

About Advertising:

Half the business men visited by newspaper agents and asked for advertisements consider the newspaper men as a kind of infliction of Providence, which, like the itch, must take a certain course before being cured. We wish to convince all such erroneous thinkers that they are wrong. The newspaper, instead of being a sort of visitation from the lower world, is a public necessity, and for the public good. They, instead of dead-beating their way in the world, live from money hard-earned, and for which they frequently pay, in one way or another, two hundred cents for a dollar. Business men have made fortunes, have risen from poverty to opulence, simply from the benefits of the newspapers across their way. The money the newspapers make is handled by the men who patronize with their business advertisements. We have frequently had men tell us: "We never advertise. It's too much like throwing money away." On observing their business, we invariably see their molasses barrel leaking, their dry goods covered with dust, their sugar filled with flies, their scales rusty, their hands rusty, their finger nails unclean, their pants patched, their customers few and their success a failure. They hobble along in the world slowly, and are not the men who rise from poverty and obscurity to riches and eminence. Show us a man who advertises extensively and we will show you a man who has the qualities essential to business success. The advertisements placed in papers are like the kind-heartedness of youth, bearing fruit at first and reaching into the years when age comes on apace. Then never tell us advertising does not pay. Drones and ignominious only advocate such views.—Printers Circular.

WHEN EXAMINED AFTER DEATH, the lungs of those who have died of tubercular consumption are found to be honey combed with little cells full of purulent matter. To this terrible condition the lungs of any one may be brought who neglects a cough or cold. Unfortunately, many so called cough remedies are ineffective as well as impure, containing ingredients absolutely prejudicial to the physical well-being of those who use them. There is, however, a source of renewed health and strength upon which persons harassed and weakened by lung and bronchial affections can depend with certainty. We refer to Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which is justly esteemed throughout the Dominion for its effectiveness and purity. The medical faculty have long recognized the value of purified oil, obtained from the cod's liver, in throat and lung affections, and the hypophosphites are universally prescribed in cases of pulmonary decline and general debility. In this preparation the phosphorus which it contains (phosphorus being an important natural constituent of the physical organism) serves to supply stamina and vitality, by enriching the blood, while the lime and soda are of incalculable service in solidifying and strengthening the bones. This medicine not only counteracts pulmonary inflammation and arrests physical decline, but is a valuable remedy in scrofulous cases. As a means of checking and compensating for the tremendous waste of bodily tissue caused by lung and chest diseases—of healing and soothing the irritated membrane of the breathing organ, and of promoting the development of pure, rich blood, this preparation has no equal. All druggists sell it.
