A CORRESPONDENT from Castleton informs us that in travelling through the township of Cramahe last week, he saw a field of peas and several fields of buckwheat unharvested. Farmers can't complain of their crops this year, when the yield is so plentiful as to not be worth taking in.—Cobourg Sentinel.

A sad accident occurred at Campbellford on Wednesday 19th inst. at the Trent Valley Mills, owned by Messrs. Gault Bros. & Co., of Montreal in which a young man George Danke, aged eighteen, who was carrying a plank over some joist, losing his balance, fell to the basement from the second storey, breaking his neck and causing instant death.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.—One of the parties engaged on the Trent Valley Canal survey has returned from completing a most favorable line from Lake Simcoe to Georgian Bay. This was previously considered the most difficult portion of the route, and it now being proved to be feasible and not costly, the true line from Georgian Bay to the Bay of Quinte is established, as being practicable both from an engineering and financial point of view.—Peterboro' Review.

HOLLOWAY'S SANATORIUM.

Mr. Thos. Holloway, of pills and ointment fame and a millionaire, of London, England, is noted for his exceeding generosity in the presentation of public benefactions. One of his latest gifts to the people is the Holloway Sanatorium at a cost of £150,000 the object being to succour persons of the middle class afflicted with mental disease, the beneficent founder reasoning that the rich persons need no monetary help, and that the public asylums amply provide a sanatorium for the poor.

PEOPLE who are now boasting over apple and other fruit trees which are in blossom will not feel so jubilant when they discover that the branches which blossom this fall will produce no fruit next season.

Now is the time when the head of the house is expected to bruise his shins or pinch his fingers putting up stove-pipes. Well, all we have to say is grin and bear it; better pinch your fingers than have no pipes to put up.
