SATURDAY last was the hottest day of the season—the thermometer stood at 94° in the shade at Woodville, while at Lenora it hovered around in the neighbourhood of 107°. A number of fatal cases of sunstroke are recorded in the dailies. Nothing serious is reported in this neighbourhood from the intense heat.

Go see what I have sown,
Go feel what I have felt,
Go out at early dawn
And smell what I have smelt.—Ex.

And if you do you will be fully satisfied that no place of its size can compete with Woodville from an odoriferous point of view. From the four quarters of heaven comes the fragrance which is generally associated with country life, but the vilest of smells. Nightly, during the past week our senses have been assailed with breezes redolent with the perfumes of slaughter house, stable or yard, and it is certainly about time our inspector took a tour through the entire village. Leave not a yard or a street unvisited! At this season of the year foul vapors soon generate diseases and when once started they are not easily suppressed. It is for the welfare of the village that these remarks should be considered, and that as early as possible.

GRASS HILL Post Office has been closed. The Postmaster having become offended at something has brought all the appurtenances of the office and left them at Woodville.

For extra value in Green and Japan Teas, go to McIntyre & Prior's.

VENDOR has scored another mistake in his predictions for July. We are informed that the month will enter cool and showery, while truth to tell the thermometer has hardly had time to cool. A cold wave is now preparing for the 27th and 28th.

A CURIOSITY is exciting the attention and opinion of those who visit the Post Office, in the shape of an animal recently found in some rain water and which the many assert to be an evolution of hair. However, hair or no hair, it is full of life and is decidedly interesting.

HERETOFORE we have never considered ourselves as particularly deserving individuals. But after experiencing the sensation of a serenade, even on the life and drum at the early hour of 1 a. m., we have arrived at the conclusion that we have yet something to live for. We beg to tender our thanks to those, who at the expense of so much labor, endeavored to entertain us last Wednesday morning. Had the hour been a little more reasonable we might have enjoyed it better. Come again, boys!
