

FLEETWOOD.

Special to the WATCHMAN. We have this week to chronicle the demise of one of the old residents of this place. Mr. William Armstrong, who has been living here for a number of years died on Friday. He has been ill for a long time, and his demise was daily looked for. He was about eighty years of age. He passed away quietly, and was buried on Sunday in St. Mary's burying ground. The funeral was a large one.

ROSEDALE.

Special to the WATCHMAN. A very pleasing event took place on Wednesday last at the residence of Mr. John Reynolds, Oak Lodge, being the marriage of his only daughter Miss Ada, to Mr. R. P. Dalgleish, merchant of Dalover. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Logan of Fenelon Falls. The bride who is one of our most estimable and amiable young ladies, was the recipient of many handsome and costly presents. The happy couple left on the morning train from Lindsay on a tour to Toronto and other parts. We wish them a long life of happiness and prosperity.

BURNT RIVER.

Special to the WATCHMAN. By the appearance of the chimneys on the church there is some chance of having it finished before the snow flies. Mr. J. Thorn got his wrist broken, and Mr. R. True got his arm broken a few days ago, but we are glad to state that both are doing well.

Our hunters are having great sport. Mr. J. Brislin brought home two nice deers a few days ago and Mr. James Suddaby a fine buck and Mr. J. Windrim did not return without one. There is game here, if only looked after.

Commencing on the 1st of November, the mail service will be twice daily, at this office.

KINMOUNT

Special to the WATCHMAN. THRESHING.—The farmers are about through with their threshing around here. Mr. Fred Dettman has been winding it up along the Monck road west of this place. The farmers speak very highly of Fred, as a man who will do a good day's work, and do his work well.

By the way, we heard some time since that one of our council men who resides on Monck road was going to take a party of the second part to help council him in his domestic affairs, in fact we saw him congratulated two or three times only a short time ago, but alas, the congratulation was too premature. He still enjoys singles blessedness.

A disastrous fire again visited Kinmount on Monday last. This time the saw mill owned and run by C. J. Smith, situated about two miles up Burnt River, fell a prey to the flames. The mill, storehouse, boarding house, supply store, 2,000 cords of wood and 20,000 ties were consumed. The estimated loss is about $12,000. The insurance is not yet known. This fire was undoubtedly an incendiary one, and the fire was started in several different places.

IRELAND.

The finances of the Irish National League are in a critical condition.

The Admiralty has decided to construct a Government dock yard at Belfast.

The Pope yesterday gave a lengthy audience to Archbishop Croke, of Cashel, Ireland.

The corporation of Sligo have agreed to offer the freedom of the borough to Messrs O'Brien and Dillon.

The British Government has advanced £400,000 to the Midland Great Western Railway to build a road from Galway to the distressed districts.

In response to a letter from Mr. W. P. Byles, of Bradford, suggesting an English fund to help the Irish people, Mr. J. Brunner, M. P., has telegraphed to Mr. Byles as follows: "Sympathize with you thoroughly; will give £1000."

The annual October fair of Ballinasloe, which is the largest held in Ireland and is still a test of the market value of agricultural stock, although its importance has for many years been declining, commenced on October 6. Increased interest is felt in the fair this year in consequence of the downward bearing of prices for some time and the expected pressure of increased competition from abroad.

Judge Curran, addressing the Grand Jury at Killarney Quarter Sessions Oct. 6 congratulated them on the great improvement existing in the district. In the corresponding quarter of last year there were fourteen offences reported, nearly all of a serious matter. During the present quarter there was only seven offences, many of them being of the ordinary character. This was very satisfactory, especially seeing that boycotting had disappeared from the district. He trusted he was no false prophet when he said prosperous times were sure to follow.

A statement of the Catholic Archbishop of Armagh, at a demonstration of the Young Ireland Society, Dundalk, on October 7, has caused a sensation in Nationalist circles in Belfast. Conveying a vote of thanks to Mr. Harrison, M. P., his Grace said that there were Catholic Orangemen, and that most of the misrepresentations causing disunion among Irishmen came from them. Indeed there were more bitter enemies of Home Rule and of the Nationalist movement amongst the Catholics themselves than among the Protestant Orangemen.

At a meeting held recently at Peterboro, at which Rev. Father Rudkins presided, a Catholic association or club was set on foot. It will be a social organization, and rooms equipped with pr. per amusement and means for recreation will be provided. It will be organized on a joint stock basis, and $300 has been subscribed. The success of the project is assured.

Blackmailers Arrested.

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 27.—A man and wife named Winburn have been jailed here on a charge of blackmail. It appears the woman purchased an organ from J. Curtin and when he called to collect payment talked loosely. A few days later her husband called on Curtin, accused him of having committed an indecent assault upon his wife, and said that unless the matter were settled he would make it hot for him. Curtin placed the matter in the hands of the chief of police. A plan was laid for entrapping the couple into an open admission and last night, under the impression that Curtin was going to yield to their demands, they visited his place of business. In the meantime the chief and two other witnesses occupied positions behind some organs where they could overhear all that transpired. The husband said he would take a certain piano in the store and two hundred dollars in cash to settle. He further said that he wanted to settle the matter right and would give Mr. Curtin writings that no further claim would be made. At this juncture the chief of police came to the front and arrested both Winburn and his wife. The woman tried to make a bolt, but was prevented and both were placed in the cells. Since the arrest was made the authorities have heard of a number of other blackmailing operations in which this couple have figured, some of them against prominent citizens, and it is not improbable that some of them may be called upon to give evidence, in which case some startling developments may be anticipated.
