The cooperation of all is cordially desired, and a good representation is strongly urged.
The ninth annual provincial convention of the Ontario Christian Endeavor Union opened at St. Thomas on Wednesday of last week. The president, Mr. E. A. Handy, B.A., of Lindsay, delivered his annual address which dealt chiefly with the responsibilities of a federation of the Young People's Societies. He declared that the Christian Endeavor movement had passed the experimental stage, and the great question to be answered was "What shall the next step be?" The answer appeared to him to be federation. He believed the Ontario Christian Endeavor League, E. P. U., and the St. Andrew's Brotherhood could with the greatest possible advantage come into federation. The Ontario Educational Association met at the annual meeting of the Young People's Societies.

The vaults of the Dominion bank at Lindsay have been fitted with one of Sargent & Greenleaf's time-locks, Mr. W. McBride of the Gale Safe Works having placed it in position last week. These locks afford almost absolute protection, and we understand every agency of this wealthy banking institution will be supplied with them.
Farmers are very busy at the present time taking up and housing the root crops, and as a result business has been somewhat quiet in the town for several days past. In another week or two this will be all changed, and they—along with their wives and daughters—will be out to visit Lindsay and make large purchases for the coming winter.
A year ago Mr. Wm. Corneil of South Ops sold several fine Shropshire ram heads to a western buyer who was so well pleased with the animals that a few days ago Mr. Corneil shipped him six more. The price paid was very satisfactory. There is a growing demand among farmers across the province for well-bred Canadian sheep, and our farmers can have almost their own price for the right kind of animals.
It is understood that Judge Wood of Perth has formally sent in his resignation to the minister of justice, with an application for a retiring allowance. It is believed the application will be accepted and the allowance granted. Among the candidates for the judgeship are: Mr. John E. Harding, J.C. of Stratford; Mr. J. A. Barron, J.C. of Lindsay; and Mr. Frank Angus of Toronto.

Their new advt. will be found in this issue.
Mr. Wm. Irwin, local agent for the G. V. Green pump works of Peterboro, also handles the celebrated Bradford and Steel Windmills, and has recently placed several in this district. Manvers, an enterprising farmer, who is well pleased with his investment.
Mr. E. L. Siple of Toronto, an experienced hotelman, has purchased the well-known Veitch House, Lindsay, and took possession yesterday. In a few days painters and paper-hangers will be placed to work, and the hotel will also be newly furnished throughout. This is one of the best hotel stands in town, and it is Mr. Siple's intention to leave nothing undone to maintain the high reputation of this well-known house.
Chief Bell and Constable Reeves had the greatest three-of-a-kind in the coop on Tuesday evening that has graced their institution for some time. George, "the hatter," Hugh McPherson, the lightning window sign artist, and Sandy Ross, the well-known tramp modeler, were the boys who gave the lecture which frightened them so badly that they skipped the town. Even "pep-leg" McDonald, the lead pencil vendor, took the hint and joined the procession for the Klondyke.
The annual business meeting of the Lindsay curling club was held Monday evening at the club rooms, some sixty members being present. Considerable important business was transacted. The officers for the ensuing year are: Geo. McHugh, M.P., patron; F. Knowlson, president; M. W. Kennedy, vice-president; J. C. Harstone, secretary; J. D. Flavelle, treasurer; Rev. J. W. Macmillan and Rev. R. H. O'Malley, chaplains; Messrs. J. D. Flavelle and Wm. Needer were appointed representatives to the Ontario Curling Association, and Messrs. J. H. Hurt and J. W. Greer representatives to the Midland Curling Association. Twenty new members were proposed and accepted.
A very disastrous fire occurred last Saturday evening on the farm of Mr. Jacob L. Hart, Fleetwood, Manvers township. He was having his grain threshed by Mr. Robt. Calvin with a steam threshing machine. They had only been threshing about a couple of hours when smoke was detected, and in a very few minutes the barns were in a solid mass of flames, the men barely escaping unharmed. The season's crop of two hundred acres together with some grain left over from last year, nine fat hogs, one sheep, a calf, and all the implements, wagons, sleighs, etc. were consumed in the fire. There was a small insurance. Mr. Hart has a large number of live stock, and he is left without any feed for them, with the exception of his corn and roots. The neighborhood extends its sympathy to him in his great loss.
At the recent Central fair in Lindsay a large number of good quality pumps were made on the spot. These pumps are being placed all over this and adjoining counties, replacing other makes that have been in use for years past, and in all cases are giving the best of satisfaction. They have proved that they are suitable for all wells, no matter what depth. Their lasting qualities cannot be excelled, being made from the choicest selected timber, thoroughly seasoned, and put to suit the times. The local agent, Mr. Wm. Irwin, whose shops are a few doors south of THE WATCHMAN office, William-st., is kept constantly busy filling orders. If you should need a new pump this fall, or are in any way dissatisfied with your present one, consult Mr. Irwin and see what he can do for you.

A party of young men is being organized in town to go to British Columbia in the spring. Messrs. James Miller, Leslie Westcott, Ambrose Mosley are moving in the matter. It is evident that the Pacific province and adjacent territory is on the eve of an unusual boom, and golden opportunities will be presented to men with brains from prospecting in the historic range of the lamented Horace Greeley. THE WATCHMAN repeats the suggestion, "Go west, young man, go west," a fortune there awaits you.
In these last days of the season at Sturgeon Point, when only a few cottagers remain, almost any visitor is welcome; yet there are limits to this. A couple of our young men were batching it over Sunday recently and in the evening while busy washing the supper dishes an animal's head appeared at the open door. One of them supposing it to be a dog venturing a random kick which landed the unlucky intruder in the woods. In a moment the density of the atmosphere led him to pine that his unerring extremity had caught the short ribs of one of those fragrant denizens known as the polecat. In the convention of some year in the near future, the proximate ether would probably, disclosed the fact that a mother and kitten of the above variety had essayed to climb and roused the wrath of our hasty townsman who was so sore mourner at the burial of his Sunday trousers and best pair of boots.
An instructive evening was spent by those who attended the meeting of the Local Union of the Young People's Societies held in the Baptist church on Monday evening last. After the opening song, a half hour was spent in musical offerings to which Miss Cornell and various members of the church choir rendered various selections, and Miss Prior contributed a recitation. Mr. Hardy, who has just returned from presiding at the St. Thomas provincial convention, gave an enthusiastic report of the gatherings there, and suggested that Lindsay Endeavorers invite the convention of some year in the near future. Mr. McIntosh of Allandale delivered an excellent address, taking as his subject, "Benahia, a man of Endeavor." He first outlined the great accomplishments of Benahia, and then turned to the further triumphs of men of action. The explicit language of the speaker, and his forceful references to secular and literary texts and characters made the address an especially strong one. Mr. McIntosh will be welcomed to Lindsay again. After a hymn and prayer by Rev. McFarlane, the meeting dispersed.

Church Notes.
Rev. Mr. McKay of Norval, formerly stationed at Cambray, will occupy the pulpit of St. Andrew's church next Sabbath, morning and evening, during the absence of the pastor, who will conduct anniversary services at Georgetown.
Last Sunday evening Rev. J. W. Macmillan, B.A., of St. Andrew's, preached the final in his series of sermons on the ten commandments. His discourses throughout, while not being critical, have embraced the most recent conceptions and interpretations of the ten great statutes. Foremost always was the preacher's avowed purpose of throwing them alongside men's lives and enforcing the necessity of obedience to them. The keynote of the series, above all discussion and explanation, was "Keep the commandments of God." The practical application of each law to his life is not an obscure thing to any man who heard these sermons. Mr. Macmillan announced that in two weeks (24th) he would preach on the relation of Jesus Christ to the ten commandments.
Rev. Dr. Workman of Toronto conducted divine service at the Cambridge-st. Methodist church on Sunday last. In the morning his text was John 4-24, and his subject "Divine Worship." In a scholarly exegesis he set forth the meaning of the leading terms of the passage and then dealt at length with the nature and purpose of worship. Regarding it rather as a habit than an act, he refused to have it separated from the conduct of a life, and insisted that every man who performed his daily work in a proper spirit was in that a worshipper of God. With commanding emphasis he declared the claims of God on man's conduct, reverent, faithful service, apart from which all attempts at worship were but mockery. In the evening his theme was "The Heart Life," based on Prov. 4:23. The term heart as here used means the spring of the moral life. All actions that have moral quality emanate from the heart. All external things become to the individual good or bad as they affect his moral nature. The heart is the laboratory in which good and evil are created. Hence the importance of the command, which with a beautiful literalism the preacher rendered, "Guard thy heart more than any guarded thing, for from it are the outgoings of life." With telling effect illustrations, examples and appeals were eloquently employed in an earnest effort to lead his hearers to a higher life. Dr. Workman's reputation in Germany and America as a classical and Oriental scholar gave great weight to his words and unique pleasure to those who heard him.

The Scarfs are larger and longer than last season and are trimmed with heads and clusters of tails. Almost any form Neckwear is admissible. Storm Collars will be received with much favor.

FUR Fashions!

There are sweeping changes in the shape of Fur Garments this year and the styles are rich; more beautiful and more varied than ever before. Best of all they are convenient too for many of the most fetching designs admit of the utilization of old garments. The advent of Tight Sleeves in Women's Frocks is largely responsible for the radical change in cut of Fur Jackets. Whenever large sleeves are worn the tendency is to wear closely fitting and immediately bodies are made to bag and fall in generous folds. There are many Pretty Styles in Short Jackets and they will be much worn. Many women who have long seal and Persian Lamb Capes are having them made into such garments. A very practical coat for those who do not go in for extreme styles is made with tightly fitting back, a double-breasted box front, buttoning well over on the side.

The Jackets are made 24 inches to 32 inches long, have a large collar. The sleeves on all Fur Coats are much smaller this season.
