

Gleanings From our Exchanges

OSHAWA.

From the Reformer.

SUMMER HOTEL.—Report says that Rev. Mr. Demill intends opening his College in July next as a summer resort, under the title of "The Grand View Summer Hotel."

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday afternoon last, Mr. Edwin Saunders, an employee of the Oshawa Cabinet Company, had his left hand badly cut whilst working a shaping machine. The top of the thumb was cut off and the third finger cut through the bone at the first joint, the other three fingers were also badly cut at the first joint. The mishap will lay him off work for some time.

SAD DEATH.—At the very time the young man Eddington committed suicide in Oshawa about a month ago, his mother was not in the best of health, and the manner in which her son came to his death was kept from her, she being under the impression, that he died from fever. A short time since, however, she picked up a paper which contained the particulars of his death. Her grief was so great, on learning the true cause that she died within an hour afterwards.

PORT HOPE.

From the Guide.

Gas pipes have been laid on Bramley street.

The apple-paring bees flourish in the rural districts at present.

CONSIDERABLE "moving" has taken place in town this fall so far.

PEAS FOR LONDON, ENG.—Mr. R. E. Sculthorpe shipped, Friday, four cars of fancy peas direct to London, Eng. They were all put up in large, strong sacks sent out from England for that purpose. The lot was a very valuable one, worth about $3,000 here. Mr. Sculthorpe is doing an immense business in raising and shipping fancy peas both for the English and American markets. He has his premises in connection with his elevator very conveniently arranged. The new addition has given him much more room.

INCENDIARY FIRE.—About one o'clock Friday morning the alarm bells were sounded, when a light was noticed in the direction of the Grand Trunk station. Our reporter, on arriving at the scene of conflagration, found it to be a dwelling owned by Capt. James Robertson, now of Toronto. The fire was no doubt the work of an incendiary, for the building had been without an occupant for several months. It was completely enveloped in flames before the alarm was given, so that when the firemen arrived at the place the roof had fallen in. The house was a neat frame, one and a half stories high, and valued at about $1,000; insured in the North British for $600 in favor of the Millard Loan Association, which had a mortgage on it for $450.

From the Times.

NEW LAMPS.—William street, Protestant Hill, is being excavated for the purpose of laying gas pipes. It is the intention to have two lamps placed in that vicinity, one near the flag-pole and the other in the neighborhood of Princess street.

RUNAWAY.—On the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day a farmer's team came clashing up John Street, having taken fright at the cars; when nearing Walton street they were somewhat checked by His Worship the Mayor rushing into the middle of the road and brandishing his "beaver" freely, after continuing their course a short distance further, they were seized by a prominent young lawyer and brought to a stand still. No damage was done beyond the upsetting of the wagon-box.

LINDSAY.

From the Warbler.

DECS ROMA about the aisles of St. Paul's church during the Sunday services, and there are none to make them afraid.

WITHIN the past two weeks Mr. Samuel Walker, of this town, has paid out about $1,600 for horses for Mr. M. Boyd.

FIRE.—On Sunday forenoon last a frame dwelling on Kent street west, owned by Mr. Richard Smith, and occupied by Mr. Wolhouse, was damaged by fire to the extent of about $300, and the loss to furniture, which was uninsured, amounted to about $400. The building was insured in the Western for $600. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a defective chimney.

BEAVERTON.

From our own Correspondent.

KENNEDY AND FAMILY.—The renowned Scottish Vocalists, we are informed, intend visiting this village at an early date.

DIPHTHERIA has been very prevalent in the village for the last month or more, caused no doubt on account of the soft, damp, unsettled state of the weather. At present quite a number of cases are reported, although none as far as we can learn are of a dangerous character. As a natural consequence our doctors are reaping a rich harvest.

THANKSGIVING DAY was observed in the village as a general holiday, our merchants and business men generally having their places of business closed for the day. Suitable services were held throughout the day in the different churches, and a great many from the country came in to attend the services. A shooting match was got up by a number of our young men; the result of which we are not able to give with accuracy at present. However, we understand it wound up with a disgraceful row in the evening. Surely our young men could find a more profitable and genial amusement than this for Thanksgiving Day.

THE GRAIN MARKET.—Prices for all kinds of grain continue at a high figure, and although the weather has been very unfavorable for the last couple of weeks for farmers to get in with their grain. Still, nevertheless, a very large quantity has changed hands, and our buyers continue daily to ship off on the Millard.

THE RENOWNED (Dr. Tanner of this village, so called,) treated the people to an exhibition of his furious driving on Saturday afternoon last while under the influence of liquor. No doubt his qualities as a "jockey" are not to be disputed, still we are under the impression that such exhibitions as these should be interfered with by our village constables and put a stop to, even though it be a Doctor Tanner, as they are not only a disgrace to the village but endanger life and property.

CHANGED HANDS.—Mr. C. Young, we understand, has purchased from Mr. Milligan, station master of the Millard railway, the building previously owned by Mr. Thos. Glassford, late assessor of this village, situated in the east end, for the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars. We understand it is Mr. Young's intention to remove the building over on Mara-street, opposite Mr. Jos. Gordon's residence, and then turn it into a woolen mill. We congratulate Mr. Young on his enterprise, and sincerely hope he may continue successful in business.

THE FALL WHEAT in this part of the township is reported to be looking in first class condition, and our farmers generally, seem very well satisfied with the condition of things as they are at present.

CATTLE BUYERS.—Mr. Angus McKinnon and Mr. Henry Musgrove of this village, have been on a tour down through Muskoka for the last week buying up cattle. Their trip as far as we can learn was a profitable and successful one, they having succeeded in purchasing some very fine cattle.

THE REV. MR. WELDON, of Cannington, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church of this village next Sabbath, both morning and evening.

Every lady should see our New Dress Goods, 19 yards for $1.00. McIntyre & Prior.

THEY ALL DO IT.—Everybody uses "TEA BERRY" for the teeth and breath, the newest, brigest, costliest little toilet gem extant. Try a 5 cent sample.

THE SADDEST OF SAD SIGHTS—the grey hairs of age being brought with sorrow to the grave is now we are glad to think becoming rarer every year as the use of Gentle Hair Restorer become more general. By its use the scanty locks of age once more resume their former color and the hair becomes thick and luxuriant as ever; with its aid we can now defy the change of years, resting assured that no Grey Hair at any rate will come to sadden. Sold by all druggists at 50 cents per bottle.

BORROWING.—Prior to a recent paring bee in this neighborhood, a party sent twice to a neighbor's house for a paring machine, where there were several respectable young folks, and never invited one of them. Paring machines must be scarce.

ALL-HALLOW EVE.—No mischief done on Monday night except a few fences torn down, and some built across the roads.

BOLSOVER.

MUNRO BROS., of this place, have started a general store in the stand lately occupied by Fraser & Campbell, and are doing a good rushing business. They sell cheap and are commanding a large trade.

The Eruption of Mauna Loa.

The recent eruption of the great volcano of Mauna Loa, on the Island of Hawaii, has been watched with peculiar interest by the inhabitants of the town of Hilo. The lava flow has for nine months past been approaching the village and threatened its destruction, and the filling up of the beautiful bay upon the borders of which it is built. But half a mile away the stream of fire ceased its flow, and the lava cooled and hardened. The volcano was at rest, and the village was saved.

On the 10th of August, the lava, slowly pressing forward, had reached a point about half a mile from the upper street of Hilo, and the inhabitants had become much alarmed. From all quarters strangers came to view the magnificent spectacle. The Princess Regent, who, during the absence of King Kalakaua, is the reigning sovereign, the Governors of Oahu and Hawaii, and many of the higher classes both natives and foreigners, were among the spectators. It was a time of great anxiety, and there seemed to be no hope for Hilo. The flood found its way fifty miles from its mighty source, and was close to the border of the village. But on that day its flow was checked. For nine months and five days it had overcome all obstacles in its path, but at last, just as its further progress would have brought ruin to so many homes, it ceased to flow and danger was over.

Some of the incidents of the eruption are interesting. The owners of the great Waiakaa Sugar Mill had built a stone wall some five feet high, at a distance of about three-quarters of a mile from the building, in hopes to divert the course of an arm of the main current. This small advance stream was heading in the direction of the mill: and though not in itself of formidable dimensions, it had behind it a great fiery column, whose force no human power could repel or turn aside. The smaller stream came within a few feet of the wall and just there spent its force. At only one point the fiery torrent reached the wall. There it rested a little, and then, urged forward by the great force behind it, poured over the wall, and, as if that were its final effort, cooled and stiffened into a sheet of hanging stone. The energy of the mountain's fiery furnace fifty miles away had brought it thus far, and no further.

The course of the lava flood as it flows from its mountain source, 14,000 feet high, down toward the sea, is a curious one. Its surface cools upon reaching the plain at the base of the mountain, and its flow seems to be checked. Yet while the volcano far away is still at work the pause in the torrent's course is only a temporary one. The lava is pressing down from behind with inconceivable force, and soon, bursting through the enclosing crust, the stream rushes onward until, again meeting some obstacle, it suddenly ceases its flow to be again sent forward on its fiery path. Thus, so long as Mauna Loa supplies the material and the resistless impetus, the river of destruction flows, sometimes slowly, but always surely on its way. Now, happily, there is no pressure from afar to urge the messenger of destruction across the little strip of land that lies between the lava's edge and the village that borders the sea. And so Hilo is saved.
