DISTRICT NEWS.

MEMORIE

Special to the Watchman. NOTES.—Our fine crop of roots are about all saved. Health of the village excellent. Isaac Fee is erecting a large silo. Dairying together with stock raising is making rapid progress, and our country is thereby becoming more wealthy.

GOOD GUNS.—Wm. Henry claims to have the best breach-loading rifles and ammunition for killing wild cats, black squirrels, ducks and partridge. For reference see the following names: W. Sutherland, Wm. Colvin, Wm. Bradburn, Sam Grandy, George Griffin, Joe Sherwood and many others who never return with empty guns only, but some of above game.

GRAIN.—Our grain markets are exceedingly lively owing to the fine opposition, bringing people in as far distant as twenty miles.

HALLOWEEN.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Barber Adams, north of the village gave a young people a nice hallowe'en party. There was music, games, etc., calculated to keep the young from getting old too soon.

POPULAR.—Two of Lindsay's popular and prominent professionals visited our town, namely, Dr. Walters, dentist, and Mr. I. E. Weidon, barrister. Both these gentlemen are working up a fine amount of business and are considered "good heads."

BAD BOYS.—Complaints are much made for want of protection and order on our streets. Some say we have a constable but the conduct of certain boys who are no credit to their parents, who gather on the street corners Saturday nights and Sunday is abominable.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr. Sam Grandy is having his new house heated by the hydro-therm hot water system. Mr. Johnston's new house is now in the hands of the painter, Mr. Geo. McFadyen of Lindsay.

LITTLE BRITAIN

Special to the Watchman. OBITUARY.—It is with deep sorrow we announce this week the death of a well known resident of Mariposa in the person of Alfred Wallis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wallis, Oskwood. Mr. Wallis has been an indisposed for some time, but being of a cheerful and hopeful disposition kept up to the very last. He passed peacefully away on Tuesday, Oct. 27th. Being a member of the United Order of Workmen, the funeral which took place on Saturday was under their control, and a large number were present to pay their last respects to one of their number. After service in the Methodist church, conducted by Rev. E. B. Cook, his remains were laid in the Methodist cemetery whils a beautiful and touching funeral service was read by the Order of Workmen. Mr. Wallis was highly respected and loved by all who knew him, an evidence of which was seen in the unusual large attendance at the funeral. He leaves a wife and child to mourn his loss besides a number of other relatives. These have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

PERSONALS.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Murphy of Bobcaygeon spent a few days here last week with friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dunn of Bobcaygeon also spent a few days. Mrs. O. Over of Verulam, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wallis, returned home yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Glass of Verulam have been spending a few days in this vicinity.

TYPHOID FEVER.—Typhoid fever has been prevalent here, although owing to the skillful treatment of Dr. Hall we have not had to report any deaths from it. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Western are both doing with it now, but we hope it will not be long before we can report convalescence.

VALENTIA

PERSONALS.—Miss Annie McNeill of Cayuga is at present the guest of numerous friends here. Miss Jennie Bruce has left here on a business trip to Little Britain. Mr. James Pound, a well known dude of this place, but now of Palestine, was here on Sunday. Mr. Wm. Glass, a well-known and up-to-date farmer north of here, and Miss Lillie Graham, one of our college students spent a very enjoyable time with Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Crozier one evening last week.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.—Mr. John D. Ray is quite well thanks. Mrs. A. Mark reports a new bicycle. Ask Tom Suggitt if there are any leads in Ireland. Harry Ponest, a few weeks ago a crown rat and a brainy scribble. Some of our lady bicyclists will soon find themselves serving a sixty day sentence behind a six foot board fence for scorching on our sidewalks. It is said that Henry Carpenter will ask our council to repair the road south of here as far as James Jordan's corner. It is only fair that Harry should have a substantial road for night wheeling. Mr. Wm. Graham is seen scorching on his bike to and from school each day. It is wonderful how his spidery propellers can work the pedals with such velocity. By mutual persuasion some people get to be very industrious at times. If you think it is not true ask Billy Ray if our north ward school teacher is not a whale to pick turpins.

We understand that Annon Mark will ask for tenders for the construction of a new garden gate. Said gate must be guaranteed to stand a human weight of ninety-nine and a hundred and one pounds respectively. A HOT TIME.—Are you coming to our big dinner on Thanksgiving day? If not, why not? That is the day and this is the place where you will find enough to feed your face with and plenty to spare. Every conceivable type of humanity will be here, an eager aggregation of rich and poor, strong and feeble, short and tall, good, bad and indifferent, all sorts and conditions, pretty girls and boys that are swells will all take part in this grand spread. Do not stay at home. If you are married, bring your wife and family; if you ever intend to get married, bring your best girl; or if you are enjoying a bachelor's life, like Jim Casey, Wm. Ray or Billy Howe, we invite you to come and see our old maids. If you don't like their gait they will let you sit on the fences and see them go by.

VICTORIA ROAD

SICK.—Mr. S. Byrnes, late of Lindsay, is slowly recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia. We hope to soon see him with his genial smile able to go around once more. The family of Mr. Richard Hoskin, Norland, are recovering from diphtheria. We regret their having lost a bright girl of nine years, from the dread disease.

HUNTERS.—Messrs. Rice, Hurst, Coulter, Ball and Jackson all of Toron, returned from a successful week's hunting and were entertained by a few of their friends here to an oyster supper at the Victoria hotel, kept by Mr. A. McEvoy, late of Lindsay. The hunters enjoyed themselves very much, and left on following morning for Toronto. We were assured of seeing them again next fall, health permitting.

NEW BUILDING.—Mr. Chirpaw's fine brick store is about completed, and is a credit to himself and to the village. We understand one of our merchants will occupy it on completion.

SCHOOL.—Our genial teacher, Mr. Morris, is promising a treat at Christmas time in the form of a concert. We wish him every success in the same. The school is well attended at present and prosperous, and a unanimous desire seems to prevail in the community to retain Mr. Morris for the ensuing year and many more if it is his desire. We shall be pleased to see him re-engaged, of which we have no doubt.

CATTLE.—The shipping trade in cattle during the past week has been very brisk, and it is to be hoped it may continue so, as so much of the general trade here depends in stock. Very little grain has reached the store houses yet, but with the rising prices in the market, will no doubt soon begin.

CANAL.—A visitor to the canal at the lake will be greeted to a sight worth seeing in the shape of two handsome pairs about completion.

This portion of the canal is progressing fairly well towards completion, and all would be glad to see the contract for the remaining half being let.

MEETINGS.—The missionary service in the Methodist church was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Butler of Beaver-ton. Quite a large collection was gathered by plate and by subscription for missions. The congregation were well pleased with the rev. gentleman's eloquent address. The temperance meeting was once more, owing to inability of the intended speaker to be present, postponed. This we believe is the third unsuccessful attempt to hear one whom I am sure all would be delighted to listen to.

LIFORD

BANQUET.—The Argue house, that very imposing edifice situated on the south side of Front-st., was the scene of a very imposing gathering last Friday evening. As the object of this meeting was to extend a hearty welcome in the form of a fowl supper to Mr. H. Spencer upon his return from the Northwest, your correspondent was denied admittance. However, he managed to crawl in and see the man in a vacant corner where he had an opportunity of hearing what went on. At the head of the table sat Mr. R. Wilson, who was the chairman of the evening. Ranged on either side were Messrs. H. Spencer, F. Tims, W. Mulligan, E. Staples, F. Staples, A. Wilson, F. Barry, G. Wilson, C. Staples, J. Atkinson, J. Dundas, A. Argue, W. Holloran, H. Lowery, O. Staples and C. Tims; at the foot was seated the portly form of Mr. Geo. Argue. The dish of the evening was roast duck. After ample justice had been meted out to the savory fowl, the toast list was entered upon. As this is a temperance house the toast was drunk to cold tea. Mr. Geo. Argue responded to "Our army, navy and volunteers." He gave a very thrilling account of his adventures while connected with the 35th regiment in the Zulu war, his peroration being something immense. Mr. Wm. Mulligan responded to our "Commercial Interests." He said that a large portion of his life had been occupied in commercial pursuits. He strongly denounced the National Policy and advocated free trade, which he said would afford us a grand market for our bunder twine. The toast our "Railways and Canals" brought Mr. H. Tims to his feet. On rising he said he had been long and honorably connected with a railway, and spoke of his business as one which had brought much comfort and happiness to our village. He then gave a part of a former speech and referred to his own experience in the neighborhood, some of which caused his hearers to weep copiously. Then came the toast of the evening "The Ladies," with which the names of Messrs. E. Staples and W. Holloran were coupled. Mr. Staples said: Mr chairman, gentlemen,—It is with unalloyed pleasure that I arise this evening to respond to this toast, yet I feel it a somewhat difficult task to express all that lies within my breast (visible weeping from Mr. J. Holloran), but what grander subject is there than woman (loud applause); she ministers us in our difficulties, she mourns with us in our sorrows, and by her kind sympathy robs them of half their bitterness; she lightens our darkest hours, and should she not then command our praise (rapturous applause); and yet, sometimes, she deceives us. Here Mr. Staples broke down, and his whole frame shook with emotion while the rest of the company looked on in deep sympathy. Mr. Staples resumed his seat. Then Mr. Holloran rose to his feet and the room rang with loud and prolonged applause. He said: Mr. chairman, gentlemen,—After the very able speech that Mr. Staples has delivered, it is almost impossible for me to say anything that will add to the well merited praise that has been bestowed upon the fair sex. However, in the short, but very happy acquaintance that I have had with the girls they have not yet even disappointed me. I indeed have travelled very extensively, gentlemen, and have met with many of the subjects of this toast, but I can truthfully and from my heart say with the poet, Lifford girls for me from the one in the east to the one so dear in the west. The rest of Mr. Holloran's speech was taken up by personal reminiscences, which though very interesting to those present, would not, I think, interest your readers. The chairman then arose and after expressing his great fullness (which was not at all doubted), regretted that the supply of ducks was exhausted, as Mr. Lowery had been out in the kitchen during the early part of the speech-making, and as a result the ducks disappeared. However he expressed his thanks to those present for their kind attention and wished them success and prosperity in like oratorical efforts. Your reporter then slipped down the back stairway and fled for his life.

LOCALS.—Mr. A. Argue is erecting a new store. Mr. W. Mills took possession of his new blacksmith shop on Tuesday. Most of farmers have their roots housed. Mr. E. Weatherly is able to be around again after an attack of rheumatism. Mr. Thos. Stinson has removed to Cartwright. Mr. A. Hoskins has removed to Mr. Atkinson's house. A couple of weddings expected soon.

SHAREHOLDERS' MEETING

THE VICTORIA COUNTY CREAMERY

A MEETING OF THE SHAREHOLDERS-TENDERS TO BE INVITED.

A meeting of the shareholders of the proposed county creamery was held in the council chamber, on Saturday last. In the absence of the president, Mr. W. Flavell, Mr. D. Scully took the chair.

Mr. Geo. Lytle then briefly explained (that there was some $2000 of stock already subscribed, and the amount could easily be increased an additional $1000 if it was deemed necessary. The meeting had been called for the purpose of considering the wisdom of proceeding with the scheme this fall, and getting our farmers initiated into right lines for winter dairying. The season was too far advanced to erect a building, but very suitable premises could be secured at a small rental, right in the centre of the town. It was now in order for those present to consider and decide whether it was best to proceed along these lines or give up the proposed scheme for this season.

Mr. Stonehouse was then called upon and explained that the dairying issue was a live one, not only in this county, but all over Canada. He pointed out what co-operation had done in Denmark, where a few years ago their reputation in dairying was no better than Canada. He maintained that the only way the Canadian farmer could hope to compete with the farmers of Denmark, Ireland, Australia and other countries was by the adoption of the co-operative plan and the introduction of the separator. He had inspected the proposed building and considered it was all right. It would be a mistake to drop the scheme. They should break the ice this year and then they would have the farmers on the right line next year. It would be just as difficult to introduce the scheme of seasons as they would be year behind. In reply to an enquiry he explained how the farmers could haul their own milk and thus keep down the expenses. Creaming stations were all right if the cost of delivery was not too high. He manufactured butter last year round and had sold his butter from 15 cents to 23 cents per pound. By using a separator he was able to extract all the butter fat and in this way secured more than enough extra to pay for the cost of manufacture. The St. Mary's creamery had been conducted at a loss until the months of April and May, when they turned out a very large quantity of butter and were able to declare a 10 per cent dividend.

Acting Mayor Smyth as a resident would be glad to see the factory go on. There should be no difficulty in securing the stock, and he felt that the council would give them exemption. He referred to a new Radiator separator, that was being placed on the market.

Mr. Moore of Peterboro stated that co-operative dairying was what the farmers should go in for—there was money in it. Two young men whom he knew very well had invested $1500 in a plant as a speculation, after looking into the business thoroughly. The business was practically the same as the cheese business. The time was not far distant when there would not be a sale for a pound of dairy butter. He bought dairy butter at 12 cents that he had to sell for 10 cents. He was now handling the output of three creameries and could not supply the demand for it.

Mr. Scully wished the shareholders to express their views as to the wisdom of proceeding at once. He favored going ahead, and felt that the farmers and shareholders who were not present would endorse their view of the case. The shareholders would hardly expect a profit, but the patrons would make money from the start.

Mr. Andrew Robertson would not like to decide definitely in the absence of so many stockholders, but he thought they should go ahead with the scheme.

Capt. Hunter favored an immediate start and felt that the absent shareholders would endorse them.

Mr. E. Thurston would like to see the factory go ahead. He followed the dees setting system and sold his butter from 15 cents to 20 cents in Toronto. What was wanted was to show the farmers that there was money in it. Mr. Lytle had addressed a meeting at his factory and put the case very fairly indeed. His greatest fear was as to the milk supply.

Mr. Stonehouse enquired if Mr. Thurston tried the Babcock test on his skim milk and if he used ice. At Beaver-ton he had conducted a number of tests, and found that they were losing about 25 per cent of butter fat in skimming alone. With the separator they secured more than enough additional to pay for the manufacture, and all off one grade. Then another important point was that they not only received the highest price for creamery butter, but they received it in cash. If the shareholders did not make money the first year or two the patrons would. They should go ahead at once.

Mr. Lytle again addressed the meeting, and pointed out that while Mr. Thurston's experience as a cheese-maker enabled him to make the very most out of his milk in the winter season, they all knew that the same care and skill was not employed in the manufacture of the great bulk of our dairy butter. He also referred the farmers to the market reports in the daily papers to show them that if there was money in butter making it must be in the creamery article, as it sold the year round at about five cents more than dry butter. Then as to the export trade, we all know that Canadian dairy butter has not a reputation abroad. The Canadian standard has been elevated the last two years by shipments of Canadian creamery to Great Britain. He did not wish to force the farmers into any enterprise against their own judgment, but he thought that they would make a mistake if they lost sight of the present opportunity. There was already $1350 subscribed by residents of Lindsay, who took stock simply to encourage the enterprise, and not as an investment. This amount alone would almost supply the plant and was practically a bonus. He pointed out that the season was pretty well advanced, and they should decide one way or the other at once.

Mr. Geo. Payne also spoke along the line of immediate action and volunteered all the assistance in his power.

Mr. John Duke related his experience in the Genesee Valley, where all the small factories were merged into one large concern and the farmers were all prosperous. He made a good point by showing that where the butter was controlled by creameries they could control to a certain degree the price. He also showed the advantages to the stock by the increased care in housing and feeding them.

Some little time was then taken up in an informal discussion, when a motion was passed appointing Messrs. John Brown, George Payne, James Robertson, Andrew Robertson, Capt. Hunter and Geo. Lytle a committee to ask for tenders and to secure definite knowledge as to the probable milk supply.

The meeting then adjourned for two weeks.

FENELON FALLS

FESTIVAL.—The Fenelon Falls Methodist church harvest home festival Wednesday evening of last week, was a great success. Over $100 was realized. Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, Lindsay, occupied the chair, and the fowl supper served by the ladies was all that could be desired. The lecture given by Rev. Dr. Cade of Millbrook on "The Measure of a Man" was much enjoyed by all. The sermons on the previous Sabbath evening, preached by Rev. L. Phelps of Oakwood, were listened to by large congregations with pleasure and profit.

DENTISTRY.—Dr. F. A. Walters, dentist, of Lindsay, will be at the Townhouse, Fenelon Falls, on Saturday next, Nov. 8th. All those requiring teeth extracted, filled or new sets inserted, should keep the date in mind and call early.

SHIPPING.—Messrs. McDougall, Brandon and Austin of Fenelon Falls, are hustling the live stock out of the north country these days. Last week they shipped no less than ten cars of cattle to the Buffalo market.
