campaign. His Grace adds: "It is their voluntary and absolutely free offering to the land of their fathers, the early home of many amongst us, in sustenance of Ireland's efforts to regain by peaceful and constitutional methods her native legislature, of which she was deprived nigh a century ago, by fraud and violence, combined with shameless corruption. My people are chiefly of Irish origin in loyalty to the Crown and ready submission to the Government and laws under which they live, in the secure enjoyment of the fruits of their industry, their cherish ardent attachment to the dear Old Country, and their liveliest sympathies are with her in all her vicissitudes of fortune, in her sorrows and her joys, her reverses and her triumphs. They are at present full of hope, and are equally looking forward to a day when they shall send a delegation from Kingston of the Archbishop and others to assist at the solemn inauguration of the revised Irish Parliament in College Green. May God speed the day."

The crowd at Grimsby park on Sunday was the largest of the season.

IRELAND.

Dublin Streets Lighted by Electricity.

The streets of Dublin were lit early on the morning of July 27 for the first time by electricity. The new plant was being tried, and the experiment was a complete success.

THE DUCHESS IN THE DICKEY.

The best story of the general election comes from Ireland and is told by The Belfast Telegraph on "most reliable authority." In the Newtown Stewart district of North Tyrone, in which Lord Frederick Hamilton, brother of the First Lord of the Admiralty, and also of the Duke of Abercorn, defeated the Rev. Prof. Dougherty, by only 49 votes, it was ascertained at 6 on the evening of the polling day that two invalid Unionist voters were unpolled. Every available vehicle suitable for the purpose had been pressed into service, and Lord Frederick's agent was in a dilemma, knowing that the fight would be an extremely close one.

"At length it was decided to send a messenger to Baronscourt, where the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn are at present staying. After considering the situation, her Grace, with a woman's readiness of resource, suggested that two farm horses, plunging in a field close by, should be requisitioned, and the great state coach used by the late duke when Lord Lieutenant of Ireland should be pressed into service. The horses were brought in, the coach wheeled out, and then it was discovered there was no harness. Woman's wit, however, again came to the rescue, and, with silver-mounted state harness which ornamented the mantelpiece of one of the principal apartments of the castle, the equipage was ready to start." But all the difficulties has not been surmounted yet. "There was no one but the duke to drive, and the law was too plain on the subject of peers taking part in elections. The law, however, said nothing about peeresses, and the duchess, seeing the state of affairs, at once volunteered her services, mounted the dickey, and drove off amid the cheers of the assembled servants. The first man was polled at 6.30, and 7.57 the second man, although he lived over four miles distant from the polling station, was brought into the booth and his vote recorded."

DECLINE OF CRIME.

The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland had not too early removed the special provisions of the Crime Act from the last of the Irish counties. Agrarian crime has for many months past, on the official returns, shown a steady and gratifying decline. For the quarter ended with June the Royal Irish constabulary report 134 cases, but more than half of them took the form of threatening letters, which do not appear to have been followed up by actual crime. Maiming and killing of cattle, the vilest form of agrarian offence, unhappily has not quite died out; there have been 16 cases. Seventeen incendiary fires are reported, and nine cases of injury to property. Clare, and no longer Kerry, suffers under the worst reputation. But the returns on the whole are highly satisfactory, and go far to justify the claim that there is less crime in Ireland than in other parts of the kingdom.

The Cholera in St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—An official report just issued shows that there were 154 cases of cholera and 31 deaths from it in this city on August 1st and 2nd. Thus far only working people have been attacked by the scourge. The conditions under which they live invite attacks of the disease and through ignorance they passively resist the endeavors of the authorities to improve the sanitary condition of their dwellings. Everything possible is being done to prevent the spread of the disease and the sanitary regulations are being enforced with unprecedented strictness. There is no excitement attending the visitation, but some of the wealthier residents have already left the city. The cholera returns from the whole of Russia for the 11th instant show a large increase in the number of new cases as well as in the mortality. There were reported 9177 new cases and 5009 deaths.

Forbade the Banns.

A peculiar incident, and one that created considerable excitement for the moment took place in the Church of St. John the Evangelist Monday in Montreal. At the 11 o'clock service Rev. Mr. French was reading the banns in the case of a number of candidates for matrimony. The names of two couples had been read, but when Rev. Mr. French came to those of William Morrin, bachelor, and Anastasia Baker, spinster, a lady, evidently laboring under great excitement, rose in the body of the church and said in a distinct voice: "I forbid the banns!"

Rev. Mr. French asked: "Upon what ground do you forbid the banns?" "On the ground that the man is already married!" was the reply.

After pausing for a moment Rev. Mr. French announced the withdrawal of the banns, and the author of the startling incident left the church. After the service she met Rev. Mr. French in the vestry and produced a certificate to the effect that the man Morrin had been married to her sister some years ago, in St. Patrick's church, by the Reverend Father Quinlivan.

Russia—Moving her Troops to the Frontier—Chinese Takiug Precautions.

LONDON, August 13.—A despatch to the News from Odessa says that Russian troops are being rapidly moved from Turkestan to the Afghan frontier. The Chronicle's Odessa correspondent says that Ishak Khan and his son, Ismail, pretenders to the Afghan throne have taken refuge at Samarkand, and with 200 adherents all are receiving handsome allowances from the Russian treasury and are actively intriguing against the present ruler of Afghanistan. The Daily Telegraph says: "It is understood that Lord Rosebery will not join the new Cabinet should this prove true. Lord Kimberley will probably accept the foreign portfolio with the leadership of the House of Lords."

LONDON August 12.—A special from Tientsin says: "The extreme gravity of the Pamir question is beginning to be recognized here. A force of infantry and horsemen have been ordered to proceed from Kashgar to Rankue in the Chinese province of Sarikol."

LONDON, August 13.—The Simla correspondent of the Times says:—"A sign of the anti-English feeling in Russia is that all Hindoos have been ordered to quit Turkestan within six months. Many bankers and traders who have been settled for generations in Bokhara, Samarcand and elsewhere have thus been virtually ruined. Fresh centres of disturbance have appeared in Afghan and Turkestan, probably due to emissaries of the Russian Government."

SIMLA, August 12.—Another collision has occurred on the Nazareth Pamir between the Afghans and Russians. No particulars have been received.

Lotteries Must Go.

Premier DeBoucherville has spoken against all lotteries, including the Provincial one. A deputation from St. Jean Baptiste Society, consisting of Ald. Rolland, Ald. Harteau, and Mr. L. O. David, waited on the Provincial Cabinet yesterday afternoon in reference to the Province of Quebec lottery. The deputation was anxious to ascertain what the Government's intention was in regard to the lottery question. Premier DeBoucherville spoke very strongly on the subject. He frankly informed the deputation that he was, and always had been, strongly opposed to lotteries of all kinds and in whatever shape they were presented to the public. He sympathized with the St. Jean Baptiste Society in its efforts to raise money for the completion of the Monument National, but even that sympathy would not permit him to give the deputation any hope that the Government would allow the Province of Quebec lottery to exist. It would have to go, so would every lottery in the Province. The Government had agreed on that. However as the society was placed in a peculiar position the premier said he would for the present allow the lottery to be continued for a short time in order to give the society a chance of finding some other better means by which to raise money to pay for the monument. The deputation will report the result of the conference with the Government at an early meeting of the Society.

Capture of the Man Who Escaped When Officer Steadman Was Shot.

ST. JOHN, Aug. 12.—Ten days ago the Moncton police surrounded a house containing two supposed burglars, one of whom escaped, while Officer Steadman, with a fatal bullet in his heart, held the other till help came. Steadman died on the spot and ever since then diligent search has been kept up for the missing man Jim. Yesterday a man named Carroll of Pictou came to Moncton and offered his service to the police. He proceeded to-day to Kent county in disguise with a companion pretending to be surveying railway ties. They got trace of their man, found where he had stolen a hat and boots, and finally brought up at a cottage to make enquiries, when, looking in, he saw his man sitting not five feet away. Carroll accosted him suddenly, and was quick enough to catch the hand of his prisoner when the latter had half pulled a revolver from his hip pocket. In an instant he had knocked his man down, hustled him out of the house and handcuffed him. The prisoner admits that he was in the Moncton affair, and says he fired four shots there. He declares that Carroll is the quickest man he has met yet, and that he would have been a dead man if he had been a second slower.

The Berlin burglars have been arrested at Galt.
