ASHLAND.

It is hard to find the happy medium. This at least is my experience so far as the weather is concerned. I am writing this beside a good fire, while we came north from Kansas city to find cooler weather and here it is just a little too cool for comfort. This is caused by our proximity to Lake Superior, the temperature has been cold enough every day since I came here for a fire. It is especially cool in the evenings, an overcoat being not at all uncomfortable. This is quite a difference from Ontario, where in all probability you are sweltering under from 80 to 90 degrees of heat. This place (Ashland, Wis.) possesses all the elements of a far-western town, viz., saloons and toughs and I might also say real estate offices, as by some peculiarity where there is one there also is the other. I suppose you have never been in a town in which you could not drive or walk out of it if you so desired. Well this is one, it is literally impossible to leave the place except by railway or boat. It is but 40 miles around and there is not a farm within that distance. This is no horse thief's paradise, as even if he would steal the animal he could not leave town with it. But if it is not a paradise for horse thieves, still to compensate for this disadvantage, it seems to be a burglar's haven of rest, not a night passes but what some residence is burglarized. There were two individuals out on the street yesterday morning about 8 o'clock, trying to run a Jesse James circus of their own, they each had two most murderous looking revolvers out, and were making the pedestrians stand around in great style when very opportunely some policeman came along and gathered them in. I met a Scotchman or rather a Scotch Canadian from Collingwood up here and his moral sensibilities had received a tremendous shock. "Weel, weel, he said, this is an awfu' place, the worst I ever saw." He intended to leave it as soon as possible, like myself he was not overwhelmingly impressed with the advantages of this country over Canada. This place is the centre of the greatest iron-mining district in America and the facilities for shipping ore are also the greatest in America. There are at present three immense ore docks each of which will accommodate ten or twelve vessels at one time and a train of 15 cars can be unloaded in 10 minutes, of course the cars are made especially for the carriage of iron ore. It is estimated that the amount of ore that will be mined this season will exceed 9,000,000 tons, an increase of 2,000,000 tons over last year's outfit, about 4000 men finding employment at this work. A stranger coming up here cannot fail to notice the manner in which the Scandinavians and Germans are filling up this country. Milwaukee is largely composed of them, Minneapolis has the largest share of the working class made up of them, they are spreading all over the country much like the Chinese in California, only of course they are a much more desirable class of citizens than John Chinaman. In every city they have their own papers, their own hotels, their own drug stores in which Scandinavian remedies are sold. In most businesses it is almost a requisite the speaking of German, and especially the drug business in which 4 out of every 5 advertisements for clerks, a requisite is that they must be Scandinavians. Living is expensive here and carpenters and laborers can do better in Ontario cities than on this side. Carpenters are paid here $2 per day, laborers $1.40 to $1.75, and it is poor board and lodging that can be got for $6 per week. Your correspondent went into a barber shop the other evening for the purpose of having his intellectual cranium relieved of some of its surplus wool. After the operation the customary 15 cents was reached for. He looked at it and said "What's this for?" "The hair cut?" says I. Where have you been in the habit of getting your hair cut for 15 cents?" he inquired. This kind of riled me so I told him "to remember that he hadn't travelled every country under the sun, and that it was none of his business where I got my hair cutting for that price?" "What's your charge anyhow?" I asked. "Thirty-five cents?" I paid him and left. It makes a fellow feel as if he would like to do a little in the Oscar Wilde line and "let her go for a while." Last Monday was decoration day here, there was a re-union of the soldiers of the Grand Army, about 50 of them being in procession here. Most of them are getting gray and show the ravages of time, there was also the usual oration, etc., etc. However the American Eagle don't flap his wings and scream in real good style until the 4th of July. Sincerely yours,
M. C. C.
