When the excitement of the presidential election will have subsided, and the better sense of the American people will again have asserted itself, we feel confident that the folly of the present movement will give place to a more reasonable and fairer treatment of their neighbors. The American mind, so keen for business and the main chance, will find little satisfaction in an attempt to injure Canada at great financial loss to themselves. The blustering element will also have earned what it hankers after, a cheap reputation without any personal risk whatever. The retaliation message, however, good to our own people. It has taught Christie at Brandon, while being floated us that in spite of our political squabbles, the loyalty of the two great political parties may be safely relied upon in the hour of danger. The truly patriotic attitude of the Toronto strangled his baby sister aged 13 months. Globe at the present juncture, towards the politicians of the Laurier stamp, is The E. & G. N. Co.'s Boats to Go into the best possible guarantee that the people of Canada will remain true to themselves and to the Empire when occasion calls for it. The outspoken utterances of the leading British journals of all shades of opinion is an assurance that the advantage of British connection is still more than a name. But perhaps the most valuable lesson which the past few weeks has taught the people of Canada is the importance, no matter how friendly their relations with the outside world may be, of being placed in a position of thorough independence. The value of our great railway and canal systems, about the immense cost and the rapid construction of which there has been so much discussion cannot now be a matter of doubt. To learn to appreciate in a day, as it were, what has taken almost a quarter of a century, amidst the fiercest controversy and immense outlay to complete, is a satisfaction to the people of Canada well worth the anxiety of the past few weeks. It cannot fail to be productive of healthy national spirit, -the conviction about $95,000 by a system of fraudulent forced upon us by the course of President Cleveland, that those who bave controlled the destinies of the Dominion since Confederation have been, with all their failures and shortcomings, guided by far-sighted statesmanship and a proper regard for the safety and dignity of their country.
