

Editorial Notes.

DOMINION DAY is to be celebrated at Ottawa in grand style and among other attractions will be an Oration by Sir Jno. A. McDonald.

THE Ontario Provinces Treasurership made vacant by the retirement of the Hon. S. C. Wood will be filled by Mr. James Young, member for the North Riding of Brant. Mr. Young was returned by acclamation at the 1st election, and now goes back to his constituency for re-election.

THE new Midland Railway workshops are now the point of contention of the several towns along the line. Peterborough, Port Hope and Lindsay, and lastly Orillia are putting in their respective claims and demands for consideration. Some time since our neighbor, Lorneville was wrought to fever heat in anticipation of the coming shops, but with such weighty rivals in the field our modest sister will certainly be left.

For some time past, the health of her Majesty the Queen, has been the subject of much anxiety. She has never recovered from the effects of the slight accident which occurred to her at Windsor some time ago. The Queen is well advanced in years and the slight shock may lead to very unwelcome contingencies. We hope, however, she may be long spared as the beloved sovereign of the mightiest Empire the world has yet seen.

THE unabsorbed surplus of the Alabama award is now exciting a little attention in England and notice of motion has been given by a Mr. Kennard of the House of Commons which says: "In view of public utterances of eminent American statesmen with reference to the destination of the undistributed moneys resulting from the Geneva award, the House is of opinion that an exchange of views between the English and United States Governments on the subject would be conducive to the development of friendly relations between the two countries."

ANOTHER large accession has just been made to the British Empire in South Africa by the voluntary submission by the Bechuanas, of their territory to British rule. From the reports it is gathered that the whole of the vast country lying north of the Orange Free State and west of the Transvaal has voluntarily submitted, and without influence, even without any suggestion, to the Colonial Government at the Cape. The territory extends east and west over about one-third the entire width of the continent, and the definite extension of the colony northward contains about 40 large and well-built cities. It is the old story of Boer troubles with the natives, and at last the tribes have judged best to secure for themselves permanent protection against savery and aggression by joining themselves with the powerful Cape Colony. The difficulties of recent years in which the country has been involved, and the last year of constant border war, have led the chiefs to believe their only chance for peace lay in voluntary submission to the Cape Government or an involuntary cession of a part of their territory to the Transvaal. The proposition was a surprise to the Colonial Government. It was through Chief Mankard, one of the most influential of all the tribal leaders, and was accompanied by the statement that the project of submission had been well considered, and was made at the wish of all the chiefs. Mr. Gladstone said, in submitting the despatches from the Colonial Government, that the gain would be invaluable to the South African colonists, as raising a new barrier against warlike tribes to the north. The Bechuanas are highly civilized well advanced in the arts, and had, ever since known to white men, governed their cities much after European methods. As a race they are lighter in colour and much superior to the Kafirs, and with their internal affairs the Government would probably have little to do. In relation to their neighbors England had already a direct and personal interest, as their wars were disturbing the peace of the colonies. Their troubles with the Boers would at once be ended by their voluntary submission to England, since the Boers and the colonists had settled all their differences two years ago, and should new difficulties arise they would no doubt be settled amicably.

May 1st, 1883.

The Wool season has now commenced. THE school debentures of section No 4. (Beaverton) have been purchased by the Township of Thorah, at par.

MR. G. F. BOUCE is around again and occupied his seat at the Council Board on Saturday last.

MR. DUN. McMILLAN a Beaverton boy distinguished himself in Winnipeg on the 24th by securing 3 prizes:—A silver watch, for High Jump, a hunting Knife for pole jump a silver medal for second in quarter mile race. Good!

WE have received and opened this week three bales of Imported Wall Papers & Window Blinds in the Newest Patterns. The Medical Hall, Beaverton.

OUR usual holiday and Celebration on the 24th having been neglected it is intended to put forth a special effort towards making Dominion Day a grand attraction in this village.

WOULD it not be an easy matter to form a citizens fire Brigade in this village after the manner adopted by the citizens of Wakefield Mass; and described in our last issue. We believe it would prove a valuable accession to the village security.

THE County Council of Ontario met on Tuesday last. The building of a poor house in the County will receive their attention. A Committee was appointed at the last session of the Council to investigate into the workings and expense of maintaining the York County Poor-House.

MR. McFadyen, Photographer, of Uxbridge, has taken his stand next door, east of the Hamilton House. Mr. McFadyen is no itinerant artist, but a genuine photographer of long experience. His advertisement will be found in another column and as he will be here but a few days we would advise all wanting pictures to give him a call.

IN our report of Thorah Council in our last issue two slight typographical errors occurred. "A petition was presented from Lauchlan Johnston and others to aid S. S. No 4." it should have read, for aid to Jno. Mc Rae. Again in amounts granted for improvements, the amount granted between lots 5, & 6, north half 5 Con for turnpiking should have read $10.00 and between 8th & 9th Cons, lot 6 turnpiking and ditching on one side $49.00

Chapter Of Accidents.

Surrounded as we are by destructive agents, artificial as well as natural, the chapter of accidents necessarily occupies a large space in the record of physical suffering. But for the kind Providence that in a measure shields mankind from the consequences of their own neglect, recklessness and brutality, that chapter would be much longer than it is. Still, the number of human beings bruised, distorted, mutilated, and destroyed every year, by fortuitous causes is immense. Unfortunately the last is greatly augmented by unskillful treatment. Limbs are lopped off, lameness and distortion superinduced and perpetuated, and unutterable pain and sorrow inflicted, in thousands of cases where the application of the proper remedy would have prevented such lamentable consequences. "But" exclaims the inexperienced reader, "what is the proper remedy? Every surgeon has his pet theory, his peculiar style of practice. The faculty disagree - who, then, is to be trusted?" We answer, let the preponderance of testimony decide the question. That preponderance is in favor of HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT as the best and safest dressing for wounds, bruises, burns, scalds, and every species of external injury to which humanity is liable. We have examined this subject in two lights—the light of unquestionable evidence from foreign sources, and the light of personal experience. We find that during that during the campaign of Crimea, both in the stationary hospitals at Gallipoli and Sontari and in the ambulances at the seat of war, the Ointment was used with the happiest effect as a dressing for sabre cuts, bayonet punctures, and gunshot wounds. This is history. The French and English surgeons admit the fact, and the governments of both nations have, we understand, authorized the purchase of large quantities of the preparation for army purposes.

But in addition to the proofs of its efficacy derived from abroad we have testimony of our own senses. We know that it rapidly relieves the agony of contusions, cuts, dislocations, fractures, and other injuries of the fleshy fibre, bones, muscles, and integuments, allays the immediate inflammation, and prevents the fever which, under ordinary treatment, so frequently supervenes. It has also been applied, in this region, with striking benefit, in cases of stiff joints and similar affections.

Our purpose in this article is to touch especially upon its unparalleled usefulness in all cases of injury arising from accidental causes, and to recommend that it be kept on hand wherever casualties of this kind are to be apprehended. No vessel, neither traveler by land or water, no railroad station, no steamboat's medicine chest, no family household should be without it.—Duff's Commercial Advertiser.
