Locating the C. P. R. Line—Insurance Men's Combination—Man Lost in the Woods—Accidentally Shot—Big Yields from Farms.

A despatch from Winnipeg, dated last (Wednesday) night, says: The Canadian Pacific Railway is now graded for 150 miles west of Brandon, and ironed for 80 miles. Word has been received from the Barclay and Brereton survey parties that the former has completed correction of the survey of last year, and the line has now been definitely located further south. The new line will save ten miles of construction, besides being straighter and easier of operation. It will be more expensive to build, but there will be a saving in the end. The route as now located follows the line between townships 17 and 18, almost straight from the centre of range 11, west of the second principal meridian to the east line of range 21, crossing Pile of Bones Creek, where the north line of township 17 intersects that line. The route is now fully fixed to Moose Jaw Creek with this correction. Brereton is now about locating the line from Moose Jaw to Strong Current Creek and ferry, and Shaw from there to the Rockies.

Great indignation prevails here at a combination among the insurance men to keep up rates now that the city has gone to enormous expense in perfecting the fire system, and waterworks are on the eve of completion.

Mr. Hamilton, Chief of the Survey of the Canadian Pacific Railway Land Examining parties in the field. He reports that about 300,000 acres of syndicate land have been examined, and is ready to put on the market.

The work of laying sidewalks is progressing rapidly in Brandon.

G. F. Baldwin has sent in his resignation as Town Clerk of Emerson.

Rev. Mr. Livingstone now conducts the Presbyterian service in Nelsonville.

Dr. Lafferty and W. J. Sutton have opened a private banking house in Nelsonville.

The services of a policeman are now found necessary to preserve order at the Brandon Post Office.

J. E. Woodworth expects to manufacture 5,000,000 bricks this season at Brandon. He has fifty men employed.

The atmosphere around the woods is now scented with the delicious fragrance of the wild plum blossoms, which are in such numbers as would indicate a heavy crop.

The dwelling house on G. M. Butchart's farm at Oak River was mysteriously burned to the ground last week. It had been ploughed around, and no one can account for its catching fire.

A young man named Rogers, of Stratford, Ont., camping out near Rapid City, died last week of inflammation of the lungs. The Rev. Mr. Sargent conducted the funeral service. The deceased was an Odd-fellow, and members of the Order acted as pall-bearers. He leaves a wife and young family in Stratford to mourn his untimely end.

Three weeks ago Wm. Butler Buttmore left the house of J. Doherty at Rat Creek ostensibly for the purpose of going to the woods where he had a shanty near the Assiniboine, and has not since been heard of or seen. The distance Buttmore had to travel was nine miles, and his health at the time was in no condition to undertake the journey, but contrary to the advice of his friends he started, and it is thought he, not being familiar with woodcraft, lost the trail and wandered around until hunger and fatigue overcame his worn out constitution, and he laid down in some out of the way place and perished. Several parties have been out searching for the missing man, but no trace of him could be found. He was about 45 years of age, and had been an inveterate drinker, but very little known of his previous life.

A man named Henry Willisroft was accidentally shot on the Westbourne trail on Wednesday afternoon. He and three or four other men were riding along in a wagon when they saw a gopher run across the trail, and they decided to shoot it, and for this purpose one of the men drew his revolver, but in swinging it out of his pocket it went off, and the ball carried away part of one of his fingers and entered Willisroft's shoulder from the back. The party at once drove into the Portage, and the wounded man was placed in charge of Dr. Vineberg, who, on examination, found the bullet had penetrated deeply into the flesh, and had imbedded itself out of reach of the probes. Willisroft is doing well.

The Rapid City Standard says: At the beginning of the year we sent circulars to all the threshers in the Little Saskatchewan district asking for information as to the amount of grain they had threshed, etc. The following tables, compiled from the returns we have received, will doubtless prove interesting. The average amount threshed for each farmer, according to these figures, a little over 525 bushels—a small, but it must be remembered that a large number of the farms were worked for the first time last year, and in many cases only a few acres were cropped. Among the older settlers the average was about 1,200 bushels. Should this season prove a favorable one these figures will be doubled when the thresher pays his next visit.

Table with 3 columns: Threshed by, No. of Farms, Bushels. Lists names like J. Brown, Prout Bros., Thos. Heck, etc.

Mr. Brown threshed 100 bushels of flax seed and 12 bushels of timothy. The latter, he says, was a great success.

Mrs. Langtry to an Edinburgh Audience.

When Mrs. Langtry closed her engagement at Edinburgh on Saturday night, May 20th, the Theatre Royal was again packed from floor to ceiling, the audience numbering little short of 2,000 persons.

When the curtain fell for the last time the enthusiasm of the audience reached a climax, and in response to the plaudits showered on her Mrs. Langtry made the following speech: "I should like so much to tell you before I leave Edinburgh how grateful I am for the kind way in which you have received me—really so much more than I deserved or expected; because, of course, I am quite a novice, and all the grand talent comes here from all parts of the world. I have only been on the stage a very short time—since the 19th of January, so that it is impossible to learn to act in that short time, any more than to paint a picture. I am as much surprised to find myself standing here before you as you must be to see me. I have a great deal to learn; but I shall work very, very hard, in the hope that next time I come here I may really merit your approval. I shall remember my first visit to Edinburgh with the greatest pleasure; and, indeed, I ought to feel quite at home here, for I am half Scotch. My mother is a Scotchwoman, and was born in this town. I am very proud of it. I can only repeat my thanks, and hope that it may not be long before I come back to this beautiful Edinburgh and "bonnie Scotland."

During the delivery of this impromptu speech Mrs. Langtry, who had been presented with three bouquets, was again and again applauded. On leaving the theatre for the Royal Hotel she was followed by a large crowd, who cheered lustily. Earlier in the day about 1,500 persons had assembled in front of the hotel to see her go out for a drive, and on Sunday afternoon several hundred persons congregated for a similar purpose.

A Heart-Rending Tragedy.

A most distressing death is reported to have occurred during the recent cyclone at Monticello, Miss. Mrs. Carroll, hearing the storm approaching, rushed with her babe in her arms to her husband, who threw his arm around her neck. At the same instant the wind blew the house down upon them and crushed them to the floor, the mother with the infant in her arms, the husband with his arm around his wife's neck, and there he choked her to death. The falling timbers did not seem to hurt her, but locked the doctor's arm so closely about her neck that he could not move it. He was conscious that he was killing her, but all his efforts to throw off the timbers were futile. Assistance came in two hours—too late! The husband felt that in a measure he was the cause of her death, and the idea made him nearly frantic for several days. The babe was also killed.

The Church and Tobacco.

At the meeting of the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada on the memorial from the Brockville district, relating to the question in the discipline on the use of tobacco and drama, it was moved by Rev. R. Whitney, seconded by Rev. R. Wilson, That the report of the committee on this memorial be rescinded; that there is no need of change in the discipline on this subject, as it is now sufficiently explicit. It was moved in amendment that the question in the discipline be so amended as to make the answer in the negative binding throughout the candidate's whole ministry. An amendment to the amendment was presented, asking that the ensuing General Conference be requested to give its view of the true meaning of the question as it now stands in the discipline. The amendment was carried.

In western districts egg festivals are the latest. Each lady brings an egg with her name written upon it. They are deposited in a basket, and before supper they are passed around and each gentleman takes one, and the lady whose name he draws is his partner for supper, which is probably composed of eggs.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada will meet in London on July 12th. A proposition to make Toronto the permanent place of meeting will probably elicit a warm outside feeling. The next move might be to spend the fine Grand Lodge surplus in a Masonic temple for Toronto's honor and glory.—Kingston Whig.

Hon. A. S. Hardy is again suffering from congestion of the throat, and has been compelled thereby to cancel a series of public meetings arranged for him for this week.

The royal party at Epsom on Derby Day consisted of the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Prince and Princess Christian, the Duke of Cambridge, the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, the Duke of Westminster, the Duke of Portland, the Duke of St. Albans, Sir Massey Lopes, Sir T. and Lady Brassey, Lord Colville of Culross; the Earl of Hardwicke and Lord Alfred Paget. The Princess of Wales looked exceedingly well and was in high spirits. She wore a tight-fitting dark brown jacket and a bonnet of claret-colored silk, enlivened with a narrow fringing of light blue. The Duchess of Edinburgh, who wore black, looked slightly pale and ill.

THE QUADRUPLE MURDER.

A Mother's Terrible Deed.

The following are particulars of the murder of four children by their mother, and suicide of the murderer, referred to in our Chicago despatches of Saturday. Seyboldt and his wife did not live harmoniously since the birth of the last child. The latter has not been in good health, and it is believed despondency caused the deed. From a number of notes written by the oldest daughter it appears that Mrs. Seyboldt talked the matter over with her and got her to consent to the tragedy. Several are addressed to school-mates on childish matters and two to her father. One asks him to bury them decently and tells him where she leaves some money to buy flowers. One to a school-mate says: "Mother was always sick and thought of dying often and how we would be treated, and so thought it best for all of us to die at once, and bought something to kill us—the baby first, Annie second, Tony third, I afterwards, then our mother. We did not suffer much, and now we are all out of trouble."

Henry Bergh.

We can recommend to Mr. Bergh, the great friend of dumb animals in New York, if he does not know its virtues already, as most probably he does, a remedy for the many ills of horses and cattle that, in the hands of men the most ignorant would produce a marked change for the better in our four footed servants. This is Dr. Dow's Sturgeon Oil Liniment an inexpensive and certain cure for sprung sinews, sore shoulder, wind galls, rough or broken knees, contracted, fevered or cracked hoofs, cords and similar ailments. There are few poor men who can afford to let their horses stay idle for any length of time from these causes and thus attempt to evade the laws of humanity and the country. But if they were once aware of the virtues of Dr. Dow's Wonderful Liniment they would see that it is easier to keep their horses in good condition than not.

London Spectator: "We could hardly define better what we conceive to be the difference between a man of genius and a man of genius than by saying that with men of genius the thoughts behave more like passions than thoughts, and yet are, to all intents and purposes, thoughts still; while with ordinary men thoughts mould and modify passions, but never live the life of passion."

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

Reader, can you believe that the Creator afflicts one-third of mankind with a disease for which there is no remedy? Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured hundreds of cases of consumption, and men are living to-day—healthy, robust men—whom physicians pronounced incurable because one lung was almost gone. DR. WHEELER'S Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya as a popular remedy has given great satisfaction on account of its perfect reliability in restoring the feeble to health, and its absolute freedom from any injurious properties. It is said by physicians and chemists to be the finest preparation in the world, since its agreeable aromatic flavor makes it acceptable to the most capricious child or fastidious adult, and no one takes it without benefit on account of its exciting the functions of nutrition.

A lawyer said sneeringly to a clergyman, "If I had a stupid son I'd make a minister out of him." The clergyman thought a moment and then quietly replied, "Sir, your father was not of your opinion, was he?"

Charlatans and Quacks

Have long plied their vocation on the suffering pedals of the people. The knife has pared to the quick; caustic applications have tormented the victims of corns until the conviction shaped itself—there's no cure. PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR proves on what a slender basis public opinion often rests. If you suffer from corns get the Extractor and you will be satisfied. Sold everywhere.

"Lily, my dear," says the child's good, kind grandmother, "you should not make faces so—it'll make you awfully ugly when you grow up." Lily is impressed, and presently creeping to the dear kind, old lady's side, she says, timidly: "What did you use to make faces for when you were little, grandma?"

To paint a sunflower and stand ten paces from it, throwing the head to one side, half closing the eyes, and imagining it a symphony in yellow, may please some people, and is perfectly harmless, provided they do not get vexed and call you a Philistine, and tell you there is no appreciation of beauty in your soul. The performance is that of an aesthete, provided he wears his hair long and his pants are short.

The Rural New Yorker calls for some genius to invent a machine to cull out the poor cranberries from the good ones. Cranberry growers would like to see some one come along with such a machine as that. The trouble has heretofore been that they have had to mix a few good berries in to make the bad ones sell.

The public are now satisfied from extended trial that Dr. Wilson's Antibilious and Preserving Pills are what they are of vegetable extracts, safe to use, for any sex or age, benign in their action, and powerful to search out the cause of disease and remove it.

A workman the other morning, repairing the roof of the Bazaar in Glasgow, fell through the glass roof and alighted on a quantity of butter, in which he was thoroughly immersed. The fall being thus broken, he scrambled out of his soft bed safe and sound, to the satisfaction of the bystanders. The butter-woman sitting near by had fainted from sheer fright; but when she came to herself her first words were instinctively expressive of her sense of self-interest. "Come here, man, dinna rin aff till I scrape you. There's a pun' or twa o' my best butter stickin' till yer breaks."

Just in Time.

"I have suffered from a severe cough for several years and it had grown so dangerous that I feared that it would result fatally. This winter it was more severe than usual. I began taking Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam and soon found that it had cured me, assisting the inflamed lungs to heal." Thus writes G. P. Ayer, Greenfield, N. S. The probability is that if this case had not been taken just when it was there would have been no hope of recovery. Had the remedy been used when the cold was first taken there can be no doubt the disease would have been cured at once, and what years of pain, anxiety and weakness would have been spared. There are many others to-day who would receive as much benefit from this remedy as Mr. Ayer did.

Mrs. Garfield is Very Well Off.

She has $300,000 in Government bonds, the result of the subscription. Then her husband's life was insured for $50,000, which she promptly received. She also was paid the salary of the President for the unoccupied first year, amounting to about $20,000, then add to it about $30,000, the total value of Garfield's estate. That was the total amount, after all the abuse that was received, that he was able to accumulate in a life of fifty years. That makes $400,000 does it not? I suppose that the income from this total of more than $400,000 will be perhaps $16,000 a year. She is also put on the pension list at $5,000 a year. So she is comfortable, and can raise her children well.—Chicago Times.
