An Important Announcement. We desire to call the personal and immediate attention of each and every one of our readers to the exceptional terms upon which we are prepared to offer the representative journal of agriculture, Farm and Home, in connection with this paper.

Local and General. C. HUGHAN & Co., Lindsay.—By Common glue, pressed an inch or two into the soil in flower pots, is said to be one of the best of fertilizers.

Local and General. The steamer Sunbeam of Lakefield, and which occasionally visits Lindsay, will be thoroughly overhauled this winter and put in top order for the Stoney Lake excursion business next season.

Local and General. The dangerous practice of snowballing on the front streets has been indulged in this winter more than ever. If not suppressed by the police serious damage or accidents will be the result.

Local and General. A few weeks ago a most unusual sight was witnessed between Colborne and Brighton, when a flock of 600 turkeys were driven the distance of eight miles by parties who had bought them down east.

Local and General. The other evening as a north ward family were about to retire for the night cries of distress were heard in the kitchen, and upon investigation it was discovered that a favorite cat which had made its bed in the oven of the cook's stove, being attracted there by the warmth, had been literally roasted alive, expiring a moment after the oven door was opened.

Local and General. Instructions have recently been issued by the post office department to a number of post offices throughout the country, to the effect that the revenue stamps derived from lock-boxes to be renitiled to the department. The order affects all large commission offices located in government buildings, in which the government have put in these boxes, and it is considered by the department that the revenues derived from these should revert to the crown.

LOCAL OPTION OR LICENSE. Continued from page 1. homes of refuge die; throw open the goals and penitentiaries; disband all temperance organizations; call back the missionaries of the Cross; dry up the fountains of benevolence and rivers of sympathy, and close our ears to the wails of the drunkard's wife and child, who are beseeching us to aid in damping up the river of death, whose burning billows have rolled desolation over so many once happy homes.

Local Option or License. I have read; of the road that swept off the old world; of the road that rolled over the cities of the plain; of the destruction of Pharaoh and Sennedcherib's hosts; of that molten lava that buried Herculaneum and Pompeii under the burning fluid; of the earthquake, the famine and battle field covered with human gore, and prayed God to deliver me from such calamities; but here is a plague that waleth in darkness and wasteth at noonday, a fountain troubled, not by the angel of mercy, but the angel of death.

Local Option or License. I should be taking up my march for the poor house, the goal, the mad-house, and the botchery pit. Let me here insert a plea for distillers and victuallers. If you will license us to make and sell, we will pay into the revenue millions of dollars annually and employ a vast multitude of constables, policemen, lawyers, sheriffs, physicians, unlicensors, and grave diggers; but if you close up these fountains, the streams of revenue will be dried; taxes increased, multitudes will be turned out of employment, poor houses, goals and asylums will be emptied and we ourselves reduced to poverty.
