Now this average increase in the whole ($2108 85) is partly accounted for in those two divisions of magistrates, and constables and jury, amounting yearly to $1250 72; leaving a balance of $858 13, which may in good part be attributed to increased payments to indigent crewn witnesses during the latter per od of eight years. The GREAT LEAK is in the matters pointed out above, and surely it is time to cease hoping for a reduction from a system during which these increases have taken place, and try a return to the less costly and at least equally beneficial one heretofore existing. I shall have a word to say shortly about prosecutions under "Liquor Laws," and show that these would probably be as satisfactorily dealt with under the old system as under the CITIZEN.

NARROW VERSUS WIDE TIRES. -There is a French adage which says: "That wagons should make that road and not that rut," There is a lot of sound philosophy in this phrase. Very many roads to day are injuried by heavy team. ing with narrow tires. Narrow tires cau e ruts in the roadway which retain moisture. This is destructive to the road, especially with a frost. On the other hand wide tires make a dirt road better and help to preserve a stone or gravel way. Repeated experiments with dynamometers, and in general practice, have shown that the haul with wide tires under most conditions is easier than with narrow ones. Their use is especially Lindsay Woollen Mills. advantageous for all kinds of teaming on the farm. By an ordinance the city of Rochester, N.Y., has effected a complete change to wide-tire wagons, which are now approved by teamsters and owners, and are considered beneficial to the streets.
