

The Mill Wheel.

"And shall you come back?" she said, Where she stood by his side in the porch rose-covered.
Up in the jasmine over her head A peacock butterfly poised and hovered; And ever through hush of the languid noon They heard the beat of the ceaseless drum.
The mill stream fretting, foaming, churning—The mill wheel plashing, droning, turning.

He was her first, and her dear, dear lover, As far removed as the sun above her;
Much she worshipped, and little knew,
With raptures many and tears a few.
Ah, the change that his coming wrought her!
He found her merely a child at play,
She was only the miller's daughter;
Now it was time he should turn away—Time he should looser her tender hand, Time she should tremble, and understand;
Would the soaring butterfly wing him down To alight on the printed flowers of her gown?

"Shall you remember the afternoons We have lived," he said, "by the stream together,
When the sweetness of a hundred Junes Seemed gathered up in the summer weather?
The day that it rained, and we chose to clamber And shelter ourselves in the great mill chamber?
The talk we talked 'mid the bags of flour, While we waited there for the end of the shower.
With up above us the roll of thunder, And the roar of the mill wheel booming under?
The day that we walked through the soft hay stubble, Faint with the scent of the grasses dead?"
She lifted eyes of innocent trouble;
"Nay, how can I forget?" she said, Not a sound in the hush they heard,
Not a breath through the silence stirred,
But the hum of the mill wheel, never stopping,
And the play of the water, dropping, dropping.

SCHOOLS AND SCHOOLMASTERS.

Choice Language at a Board Meeting.
The school estimates for the city of Brantford for the current year are $15,100.
Of this sum, $13,000 will have to be raised by taxation.

When the school expenditure of London was under discussion by the Finance Committee of the Council, Ald. Minihnick stated that the city's educational system was costing too much altogether. Ald.
Birrell said it was almost impossible now to get female domestic servants, the time of girls being so much taken up with studying French and piano-playing. Mayor Meredith was of the same opinion.

Discipline among school officials is at a low ebb in London East. The Chairman having stated that the Secretary had "hawked certain letters about the streets and made a public exhibition of them," the Secretary denied the allegation, and said he would not submit to such statements being made. "The Chairman," he said, "was too officious, and had too much to say." A member having suggested that certain replies and letters be "couched in as courteous and explanatory a manner as possible," the Secretary took exception to the speaker's "attempting to instruct him as to how he should write a letter." The Chairman rejoined, "Come to order, sir, and address the Board respectfully."

For some years back a Gaelic scholarship of $40 per annum has been in existence in connection with Knox College, which has been voluntarily subscribed by gentlemen in Toronto speaking the Gaelic language.
Efforts are now being made by the Rev.
Principal Cavan to collect a sufficient sum of money which if invested would for the future place the scholarship on a permanent basis.

The following have agreed to give $500 each for five years to Queen's College, viz.: Very Rev. Principal Grant, James Carruthers, of Kingston; Allan Gilmore, of Ottawa, and James Michie, of Toronto.
The following agree to give $250 each for the same period: Chancellor Fleming, A.
Gunn, M.P., and Robert Hay, M.P. Those who give $100 for five years are: G. M.
Macdonnell, B.A., R. V. Rogers, B.A., a Friend, A. Gilmore, jun., A. Allan, A. T.
Drummond, J. R. Booth, Rev. D. M. Gordon, Dr. Charlton. The amount to be raised is $10,000.

TESTING TRAMPS.

A Sure Cure for Vagrancy.

In the report of the combined city charities of Toronto for the past year the principal feature is the advent of the application of the "labor test" to tramps by requiring them to break stone as a condition of receiving relief. The net expense has only been $153, of which $43 is for implements. The result, however, has been most remarkable, as the following figures will show. During the months of January, February and March, 1881, the number of persons who obtained refuge in the House of Industry was 2,942, while an average of 45 persons daily, exclusive of families, were supplied with soup at the kitchen. During the corresponding months in 1882 the number sheltered was only 1,144, while the average number who visited the soup kitchen daily was 20.
While this decrease is due to some extent to the milder weather, and the greater amount of employment, there is no doubt that the labor test has had the effect of keeping away the idle and undeserving.

Murder of a Priest.

A few weeks since the Rev. Abbe Larue, parish priest at Roxton Falls, in Quebec Province, was burned to death in his parsonage, as was believed at the time, by accident. It now appears that the authorities of the district have received information which leads them to believe that the venerable father was murdered for his wealth, and the house subsequently set on fire to cover up the diabolical deed. It was well known in the neighborhood that the aged priest had a large sum of money of his own and belonging to the church in a trunk in his room. After the fire it was discovered that the lock of the trunk had been pried open. The local authorities are trying to unravel the mystery, and believe they have a clue that will bring the guilty parties to justice. The matter has caused great excitement in the locality.

The following will be found a good waterproof cement for fastening sheets of pasteboard together. Good pitch and gutta-percha—about equal parts—are fused together, and to nine parts of this are added three parts of boiled oil and one-fifth part of litharge; continue the heat with stirring until thorough union of the ingredients is effected. This is applied hot, or cooled somewhat, and thinned with a small quantity of benzole or turpentine oil.

Dr. Watt, of Toronto, has received the appointment of medical superintendent of the Royal Cariboo Hospital at Bakerville, British Columbia.

THE VILLAGE FIRE.

Danville Destroyed by the Devouring Elements.

TWO HUNDRED PEOPLE HOMELESS.

A Richmond Station (Que.) despatch, dated Monday night, gives the following particulars of the fire at this village: From Richmond to Danville is 19 miles, and it was necessary to drive the distance that was left of the pretty little town of Danville. It is situated in the valley through which the G. T. R. runs to Quebec, and as the country is of a rolling description nature provides beautiful spots for private dwellings. The scene presented was one of the utmost sadness. Ruins of the finest buildings in the place were all that were left, while in the case of buildings exclusively of wood there was no trace save the nails, the ashes having been blown away to the four winds. The afternoon of Sunday was blustering and cool, with a wind blowing from the northwest. About 4 o'clock fire was discovered coming from the boiler-room of Goodhue's tannery. Messrs.
Cleveland and Stockwell were first on the ground, and soon saw that the whole building was in flames and was likely to go.
The safes were gotten into the open air and the books saved, while the firemen got the hand engine up. The latter did such service as it could, but to no purpose, as the fire quickly took possession of the whole of the tannery building. As already stated, a hurricane was blowing at the time, and sparks flew in all directions one after another, and the buildings on the main street took fire and in half an hour from the time the fire had been noticed the whole town seemed to be in a blaze.
Telegrams were tried to Sherbrooke, Richmond and Island Pond. Being Sunday there was no response from these places, and when Richmond was reached the only satisfaction for the doomed town was the news that their engine was undergoing repairs and could not be made serviceable in time. By 6 o'clock forty or fifty buildings were in flames, and two hundred people were homeless, while, owing to the destruction of the tannery, nearly half a hundred men were thrown out of employment. In the two hours between 4 and 6 o'clock the struggle on the part of the residents to save their goods was a hard one. People did what they could, but the wind was strong and the sparks so thickly spread that while articles of wearing apparel were carried they took fire and had to be abandoned on the roadway in order to save life. To add to the confusion three barrels of gunpowder which had been stored in Stockwell's store exploded with a terrible crash. Shortly afterwards one that had been thrown into a pond near the tannery floated toward some burning debris, took fire and exploded with a terrible noise. It was these explosions doubtless that led to the stories of loss of life having taken place. Fortunately, there was no truth in these rumors, the only lives lost being those of several head of cattle. By 8 o'clock in the evening men had commenced to collect their thoughts to provide shelter for the homeless. Dishonest persons from the surrounding district are charged with stealing from the unfortunate people burned out, instead of helping them. Incredible as this may seem it is vouched for by several gentlemen who were too busy to interfere and put a stop to the rascally business. The total amount of loss must be well over $100,000.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

Telegraphing to be Greatly Facilitated and Simplified.

Mr. S. V. Essick, a Canton (Ohio) gentleman, has invented a telegraphic transmitter, which only needs one pressure of the key to form a letter, whereas the Morse alphabet requires 82 impulses. At the receiving end the message is written out by a modification of the type-writer. The result of this invention is greatly increased rapidity of transmission. The inventions have been tested on wires of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, and it is expected that one wire fitted with the new transmitter and receiver will do the work of three with the instruments in present use, while the liability of error in transmission is very materially lessened.
With the new instruments in use, telegraphy will be much less difficult to learn than now, as any person who can operate a type-writer can telegraph.

A Heavy Action.

An action is pending in the Toronto courts for the recovery by one Codd of about $250,000 from the Manitoba Southwestern Colonization Co. Railway, which Codd alleges to be due him as commission on debentures sold for the company in England, and for expenses, etc. A motion was made yesterday to extend the time for entering a defence, as the manager and directors of the company are hard to find, living in different parts of the Province.
The motion was enlarged.

The London Builder attributes the marvellous durability of mortar in Italy to the fact that the lime remains in a pit covered with water for two years before it is used, whereas in England lime is slaked and used the same day. Most building specifications even require newly slaked lime.

A fisherman's prayer when he put to sea was: "Keep me, O God, my boat is so small, and thy ocean is so wide." That is a suitable prayer for the young beginning their voyage over the sea of life.

At the gate of the cemetery at Avignon, in France, the parents of a child certified to have died of cramp insisted on having the coffin opened to take a last look. The child was found breathing and was expected to be saved.

Browned potatoes are very much liked now when new potatoes in the market render the old ones tasteless. Peel them and steam them until they are tender; then about half or three quarters of an hour before dinner—supposing there is a roast of beef or lamb or a fowl in the dripping-pan in the oven—lay the potatoes under the meat. When they are browned take them out with a skimmer, let them drain, and send them to the table on the platter with the roast.

A LUCKY MISS.

The Green-Eyed Monster Misses a "Mutual Friend" With a Couple of Bullets.

A sensation was created on Yonge street, Toronto, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the deliberate attempt of a semi-intoxicated person to assassinate a well-known merchant. The rash act may probably be accounted for by the following particulars: Alex. Wylie, who would be murderer, is a well-known commercial traveller belonging to Toronto. A few years ago he married a young Toronto girl of professing appearance and rented a house in the west end of the city. Mr. Walker, of Walker, Row & Co., 99 Yonge street, went to board with them. All went well until Wylie began to drink, after which he used to abuse his wife, and was separated from her and went to St. Thomas, she in the meantime keeping house for Mr. Walker.
Yesterday afternoon Wylie, who had been imbibing rather freely, stepped into Walker's store, and after waiting patiently until Mr. Walker had served several waiting customers, he quietly demanded an answer to the question propounded so often, "Where is my wife?" Mr. Walker assured him that he could not let him know, as his (Wylie's) wife did not wish him to know.
Quick as lightning Wylie drew a revolver from his pocket, in which he had been fumbling, and passing his hand around the desk put the muzzle near Walker's temple and fired. With a shout of alarm Walker dodged his head just as the bullet whizzed by, carrying a small portion of skin from the temple.
Walker then rushed down the store, and as he was entering the back shop another bullet grazed his head. He escaped by the back way, and hurrying to the police office, despatched P. C. O'Connell to the scene. The clerks in the store were very much terrified lest Wylie in his passion should shoot at them, but the latter informed Mr. Theobald, one of the clerks, that he only wanted to kill Walker. Meantime the police arrived and took Wylie into custody. He refused to say anything further than that he blamed Walker for his troubles with his wife. The revolver which he used was found to contain four more cartridges.

Canada—Our Country.

At the McGill graduates' dinner the other night the Rev. Dr. Stevenson proposed the toast of "Canada." He was proud to propose this toast. Born as he was on the other side of the Atlantic he was glad now to drop the name of Englishman and to take the name of Canadian. They could be proud of Canada without belittling in the slightest degree any of the other nationalities. He did not wish to speak unkindly of other histories, but we had lights in our history that were like Bayard—men without fear and without reproach. France and England had quarrelled in the past, but they had now shaken hands over the sacred dust of their heroes, and in this Canada of ours the intermingling of these two great nationalities would be of great benefit. There was no exclusive class in Canada—every man had perfect freedom in speech, freedom in life and freedom in the press.

Dr. L. H. Frochette, in reply, said it was natural that the toast of "Canada," having been proposed in English, should be responded to in French, since our country had an immense advantage in the rare good fortune of having been discovered, peopled, inherited and developed by two of the greatest nations in the world—the Anglo-Saxon and the French. He had faith in the destiny of his country, especially when he looked upon such institutions as McGill University, which had sprung from her soil, and were fostered under the banner of a glorious past and in the hope of a great future.

Dynamite in an Ice Wagon.

A Rochester despatch says: Wm. Quinn and James Doyle, young Irishmen of the ninth ward, have been arrested, charged with exploding a dynamite bomb on Lyell street, in this city, at 8 o'clock last evening. By the light of matches the bomb was carefully placed in an ice wagon.
Its handlers retired several rods and threw stones at it, finally hitting and exploding it.
There was a shocking report heard for a mile or two. The wagon was blown to atoms and the front was blown from a grocery store adjacent. Several children and two adults say they witnessed the entire proceedings and fully identify Quinn and Doyle as the perpetrators, though the latter have denied it. They pleaded not guilty and have been held on bail for examination. The police are looking for five similar dynamite bombs, said to be in the possession of Doyle and Quinn. No motive for their dangerous proceedings is yet assigned.

Potter Palmer, the Chicago millionaire, began life before the war as the keeper of a country store in the little village of Oneida, in Illinois. He sold out and removed to Michigan, but soon turned toward Chicago, where he became very rich. The big fire left him, as it did many another Chicago merchant, with little else than his pluck; but while the ruins were still hissing hot he had put up a rough shanty, near where the great hotel bearing his name now stands, and hung out a roughly painted sign, "Laborers Wanted." Now he is preparing to build a magnificent home, a veritable palace, near Lincoln Park, for his own residence.

"Society" develops some queer characteristics, one of which is seen in an advertisement in the New York World. Persons giving receptions, parties, etc., are informed that for ten dollars a night they can be supplied with persons who will appear well, dress elegantly, and mingle with the guests, while willing to sing, play, converse, tell stories, give recitations, and otherwise help to make the evening pasagreeably.

The heavy rain last night or rather early this morning not only alighted the dust, but made the streets quite muddy once more; in fact the scrapers were set at work again on some of the thoroughfares. It was rather laughable to see one of the street watering carts in full blast on MacNab street north, the driver apparently in blissful ignorance of driving through several inches of slush. It is supposed that the last night got the order to water the street, and rain or shine he was bound to carry out civic instructions.

MRS. DOWN'S DEVICES.

The Extraordinary Swindles of a Female.

A remarkable story of fraud is reported by the Pall Mall Gazette from Plymouth, England. For some years past a Mrs.
Tizard has been conducting a boarding house at Devonshire Villas, and up to six months since there lodged with her an old lady, Mrs. Beater Tizard. Shortly after Mrs.
Tizard left her house a scheme appears to have entered the mind of Mrs. Down, the ultimate exposure of which has led to the present proceedings being taken.
The woman has succeeded in obtaining sums of money from a Dr. Gale during some fictitious negotiations for the sale of Buckfastleigh Abbey, which, by a course of most ingenious deceptions, she succeeded for a time in carrying on.
When the transaction for the purchase of the abbey had reached a certain stage, Mrs.
Down began to make overtures for loans, and not suspecting her bona fides Dr. Gale advanced her certain sums. Soon after a request was made for a loan of £150, and when Dr. Gale declined to entertain the suggestion she brought him a note, purporting to be written by Mrs. Tizard (for whom she alleged she was buying the abbey), undertaking to furnish additional security if he required it. Thereupon Dr.
Gale insisted on being brought face to face with Mrs. Tizard and upon being accompanied by his Secretary. Mrs.
Down consented to his visiting Mrs.
Tizard alone, but vetoed the presence of his amanuensis. On those conditions Dr.
Gale accompanied Mrs. Down to her house and was led into a room, and Mrs. Down left him alone. Presently an apparently infirm footstep entered the room and Dr.
Gale was addressed in an aged, quavering voice by the soi-disant Mrs. Tizard. So complete was the deception that Dr. Gale had no idea he was being imposed upon, and he left thoroughly satisfied of the genuine character of the business.
Subsequently he had another interview under similar conditions. A few days later a rumor reached him that Mrs. Down had been victimizing prominent inhabitants of the town, and subsequently Mrs. Down was found at the neighoring railway station preparing to leave the town with several pieces of luggage.
When confronted with Dr. Gale she feigned insanity and raved and laughed to herself for half an hour. Becoming at length convinced that this new cheat would not avail her, she confessed that it was herself who had personated Mrs. Tizard. Down has been made a bankrupt, and the whole case is undergoing thorough investigation.
Frauds upon many other people in Plymouth are also stated to have been committed by Mrs. Down.

OBITUARY.

Death of a Canadian M. P.—The Author of "Rab and His Friends" Gone.

The death of Mr. McConville, M. P. for Joliette, took place there on Wednesday evening. He was a journalist by profession, and was on the editorial staff of the Montreal Nouveau Monde. He was ill a few weeks, having returned home from Parliament for medical treatment. He was elected in 1880 on Judge Baby being elevated to the Bench.

A cablegram from London says: John Brown, M.D., of Edinburgh, the well-known author, is dead. Dr. Brown was a son of the late Rev. Dr. Brown, of Edinburgh, and was born at Biggar, Lanarkshire, in September, 1810, was educated at the High School and University of Edinburgh, was M. D. of Edinburgh University, F. R. C. P. E., and F. R. S. E., etc. He has published two volumes of essays on professional and other subjects, entitled "Hors Subseciva," and was a contributor to the "North British Review," "Good Words" and the Scotsman. The story of a favorite dog, entitled "Rab and His Friends," reprinted from the "Hors" has met with great success. Dr. Brown has also written some interesting chapters on "Our Dogs," and for these faithful companions of man has accomplished with his pen what Landseer has with his brush. A civil list pension of £100 per annum was allotted to him in 1876 in recognition of his literary labors.

THE Free Presbytery of Edinburgh, at its last meeting, spent about six hours in discussing the overture of Sir Henry Moncrieff, praying the General Assembly to represent to Parliament the indispensable necessity towards a beneficial readjustment in the relations between Church and State in Scotland, of recognizing by fresh legislation the Treaty of Union and the Scottish Acts thereby ratified, so far as the enactments gave Parliamentary sanction to the doctrines of the Protestant Reformation and to Presbyterian government according to the national desire; and more particularly that they represent to Parliament the indispensable necessity of redressing the ecclesiastical grievances now affecting the Scottish nation. Sir Henry supported his overture in a lengthy speech, and was followed by Principal Rainy, who moved that the Presbytery deem it a present and urgent duty to seek the dissolution of the connection between the State and the Church now established, and therefore decline to support the overture. Dr. Begg, in the course of his observations, said that while throwing no obstacle in the way of Sir Henry's overture, he thought that they would not get anything practical except through the appointment of a Royal Commission. On a division, 15 supported the overture and 27 the amendment of Principal Rainy.

The Postmaster-General of Canada, Hon.
John O'Connor, was born in Boston.

Hon. J. L. Beaudry, Mayor of Montreal, was so dangerously ill on Sunday night that he was not expected to live till morning.

It is probable that the Princess Louise, who is expected to arrive at Quebec from England on or about the 5th prox., will not come to Ottawa till the fall. Her Royal Highness, His Excellency and suite will spend the summer months in the Lower Provinces in fishing and other amusements.

Mr. J. D. Edgar has been appointed solicitor of the Ontario Sault Ste. Marie Railway.

Commodore Joseph Ashbury, of Brighton, England, is stopping at the Prospect House, Niagara Falls, Ont.

The health of Mr. Chapleau, the Quebec Premier, is still very indifferent, and it is stated that he is hardly able to leave his room.
