The Young Idea.

The School trustees have placed in the School a copy of the latest edition of "Worcester's Dictionary." With this stupendous volume in tow surely our youth will be enabled to spell straight. A large gazetteer of the world has also been purchased. From this work we learn there are no less than seven places on the face of this terrestrial sphere which rejoice in the name of Beaverton, and all of which are situated on this continent.

Feather Curling.

I am prepared to do feather curling in a careful and satisfactory manner. Mrs. McDowell, Beaverton.

Still on Hand.

Lacrosse.

On Friday last the town was invaded by a contingent of the Orillia small boys to the number of about fifty who reached here by the morning train and proceeded to possess the town and clean out our youth in a game of Lacrosse. They did both. The precocity of these youngsters is simply astonishing and the manner in which they endeavored to "redde" our town was a revelation. Some of them would be the better of a course of training impressively administered with a stout shingle. However, the boys know how to handle their sticks and will no doubt develop into excellent exponents of "Our National Game."

Arriving.

Ladies.

For choico Muslins and Laces, no place in Beaverton can offer you as good value as Mrs. McDowell.

The Heated Term.

Dropped on us this week with a vengeance. On Friday and Saturday the mercury is said to have nearly boiled, while from neighboring villages some extraordinary incidents are reported in another place. While pausing to mop our heated brow, with the thermometer threateningly close to 100 in the shade a neighbor rushes in with the news that it's warm. If anything further were required to complete our misery it is the fact that in this land of freedom we are unable to kill him on the spot.

At Cost.

Fire.

A fire at the Beaverton Brick and Tile Company's yards last Tuesday destroyed a number of sheds, and did damage to the amount of $250.00.

Ladies.

Please bear in mind that Hodgson's big bargain house bought so largely in Cottonades, Shirts, Sheets, Cottons, Tickings etc. before the late advances in price that he can supply a million in those lines at his last summer's prices and they were then from 2 1/2 to 6 cents per yard less than every opponent north of Toronto.

The Junction.

We are informed on quite good authority that should the proposed route of the C. T. R. be carried through to Sault Ste. Marie there will be an air line built from here to Beaverton, thus saving the distance via Lorneville and making quicker time.—[Blackwater cor. "Post."]

Farmers.

Go to J. Hodgson's, Beaverton, for Seed and Rape Seed.

Housekeepers.

Any quantity of fresh Raspberries, Huckleberries and other fruits can be secured by leaving orders at Hodgson's cheap store, Beaverton.

Slightly Warm.

This is the gentle dog-day season, when the sun-kissed tramp flourishes, and all nature fans itself and calls for a glass of ice-water. Big yarns anent the heat are in demand of course, and several old-time citizens now do their level best to outlie each other. In a neighboring village the thermometer averaged 125 degrees for a whole week—so the papers say. In another, one of the inhabitants got so hot that everything he came in contact with was scorched and withered. Ice melted as he approached, and dogs ran away howling when the fierce rays of his corporosity were reflected that way. He thought he would cool himself by plunging into the river, but only succeeded in bringing the water to boiling point. The sidewalk took fire under his feet, and eggs etc., cooked readily in his coat-tail pocket. He met his end in trying to eat a dish of ice-cream. The two extremes of heat and cold meeting was too much for the man, who exploded with a dull sickening thud and disappeared in smoke. Nothing was left to tell the tale but the liar who penned this paragraph.

The Best Yet.

Nearly an Accident.

The way-freight going north on Tuesday came near meeting a serious accident at Silver Creek. A huge pile of wood beside the track took fire in some unaccountable manner and the expansion of the metals caused by the heat drew them into an L and also drew file ties out of place. But for the efforts of one, George Greer, in flagging the approaching train it would certainly have been dashed into the terrific fire, as the trouble occurred at a place where the track is hidden by an abrupt curve. It is to be hoped the Company will suitably recognize Greer's services.
