SUNDAY READING.

THE SPIRITUAL RAILWAY.

late Mrs. Emeline Tooker in 1864, were pshaw! what is the matter with you? of Highland avenue, among the contents I suppose you read your Bible three times of a secretary:

The line to Heaven by Christ was made With Heavenly truth the rails are laid; From earth to Heaven the line extends-To life eternal, where it ends.

Repentance is the station then Where passengers are taken in; No fee for them is there to pay, For Jesus is himself the way.

The Bible then is engineer,

Through tunnels dark and dreary here It does the way to glory steer.

God's love the fire, His truth the steam Which draws the engine and the train; All you who would to glory ride Must come to Christ, in Him abide.

The first and second and third class, Repentance, faith and holiness You must the way to glory gain, Or you with Christ will never reign.

Come, then, poor sinners, now's the time At any place along the line; If you repent and turn, from sin, The train will stop and take you in.

Model Daughters

Young women make a big blunder if they do not learn to take care of a home. It is a grevious, social and moral wrong, It remarks a thoughtful writer in the Labor Tribune, when girls are brought up helpless in household life. How often we see a mother busily engaged in domestic duties like a slave, in order that the girl may enjoy every luxury and do nothing; indeed many hardly let their daughters soil their hands. That evening he went out looking for a lodging place; he soon found one; he sent to the depot for his trunk ; he took it to his room, began to unpack it, and when he came to his Bible he remembered what the clerks at the store had said, and he thought, "I won't need that," and Though it points the way to Heaven so he put it down in the bottom of his trunk. There it remained for six months. Meanwhile he was getting weak morally. He began to engage in the unholy conversation of the clerks, to enjoy their vile stories and laugh at their evil jokes. He gradually, though perhaps unconsciously, was forsaking his Saviour and taking sides with Satan. His associates were aware of it and they say to him, "Do you still read your Bible?" "No," replied; "I have given that up; there is nothing in it." "Well," they say, "You are ready to go out with us now, are you not ?" "Yes," said he, I'll be glad to go." It has often been wondered what becomes of the pins that are lost, but it is hard to say. There are fourteen distinct operations in making a pin, and lots of trouble attached to the process. Pins are made of brass, and then tinned and blanched, and millions of them are manufactured daily. As a pin BAPTIST, Cambridge Street.-Rev. W. Like matches, they are little things and not thought much of; but when you need a pin or a match, and there is none to be found they play in daily life.

Overeating Versus Overwork.

An abuse that tends to the injury of brain workers is excessive eating. A St. Paul's (Church of England) Russell writer in the Medical Mirror recalls to mind several active brain workers who suddenly broke down, and fancied that it was due to brain fatigue, when, as a matter of fact, it was due to overstuffing | ST of their stomachs. The furnace connected with mental machinery became clogged up with ashes and carbon in various shapes and forms, and as a result, disease came, and, before the cases were fully appreci- Y. ated, a demoralized condition of the nervous system was manifested, and they laid the flattering unction to their souls that they had indulged in mental overwork.
